Lancaster Farming

Vol. 41 No. 31 | 60¢ Per Copy | Lancaster Farming, Saturday, June 8, 1996 | Four Sections | $27.50 Per Year

Tom and Shirley Krall stand with their children — from the left, Joel, Marlin, Louise, and Travis, kneeling — in front of their stone farm house. The family farms with a concentration on efficiency and efficacy, and that frequently means doing their own thinking. They also open their farm to school groups and outside groups in an effort to educate the public about farming and the origins of their food.

Innovation Helps Keep Family Dairy Competitive

REXMONT (Lebanon Co.) — Tom Krall keeps a daily diary of sorts of his activities as a dairy farmer.

Using a calendar, one of the many which are distributed as promotional devices every year, he pens in notes of the previous day on the calendar block provided.

He does this during the morning milking, reflecting back on the whole day. Sometimes it gets done during the evening milking.

Then, on top of that, sometimes he gets ideas about something on the farm that keep nudging at him until he writes it down.

For his diary note keeping, he just started using four different colors of ink — blue for blue days; green for great days; red for exciting or memory keeping days; and black for business as usual.

Black isn't used all that much.

On a typical promotional calendar, the little blocks allocated to each day don't allow much writing space.

And while his print is small, he said he doesn't need that much space. He said that what he tries to record are, "Things in between

DOYLESTOWN (Bucks Co.) — Did you know:

- Of the 1,350 students enrolled at Delaware Valley College (DVC), half of them study agriculture. And close to half of the agricultural students are enrolled in the college's animal science/dairy science program.
- Of the 240 students in the animal science/dairy science program, only about four don't return home to the family farm.
- For those who complete the program and graduate, employment opportunities abound, according to the college.

For the more experienced students who grew up on a farm, the challenge that Delaware Valley College presents to the animal

Government Signs Agreement With Poultry Industry

LITITZ (Lancaster Co.) — "The finest production and and processing are to no avail if we don't have the confidence of the consumer," Sen. Noah Wenger said about the egg industry's quest to eliminate the threat of foodborne illness.

In a move to give consumers that vote of confidence, both the state agriculture and health departments joined forces with the Poultry Federation to sign an agreement and unveil a logo to be used to identify eggs produced and processed under the strictest control procedures. Officials met May 31 at Sauder's Quality Eggs in Lititz.

Long concerned about the need to reduce the risk of Salmonella enteritidis (SE), the poultry industry has been working closely with the Health Department, which provides technical advice regarding public health implications, and with the Department of Ag, which provides laboratory diagnostic services and monitors proper handling.

Egg producers with the help of the Dept. of Ag organized a voluntary effort called Pennsylvania Egg Quality Assurance Program (PEQAP). Under PEQAP, management practices to reduce or prevent contamination of eggs by SE and control proceedures and testing protocols were developed.

David Hensler of the Dept. of Ag said that the program PEQAP supports industry control from farm to table. "PEQAP is a successful program at the production level that has resulted in measurable reduction of SE flocks."

"The program is based on good, sound research rather than emotion," Dr. John Schwartz, Penn State extension director for Lancaster, said. "By working together, we are able to solve problems quicker and better than any other

Twin Baby Mules Born On Amish Farm

BIRD IN HAND (Lancaster Co.) — Some plain religious sects in other parts of the U.S. and in Canada do not use mules in their farm work because they believe the Bible teaches against the breeding of hybrids. As you know, a mule is a cross between a Jack in the donkey family and a horse. The offspring is a hybrid mutation with no reproductive powers.

But in Lancaster County, the Amish have no such rules and many mules are used because of their strength and surefootedness. In addition, a mule will rarely overeat to cause colic and other digestive problems.

Baby mules are not rare in Lancaster County. But twin baby mules are. The 3-week-old babies named Jack and Molly in the picture and their mother, a Belgian mare, were found in a pasture along West Center Square Road off Rt. 772 between Leola and Talmage.

The youngsters are obviously not identical twins because the one is light colored like her mother and the other is dark, we guess, like his father. They are on the farm of Daniel Glick.

Daniel's neighbor Ed Reif thought the little mules were so cute with their big ears that he wanted to see a picture of them in Lancaster Farming. So here they are Ed, just as cute as you said they were. Photo by Everett Newswanger, managing editor.

National Egg Market
ATLANTA, GA
JUNE 5, 1996

NATIONAL EGG MARKET - AT A GLANCE:

Prices were unchanged to lower for mediums in the Northeast, Midwest and Virginia, and unchanged on the balance of prices. The market tone was no better than steady for the large sizes, and steady to weak for mediums. Demand ranged light to instances good, and was best into retail features. Supplies of the large sizes were adequate and available, and mediums remained adequate to long. Breaking stock supplies were adequate for the light demand, and the trade sentiment was about steady except for light weight eggs which were weak. Spent hen supplies easily satisfied slaughter plant needs.

NEW

CORN PROCESSING AT PENNFIELD

Beginning Monday, May 13, all Flaked Dairy Feeds will contain Pennfield's new flat rolled steam flaked corn.

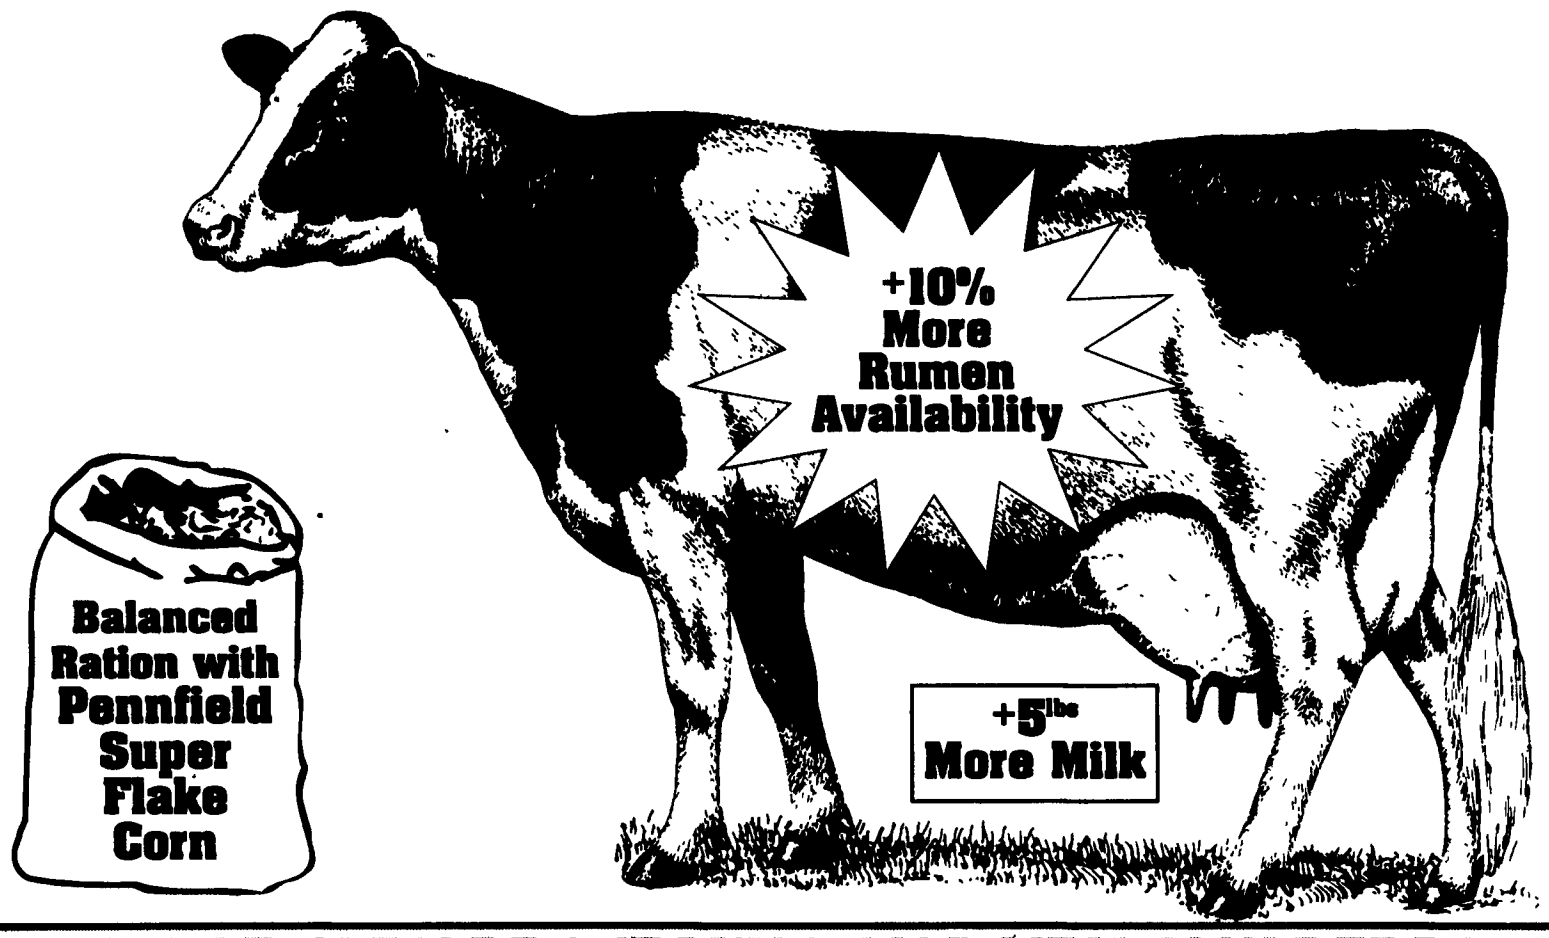
Approximately 18 months ago, Pennfield's Feed Mill at Mt. Joy, Pa. began construction of a $600,000 grain processing unit that has the capability of significantly improving the nutrient availability of shell corn.

The Process Involves

1) Cleaning the corn
2) Soaking or steeping the corn for a prescribed period of time
3) Applying steam to the corn before rolling
4) The specially conditioned corn is then rolled between 2 large rollers
5) The wet flat rolled corn is then processed by a special unit that removes the moisture and dries the finished flake back down to normal corn moisture
6) The finished product resembles a bright yellow corn flake (makes you want to get a bowl full and add milk and sugar)

WHY IS SUPER FLAKED CORN BETTER?

Flat rolled steam flaking disrupts the cellular structure of the corn kernels (gelatinization) and increases sites for microbial attachment resulting in improved starch (carbohydrate) digestion in the rumen. In simple terms, the cow uses more of the nutrients because the rumen bugs can get to them and much less corn nutrient goes out in the manure.



EFFECTS OF CORN PROCESSING ON DAIRY COW PERFORMANCE

Research conducted by the University of Arizona on Western Processed Flat Rolled Steam Flaked Corn shows the kind of improvement you can expect.

In the studies below, average milk production INCREASED ABOUT 5LBS./COW/DAY, protein yield increased about .2 lbs./cow/day and % usually increased, fat yield increased about .1 lb./cow/day and % decreased.

Item	Regular Steam Rolled	Flat Rolled Steam Flaked
Milk, lbs/day	83.8	88.4
Protein, lbs/day	1.18	1.28
Protein, %	3.11	3.2

Univ. of AZ JDS 77(Suppl. 1):383 1994

Item	Regular Steam Rolled	Flat Rolled Steam Flaked
Milk yield, lbs/day	70.8	76.3
Milk protein, lbs/day	2.03	2.23
Milk protein, %	2.89	2.93
Milk fat, lbs/day	2.17	2.30
Milk fat, %	3.06	3.01

Univ. of AZ JDS 77: 1038 1994

Item	Regular Steam Rolled	Flat Rolled Steam Flaked
Milk, lb/day	76.3	81.6
Protein, lb/day	2.26	2.40
Protein, %	2.99	2.95
Fat, lb/day	2.32	2.40
Milk fat, %	3.06	2.96

Univ. of AZ JDS 78(Suppl. 1):210 1995

NOTE: Because of processing a flatter flake there is less weight per volume of feed. This means that less will fit on trucks and in bins. Volume will increase 5 to 15% depending on the inclusion level of corn. Keep this in mind when ordering feed. Also, grain scoops or volume based grain feeders need to be recalibrated for SUPER FLAKE containing feeds. Feed amounts required based on actual weights.

National Grain Market

St. Joseph, MO
Wednesday June 05, 1996
USDA-MO Dept Ag Market News

DAILY NATIONAL GRAIN SUMMARY

Grain and soybean bids declined, today. Harvest pressure and profit taking on the board weakened wheat bids. Corn bids were lower due to slow export interest and profit taking. Possible increased in soybean acres and spillover weakness from wheat and corn pits drove soybean bids lower. Wheat 2 to 6 cents lower. Corn 8 to 16 cents lower. Sorghum 14 to 27 cents lower. Soybeans 4 to 11 cents lower. Wheat bids were mostly lower again today, as harvest pressure weighed on prices. The winter wheat crop in Texas has been reported better than expected. However, some fields in Colorado have been destroyed by rain and scattered hail damage. Profit taking on the board added more pressure to wheat bids. Export demand has been good this week, limiting declines. Corn planting is nearly finished and after recent heavy rains, some farmers have been forced to switch to soybeans. Profit taking was noted on the board, also lowering corn bids. Export sales have been scarce this week for corn but beans have enjoyed a couple good orders.

The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

TRY A PAPAYA?

Why a papaya? Because it's King Kamehameha Day (June 11) in Hawaii, honoring the warrior king who unified the Hawaiian chain of islands early in the 19th century. Festivities in Hawaii run at least a week, from the lei-draping of the Kamehameha statue in Honolulu to various parades, surfboarding and windsurfing events, and music festivals. The Fourth of July also traditionally marks a great series of events, including the paniolo (Hawaiian cowboys) hosting their famous rodeos. The Makawao Rodeo, in the Maui cow town of Makawao, is just one of many, with riding, roping, country music, dancing, and Hawaiian-style rodeo clowns.

You can lead a horse to water, but you can't make him float.

TIP OF THE WEEK

PINEAPPLE SALAD

1 large pineapple, halved
2 bananas
1 teaspoon lemon or orange juice
2 oranges and/or kiwis
1 cup strawberries
1/4 cup honey
1/2 cup kirsch (optional)

With a very sharp knife, cut the pineapple in half, lengthwise, leaving the fronds intact. Carve out the pineapple pulp and discard the core. Chop the pineapple, slice the bananas, and mix in the lemon juice so the banana doesn't brown. Put these in the pineapple "boats," then cover with sliced, seeded oranges and/or kiwis, and finally a layer of sliced strawberries. Mix the honey with the kirsch (or a little fruit juice, if you prefer), and pour this over all. Chill well.

Makes 6 servings.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

Look for a change in the weather if the telegraph poles buzz.

If St. Vitus Day (June 15) be rainy weather, it will rain for thirty days together.

Wet June, dry September.

Oklahoma City Feeder Cattle
Oklahoma City, OK
Wed Jun 5, 1996

USDA-OK Dept Ag Market News
Oklahoma National Stockyards - Weekly Cattle Summary
Compared to last Tuesday: Feeder cattle 2.00-4.00 higher. Demand very good for feeder cattle and calves. Feeder flesh mostly thin to medium. Weigh-ups average to full. Quality of supply average. Supply included a large percentage of cattle from out of state, mainly brahman cross cattle from Texas. General rains lately have provided a brighter outlook for summer grass. Calf demand responded accordingly. Recent declines in grain markets coupled with strong fall CME slaughter futures have boosted demand for feeder cattle. Slaughter cows uneven, Canner and Cutter steady to $1.00 lower, Utility steady to 1.00 higher. Demand moderate with best demand centered on Boning Utility. Trade fairly active although Texas buyers continue quiet as Texas cow runs remain heavy. 640 cows and bulls sold with 90 percent to packers. FOR DOUBLE-CROP SOYBEANS, THE ONLY POST THAT CONTROLS GRASSES AND BROADLEAVES.

PURSUIT® herbicide is today's best tool for double-crop beans. It not only delivers the highest degree of overall weed control but also is the only postemergence product that combines contact and residual activity to give you superior control of more than 40 tough-to-control grasses and broadleaf weeds including velvetleaf, foxtail, cocklebur, pigweeds, nightshade, common ragweed, giant ragweed, sunflower, shattercane and seedling Johnsongrass. Without causing soybean injury. And because of its advanced chemistry and low rates of application, PURSUIT offers a responsible choice for the environment. That's the kind of strength everyone can respect. And reason enough to try PURSUIT.

Good Reviews For Milk

We often chide the national news media for their disparaging reports of farming, especially our dairy industry. So, when a national publication with circulation in the millions admits the bad news about this food group has been blown out of proportion and gives a positive slant to the beneficial nutritional value of milk, we think we should applaud their article. We do!

In the Sunday, May 12, 1996, issue of Parade Magazine that is inserted in Sunday newspapers across the nation Densie Webb gives an encouraging report for the dairy industry under the headline "Don't Drop Dairy From Your Diet."

"Take a closer look," Webb writes, "and you'll find that the bad news about dairy either has been blown out of proportion or is completely untrue."

Then after quoting several authorities about the need for the nutritional value in milk and combatting the negative fat issue with the recommendation to use low-fat or skim milk, Webb recommends some ways to get more calcium-rich products in your diet without adding fat.

Among these suggestions: replace diet soda with low-fat milk as your beverage of choice when you grab a fast lunch; when you take a break, make it a milk break with a little coffee in your milk instead of the other way around. Right on!

We all know milk is one of the best sources of calcium in the diet. Dr. David McCarron, chief of the Division of Nephrology, Hypertension and Clinical Pharmacology at Oregon Health Sciences University in Portland says milk not only helps prevent the bone-destroying disease osteoporosis but also may prevent high blood pressure, ward off colon cancer, alleviate symptoms of PMS, control cholesterol, and even help your body manage stress.

Thank you Parade Magazine for publishing this factual article about milk. You have been of great service to your readers and we want you to know the dairy industry commends you for the report.

Editor:

With the passing of Fred Reburn who served the community well as a school board treasurer and president, a Mason, a member of Grange and active in his church, we have lost a friend.

Fred Reburn gave more to the community than most. Many of us have watched his farm change this year. We have objected to the many trees that were sacrificed on the farm. Most of us are unaware that Fred donated his development rights to the county. His is the first farm in Chester County to do so. Lancaster County has had many farmers recognize the importance of preserving farm land.

Agriculture may not seem important to the people who have grown up watching the farms gradually give way to houses. With the finest farmland in the world, it seems immoral to me, to continue in this vein. Lancaster County is the number one non-irrigated agriculture county in the US. Chester County fits in well into the top category. Where will we

To Prevent Weed Resistance

A major concern in agriculture is the development of pest resistance to chemicals.

There is a growing concern weeds may join the list of pests that have developed resistance to certain chemicals.

How do weeds develop resistance? Weed scientists believe weeds are like people. They have a wide range of genetic variation in their populations. This means any weed population has the potential to have one or weeds that will not be affected by a particular herbicide.

When the same herbicide is used over a period of time, the weeds which are susceptible are killed and the resistant ones are not. Eventually resistant weeds pollinate resistant weeds and the seed produced is resistant.

It is much easier to prevent the development of resistance than it is to cope with it. Resistance management strategies include:

- Crop rotation.
- Product rotation, especially ones that have different modes of action.
- Use tank mixes or sequential applications of products with different modes of action.
- Use mechanical control. No weed is resistant to cultivation.

To Look At New Alfalfa Varieties

Controlling insect pests on plants have evolved from mechanical removal to spraying the plant with an insecticide to allowing the plant to control its own insect pests.

The most destructive insect pest of alfalfa in Pennsylvania is the potato leafhopper. Plant breeders with several seed-producing companies have been able to breed alfalfa plants which are resistant to this insect.

The first two resistant varieties to be marketed in 1997 are Arrest from Northrup King and 534LH from Pioneer. Several other seed companies — including Cenex/Land O'Lakes, DeKalb, Mycogen, Cargill, Agway, American's Alfalfa, and Agripro — expect to have varieties available soon.

All the companies developed their resistance working with germ plasma released from Purdue and Kansas State about 10 years ago. Varieties will have tiny glandular hairs on the external plant parts.

In total, it took more than 30 years of research to develop the genetic material from a weed found in North Africa by USDA-ARS scientists.

Many university and USDA researchers believe the amount of resistance is substantial. However, they do report differences in varieties that have been tested.

You will want to study variety trails in your area for effectiveness before selecting one of these new varieties for your farm.

To Look At Rain Damage To Hay

Rainfall during harvest reduces both yield and the quality of the hay, according to research at the University of Kentucky.

Rain leaches nutrients from the plant and reduces the number of leaves in the bale. Grass hay is less affected than legume hay. As the amount of rain increases, the amount of loss increases.

Results from a study in Kentucky comparing data from 54 harvests showed yield losses in alfalfa harvested for silage average 17 percent with no rain and 22 percent with rain. The extent of hay loss due to rain increased as the moisture content in the alfalfa decreased.

The digestibility of the hay declined by more than 10 percent because of rain. In an attempt to avoid the negative effects of rain on hay quality, harvest was delayed to avoid getting the hay rained on.

The delay in cutting, on average, proved unsuccessful because the advancing maturity of the alfalfa was rapidly reducing the digestibility. Based on this research, we may need to rethink the effect of rain on quality, considering the alternatives.

ARE YOU SERIOUS, JESUS?

Background Scripture:
I Timothy 6:2b-21
Devotional Reading:
I Timothy 6:14-20

Many years ago I saw a British motion picture, Heavens Above!, in which the late Peter Sellers played the part of a naive Anglican priest who took seriously and literally Jesus' teaching about money. Without meaning to do so, the rector alienated just about everyone in his parish with his admonitions to share material goods with those who were needy. What made the film so whimsical for me was that he didn't exaggerate or bend the words of Jesus in any way; he simply accepted these teachings at face value.

BELIEVING IN MONEY

To be sure, we do share a portion of it — what was the last statistic I saw on church giving: the majority of Christians giving less than one percent of their income for charitable and benevolent causes! We all know that level of sharing is not what Jesus expects of us, but we resist taking him seriously because material wealth is what most of us really believe is the root of happiness. We believe in God, but we believe even more in money and what it can buy.

If this doesn't apply to you, well good for you! But it applies to me, even though I profess that God is much more important than money. It is not what I say about money, but how I feel about it and what I do about it. If I really believed that God alone is the source of all that I need for abundant life, I would be more generous with what I have. And I strongly suspect that I am not alone in that condition.

The problem, of course, is not with money itself, but as the writer of I Timothy says, "the love of money is the root of all evil" (6:10), and if it is not the love of money itself, it is the love of what money can buy — or at least what we think it can buy. Despite our disclaimers, all of us believe and have faith in money and material things. We often turn to money, not God, when we need help. God's greatest adversary in our world is and has always been materialism. And that's why we have a hard time taking seriously Jesus and the writer of I Timothy when they speak to us of material wealth.

GODLINESS: THE REWARD

Some people try to insure happiness by behaving in a godly manner. They use godliness as a strategy to assure themselves of God's salvation. But the writer of I Timothy tells us that they have it all wrong; godliness doesn't buy us happiness, godliness is happiness. "There is great gain in godliness with contentment" (6:6). Godliness is its own reward. What we are looking for in following the almighty dollar is precisely what we experience when we live godly lives. Godliness makes us feel good, full and complete.

So what is godliness? The writer puts it simply for us: "They are to do good, to be rich in good deeds, liberal and generous, thus laying up for themselves a good foundation for the future, so that they may take hold of the life which is life indeed" (4 :18,19).

If we want "life indeed" we need to take Jesus seriously.

All epoxy powder coated

At our plant we are capable of providing any type of heavy or light metal fabrication including welding. Contact us for a free estimate for your next fabrication job.

Custom Powder Coatings

Our in-line process takes your raw product through the blast cleaning, iron phosphate, and baked on powder coat finishing process all from one location. This provides the highest quality product because the product has no opportunity to be contaminated between processes. Our coatings provide excellent chemical resistance which is effective against animal wastes along with cleaning agents and other chemicals.

We can powder coat your existing equipment or fabricate from start to finish in our plant. A variety of colors are available for indoor and outdoor use. We also have USDA approved coatings available for the food processing industry

We will do an expert evaluation of your needs to determine the exact powder coating needed based on the conditions of use.

Precast Concrete
Hog Slats* Cattle Slats
Pillars Beams

*Hog Slats can also be used under calf hutches and around feeders & watering troughs.

A time to salute the
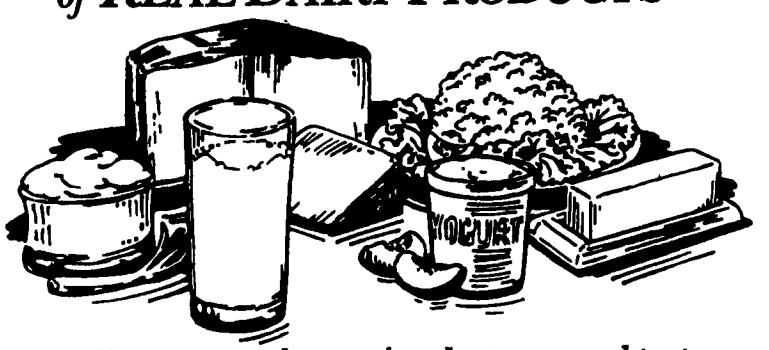
of REAL DAIRY PRODUCTS



All year round we enjoy the pure, real taste of American dairy foods...milk, cheese, butter, ice cream, yogurt and more. It's only fitting that once a year we take the time to salute America's dairy farmers for this outstanding contribution. Now's the time!

Late Blight? Early Start.

CHAMP Flowable Formula 2 Fungicide:
The Blight Heavyweight.

What can we tell you about late blight that you probably don't already know? After all, it's your potatoes — and your livelihood — that are on the line.

In order to control late blight, you need to get an early start ... a total disease management program that includes good growing practices and proper use of foliar fungicides. And that's where CHAMP Formula 2 comes in.

The Copper Fungicide That Doesn't Act Like One.

The neat part about CHAMP Formula 2 is that it's every bit as effective as the products shown in the field test data below ... it delivers the maximum amount of active ingredient and measures up in performance. See for yourself.

Potato - Late Blight
University of Wisconsin Field Trials, 1994

Treatment	% Infection
Untreated	61.1
Bravo Zn	1.5
Bravo 720	3.4
Penncozeb DF	10.4
CHAMP Formula 2	10.8

Data courtesy of Dr. Walter R. Stevenson, University of Wisconsin, Madison, WI 1994

Statistically, there was no significant difference between treatments.

In Every Way, You Win With CHAMP Formula 2.

Consider these additional benefits: with CHAMP there's no residue tolerance restrictions and you can spray right up to the day of harvest, in whatever quantity and number of applications is necessary for your situation. CHAMP Formula 2 has also been shown to be effective, even when there are resistance problems with other compounds. And it's very cost effective when compared to other products on the market.

So, let's review. Late blight? Start early with a season-long disease management program using CHAMP Formula 2. It's available in 2-1/2 gallon jugs and 90 gallon mini-bulk containers. See your nearest dealer or an Agtrol representative today.

Climate At 'Winterset' Is One Of Family Closeness

LORETTA GOLDEN
Cambria Co. Correspondent

EBENSBURG (Cambria Co.) — Nestled among the rolling hills between Ebensburg and Loretto lies Winterset Farms, home of the Sherry families.

"The name 'Winterset' aptly describes the climate of Cambria County," noted Marty Sherry, owner and operator.

The entire farm is composed of 625 acres, 450 of which are in crop production to sustain the dairy operation. The primary crops are corn and alfalfa along with a few acres of small grain.

Modestus Sherry, Marty's dad, was born and raised on a farm between Gallitzin and Ashville in Cambria County. His thorough enjoyment of farming prompted a search for a farm of his own.

In 1952, Modestus, who prefers being called M.P., and his wife June, purchased Winterset Farms. At that time it was comprised of 168 acres and one building. Over the years M.P. was able to purchase five additional farms to bring the acreage total to the present 625 acres. His skills as a carpenter were utilized in constructing many additional buildings and silos as they were needed.

The Sherrys raised three sons and four daughters at Winterset Farms with everyone helping out at one time or another. The dairy operation remains a family affair. For a number of years, M.P. and his son, Marty, were partners in the business while June handled most of the clerical duties. Marty and his wife Sue are in the process of purchasing the farm from the elder Sherrys.

Sue, a native of Montgomery, Ala. had only ever been on a farm once in her life before she met Marty. She holds a license to teach cosmetology but at this time does not have on off-the-farm job. She keeps quite busy with farm recordkeeping and helping out in other areas of the business as she is needed. Another of her farm duties involves caring for the calves each morning.

Marty and Sue are the parents of two sons — Christopher, 16, and Benjamin, 14. Chris is a student at Bishop Carroll High School in Ebensburg and Ben attends St. Michael Elementary School in Loretto. Both boys enjoy outdoor activities and are also quite active in the local 4-H dairy organization. They are a big help with chores around the barns and are especially useful during the haying season.

When M.P. began in the dairy business in 1952, he started with seven cows which were milked by hand. Today there are 90 milking Holsteins and approximately 85 young stock. The latest DHIA report shows a 21,000-pound herd average with 688 pounds of protein. Milk from Winterset Farms has always been and continues to be shipped to Sani-Dairy in Johnstown.

Winterset Farms has one full-time and one part-time employee. Marty, M.P., and the hired help handle all of the milking chores with Sue, Chris, and Ben helping out when they are needed. They are on a 2X schedule. Because their operation is so labor intensive, the Sherrys are satisfied with this milking schedule. The two times per day milking gives them some flexibility and enables time for other activities.

An automated feeding cart is used in the tiestall barn. Milking equipment of the production of each cow. In 1984, a Virginia-style heifer barn was built and M.P. believes that this was one of the better things done at Winterset Farms. At that time, the design was very innovative. Because it is open-air, the animals stay healthier.

Winterset Farms grows all of its own corn and hay. The only feed which is purchased is a protein supplement. Even though Cambria County was hit hard by the drought during last year's growing season, Marty and M.P. comment that they had a fairly good year.

Marty feeds with a skid loader at the heifer barn.

Both of the Sherrys believe that some of the success of their dairy operation is due to the fact that they use a crop service. This service soil tests the fields and helps make a determination as to the amount of manure and fertilizer to be used. The crop service also scouts for pests and weeds and then helps to develop a plan of control, if necessary, for the next year.

Concerning equipment, the Sherrys are not really partial to one brand or another. M.P. notes that "the colors of the equipment don't all match but we try to buy the best piece of equipment for the least amount of money."

M.P. and Marty agree that their operation has been successful in part due to the fact that the bills are always paid on time. Time must be set aside each week for bookkeeping. This is done by Marty and Sue with the help of a computer. Neither have had formal training with computers but insist that the "user-friendly" software make the bookkeeping a lot less tedious than it had been. This recordkeeping is an essential tool in the constant revaluation which must be done in any business.

Marty is a member of the Allied Milk Producers, the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau, Agway, and Genex. For recreation he enjoys hunting but admits that one of the biggest drawbacks of his work is not having enough time off. Whatever leisure time there is he enjoys spending with his family. Despite the drawbacks, one real benefit that Marty finds, as do most folks who live in the country, "it's the best place to raise kids."

M.P. and Marty enjoy a close relationship. Marty is grateful for his dad's experience even though he does admit that "I hear what he says but I may not always listen." Pointing to his head he added, "I always store his advice for future use."

With some advice to young farmers, both Sherrys agree that a big secret to a successful dairy operation is "to do the job right the first time and continually look and see where improvements can be made."

This summer will be a little dif-

Lancaster Dairy Of Distinction Dinner Set

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The Lancaster County Dairy of Distinction Program has scheduled a special dinner to honor the 1966 winners. The Dairy of Distinction Program is a special grassroots undertaking to promote dairy product sales by encouraging good looking farms as potential consumers drive past the farm lane.

The dinner is scheduled for Saturday, June 29, at Yoders Resaurant, Route 23 east of New Holland. Starting time is 7 p.m.

The ticket prices are $10.00 for adults and $7.00 for youth ages 3-10. Make checks payable to Dairy of Distinction and mail by the deadline date of June 22 to:

Susan Musser, treasurer
1110 Newcomer Road
Mount Joy, PA 17552
Telephone: (717) 653-5927

Along with recognition of the winning farm families, Everett Newswanger, managing editor, Lancaster Farming, will speak on the topic "Observations on the Road to Future Farming". Everyone is invited to attend.

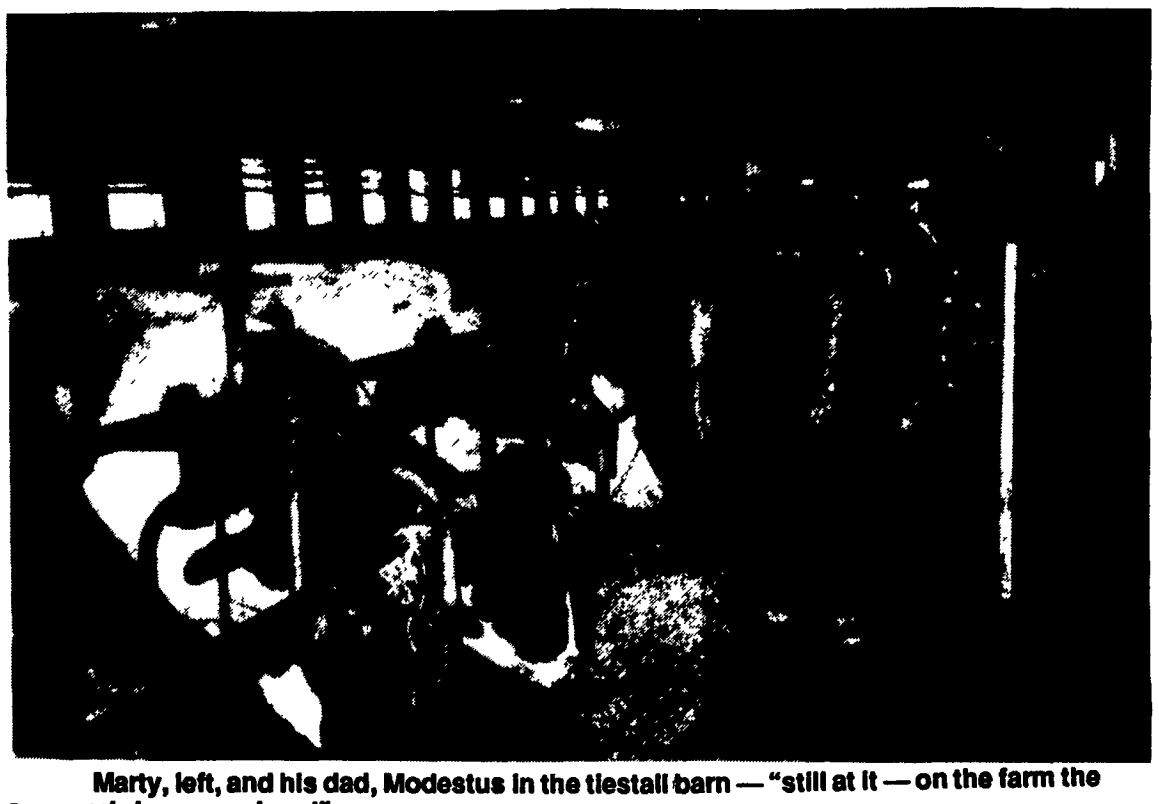
ferent around the farm. M.P. and June and planning to make a trip to Alaska. Their timetable has them beginning their trip after planting with their return to coincide with harvest.

M.P. claims that he "retired" from farming a few years ago so now he only works 60 hours a week for Marty. He may be "retired" from farming but does not seem "tired" of it.



Marty, left, and his dad, Modestus in the tiestall barn — "still at it — on the farm the work is never done!"

LORETTA GOLDEN
Cambria Co. Correspondent

Loretta has been the Cambria County correspondent for approximately 1½ years. Born and raised in Johnstown, she had no experience with farming until she married her husband, Vince Golden, in 1978.

A former secretary math teacher, Loretta is now a stay-at-home mom. Her five children include: twins, Katie and Beth, age 15, Andy, age 13, Julie who is 11, and Emily, age 9. They live on Golden Farms, a 300 acre cash crop operation specializing in growing and marketing specialty grain such as buckwheat and sunflower. The farm is located in the Portage-Munster area of Cambria County.

Recordkeeping for the farm operation is her job along with anything else which may help the operation run more smoothly. A good title for any mother of active children is "logistics manager" — making sure that everyone is where they are supposed to be when they are supposed to be there.

While not too familiar with the technical aspects of farming, she enjoys writing the articles which are family-oriented and those dealing with education, cooking and crafts. "Writing for the Lancaster Farming has enabled me to meet many of the nice people of Cambria County — everyone that I've interviewed in the past 1½ years has been very gracious.

Lebanon Conservation Award Nominations Accepted

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — A committee of Lebanon County Conservation Organizations has announced the Third Annual Lebanon County Conservation Awards Program.

Representatives of the Lebanon County Conservation District, Lebanon County Federation of Sportsman's Clubs, Pennsylvania Game Commission, Pennsylvania Fish and Boat Commission, Pennsylvania DER Bureau of Forestry, USDA Natural Resource Conservation Service, and Citizens Coordinating for Clean Water will present the following awards to three deserving nominees: County Conservationist of the Year, County Conservation Educator of the Year, and County Conservation Landowner of the Year.

The Conservationist of the Year award will honor the voluntary conservation efforts of an individual or group entity that is not necessarily a landowner. An individual landowner, civic organization, government agency, business or industry making a noteworthy contribution to conservation of natural resources will be the focus of the Conservation Landowner of the Year Award. The Conservation Educator of the Year Award will go to an active teacher excelling in environmental education.

Nominations are being accepted now through August 30. Nominations consist of a short profile (no more than two pages) of the individual, their conservation achievements, and impacts both locally and beyond.

Nomination forms are available at the Lebanon County Conservation District Office, 2120 Cornwall Road, Suite 5, Lebanon, PA 17042, (717) 272-3377. Winners of each award will be invited to the annual meeting/luncheon of the Lebanon County Conservation District on November 8, where they will be presented the award before multiple conservation groups and the media.

Contact Charles Wertz at (717) 272-3377 for more information.

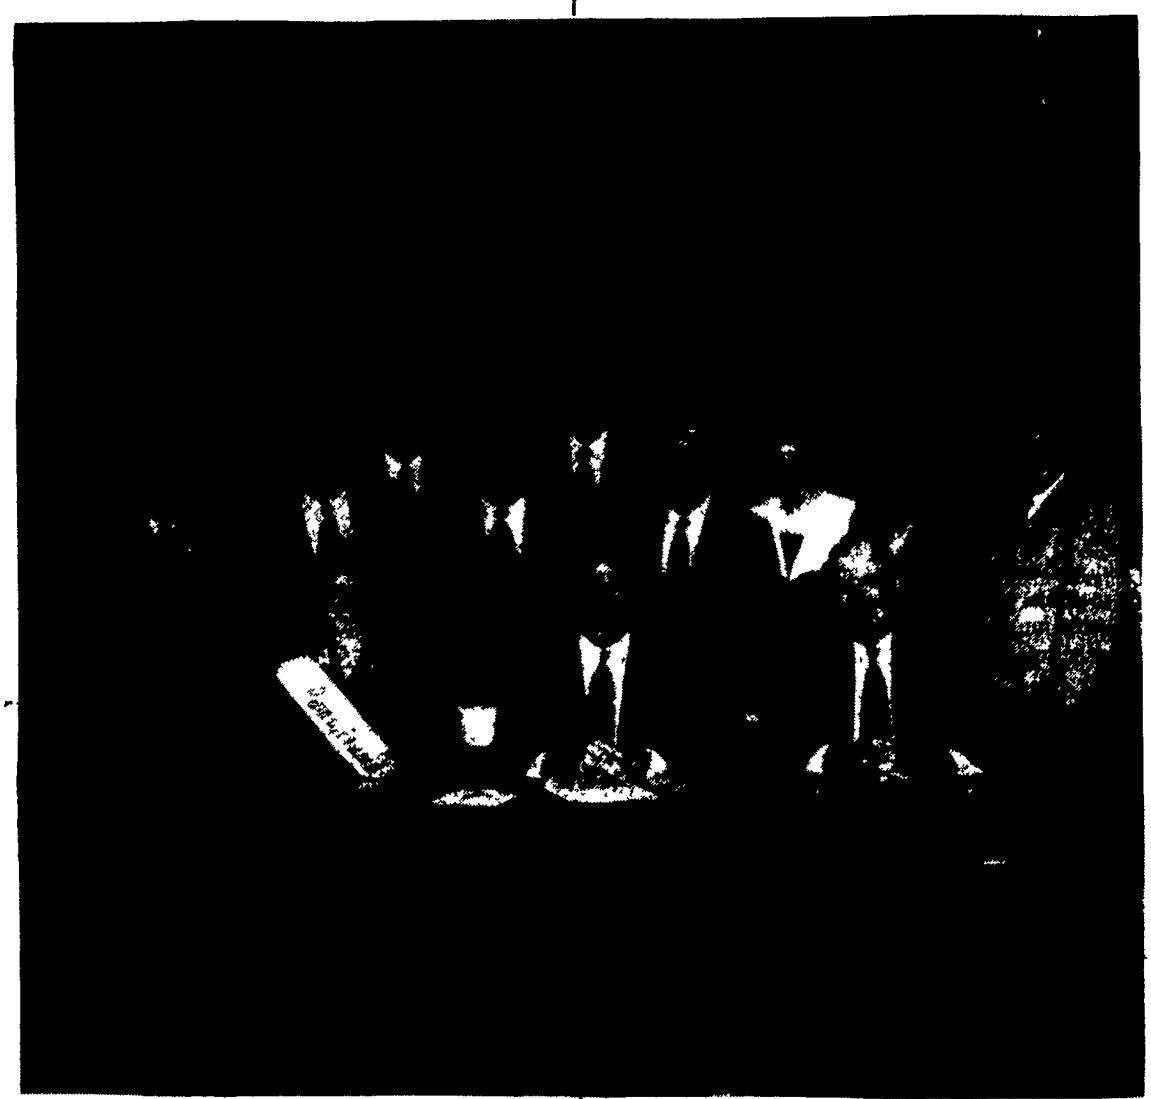
Gov. Ridge Signs Dairy Month Proclamation



Sitting with a glass of milk, state Dairy Princess Rhonda Kieklak on the left, and state Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brosius on the right, Gov. Tom Ridge signs a proclamation declaring June as Dairy Month. Supporting representatives of the state's agriculture community include, from the left standing in the front row, Bob Junk, president of Pennsylvania Farmers Union; Karl Kroeck, chairman of the Pa. Dairy Promotion Board, a dairy farmer and township supervisor; George Stambaugh, a dairy farmer, board member of Milk Marketing Inc., and member of the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council; Ivo Otto, a dairy farmer, chairman of the board of directors for Atlantic Dairy Cooperative and Mid-Atlantic Milk Marketing Association; Doroth Naugle, with Allied Milk Producers; Janice Itle, Allied Milk Producers board member; Gordon Hiller, master of the Pennsylvania State Grange. In the back row, from the left, are Logan Bower, a dairy farmer and president of the Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association; and Guy Donaldson, fruit grower and president of the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau. The group gathered in the state Capitol recently to mark the occasion. More than 38 percent of agricultural income in Pennsylvania is generated by milk sales. Sales from milk alone represents a $1.46 billion contribution to the state's economy. The state's processing plants and manufacturers add to the value of milk. Last year, 645,000 dairy cows produced 10.6 billion pounds of milk. The state also ranks second nationally in production of ice cream (at 66 million gallons) and sixth in cheese (348 million pounds). As part of June Dairy Month, MAMMA is sponsoring Dairy Day June 5 at the Philadelphia County Fair. Other events include a June 19 dairy night with the Reading Phillies, and June 20 with the Harrisburg Senators. The ADAME is sponsoring a dairy night on June 24 with the Erie Sea Wolves minor league baseball team. For more information, call MAMMA at (410) 321-0266, and ADAME at (412) 367-5999.

science/dairy science students is rethinking some of the things they learned since they began work on the farm.

For the small percentage who haven't grown up on a farm, "they don't come in with any perceived notions of what should be," said George Gross, dairy superintendent of the college. "And they're very open to learning everything about animals."

That includes type and production — and examining how to reconcile the two.

For the majority of the students, according to Gross, they believe that "Mom and Dad's done it like this and you have to diplomatically explain to them that maybe that's not the best way, or here's another alternative," said Gross.

"But sometimes our ways don't work, and Mom and Dad's way, the way their farm is set up, works best."

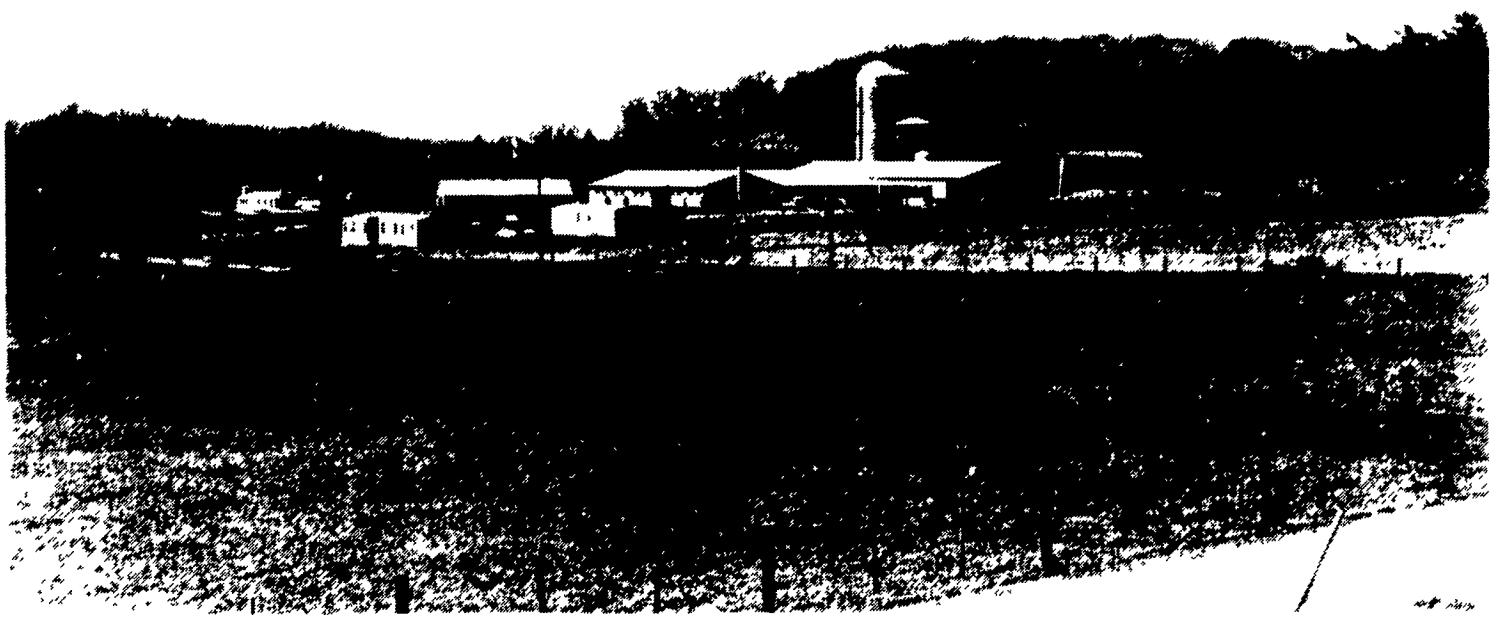
Gross, in his dual role as superintendent and dairy science instructor, manages a herd of 71 cows on test, including 46 Holsteins, 10 Jerseys, 13 Ayrshires, and two Brown Swiss. There are a total of 36 replacement stock from calves to 2 year-olds.

Altogether the Delaware Valley College farm encompasses 625 acres, of which 450 are tillable. (The 625 acres includes the equine center, orchards, all livestock facilities, and the athletic fields). Of the 450 tillable acres, 190 acres are in corn, 150 in alfalfa, 80 in timothy, and 30 are in soybeans.

On Pa.DHIA, milking herd averages are 22,895 pounds for the Holsteins, including 876f, 763p, and 2058 on milk solids nonfat (MSNF). For the Jerseys, milk totals are 14,539 pounds, 718f, 553p, and 1366 MSNF. For the Ayrshires, milk totals are 16,785 pounds, 652f, 550p, and 1477 MSNF. The Brown Swiss averages are 15,529 pounds, 640f, 563p, and 1413 MSNF.

Gross works to ensure that students enrolled in the program learn all the basics of running a farm, including milking, feeding, instruction in breeding management, heat checks, spotting cows and getting them ready, cleaning, health care, and selection of replacement animals.

Each week Gross keeps track of the nearly 200 student-hours of work study and class participation. Students become involved early on in the college's mission to provide hands-on learning and the "action advantage" 24-week employment program to enhance the skills learned on campus.



Altogether the Delaware Valley College farm encompasses 625 acres, of which 450 are tillable. (The 625 acres includes the equine center, orchards, all livestock facilities, and the athletic fields). Of the 450 tillable acres, 190 acres are in corn, 150 in alfalfa, 80 in timothy, and 30 are in soybeans.

In its centennial year, the college hopes to continue a tradition of learning by doing, begun in 1896.

More than 90 percent of DVC graduates find work or continue to further their education, according to 1994 placement figures presented by Chris Beadling, director of public relations for the college. Those employed account for 77 percent of the respondents while 15 percent were continuing their studies. Of the respondents employed, 82 percent were employed in their major.

Graduates work for a variety of employers in the tri-state area.

For dairy science majors, it's not just learning about type and selection of proper genetics. It's also learning how to run the dairy as a business. It's an emphasis on how to increase production. Instruction combines all the elements used by successful dairy operations while putting the talents of the students to the test.

This also includes teaching how to clean and prepare an animal for showing, especially at the big events such as the state Farm Show and even some of the county fairs.

At the 1995 Allentown Fair, a Delaware Valley College 3-year-old Holstein, Doll, won grand champion female. She also was grand champion at several other shows, including the Kimberton, Goshen, and Bucks County fairs.

The champion cow's breedbook name is Peticote Leadman Doll-ET, bred by William Pettit, Vincentown, N.J. The Excellent cow's sire is Rothrock Tradition Leadman and dam is Peticote Black Donut. The 3 year-old was projected at 22,000+ pounds.

Students not only are in charge of showing and fitting the animals, but they also maintain the display at the state Farm Show. The exhibit, featuring the pedigree boards and facts about the college's dairy program, attracts hundreds of visitors at Farm Show. For setting up the display and keeping the area clean and open, the college was honored with the overall Housekeeping Award the past few years.

Gross said, "We're very proud of our students because in the last three years they have won the overall award. They're involved in a course in which they actually do

Improvement of the herd is key to rounding out the education of the dairy science majors. "We're constantly trying to breed to the better bulls, use TMR, and made a couple more improvements," said Gross, at right. At left is Shane Betz, herdsman.

Eberhard To Speak

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Field staff of the Pennsylvania Dairy Herd Improvement Association (Pa.DHIA) met May 21 and 22 to set the course for the Pa.DHIA technicians' summer conference.

Technician conferences are held periodically so as to assure that technicians are given the opportunity to gain and maintain skills on currently available technology in order to provide members with the best possible service.

This year's conference is to be held June 14 and June 15 at the Grantville Holiday Inn, featuring Ron Eberhard, a motivational speaker.

In addition to the educational aspect of the conference, several awards and special recognitions are to be made.

Ron Eberhard, a professional member of the National Speakers Association and the Ohio Speakers Forum, who is also known as a motivational seminar leader and humorist.

He has been called an "editor of life." He was awarded the Distinguished Alumni Award from the College of Agriculture at Ohio State in 1977.

Having grown up on a 210-acre farm, Ron came home to join his father after college. They farmed four and a half years — without a written agreement — before "the partnership" ended at his father's request.

Recognizing the dire need for improved communication and business-estate planning within farm families, Ron formed Eberhard Planning Services.

He is now president of Business & Estate Planning Services Unlimited, which serves clientele in over 30 states. He presently works with over 600 farm families — 90 percent of whom are at least two generations working together — full time — side by side. Ron serves as a factfinder and negotiator.

His best-selling audio cassette series, Keeping The Farm In The Family and Family On The Farm, has given support and guidance to families working together in farming operations, as well as many non-farming business families.

Technician Committee Meets

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The Pa.DHIA Technician Advisory Committee met recently at the Days Inn in State College.

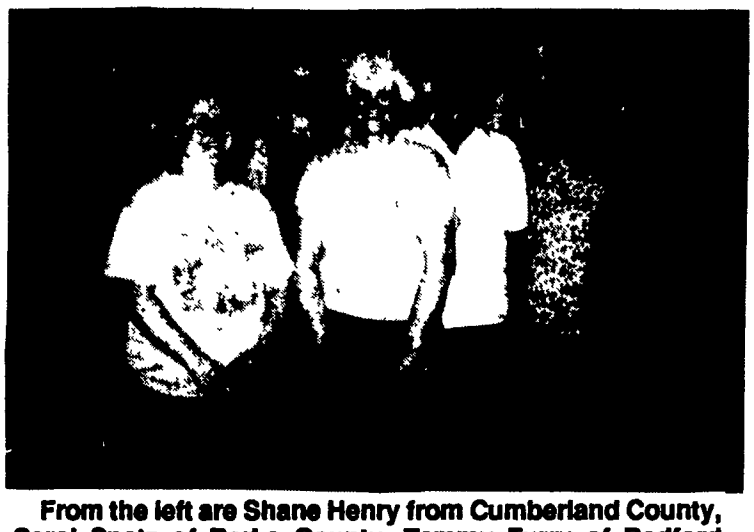
The eight-member committee is comprised of technicians from the Pa.DHIA service area, which includes Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Maryland, West Virginia and Missouri.

The main objective of the committee is to offer technician feedback, as well as advice, on the many different aspects of the services they provide — from how to change the reports to make them more user-friendly, to scheduling and planning technician conferences.

During the most recent meeting, the committee discussed revamping the technicians' training seminar, new technician pay, the fall conference, and other programs to be added in the near future.

Members of the committee include Bonnie Copley of Tioga County, Steve Crowley for New York state, Shane Henry of Cumberland County, Carol Spatz of Berks County, Tammy Furry of Bedford County, Jean Wolfe of Jefferson County, Gary Davies of Susquehanna County, and Anne Brooks of Centre County.

Linda Sticklin, a member of the Pa.DHIA Computer Committee, is a non-voting committee member serving in a position as liason and advisor between committees.



From the left are Shane Henry from Cumberland County, Carol Spatz of Berks County, Tammy Furry of Bedford County, Jean Wolfe of Jefferson County, Gary Davies of Susquehanna County, Linda Sticklin of Tioga County who serves as a non-voting participant representing the Pa.DHIA Computer Committee, and Anne Brooks of Centre County. Not shown are members Bonnie Copley of Tioga County and Steve Crowley of New York state.

Pa.DHIA Forms Computer Committee

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The Pennsylvania Dairy Herd Improvement Association recently created a Computer Committee to work closely with the Pa.DHIA data processing department and to make recommendations.

The committee consists of six technicians from different regions of the Pa.DHIA service area.

Included are Joan Yoder, of Mifflin County, Lisa Kulinski, of Lawrence County, Linda Genth of Lebanon County, Denise Solt of Northampton County, John O'Toole of Perry County, and Linda Sticklin of Tioga County.

The group recently met at the Days Inn in State College to discuss making the quick barn sheet more user-friendly as far as entering data at the dairy farm.

Tobacco Blue Mold Update

JOHN O. YOCUM
Senior Research Associate
Penn State

At this time, blue mold has not been found on tobacco in Pennsylvania, but it has been reported in Kentucky, Ohio, and Florida. The blue mold in these states is both sensitive and insensitive to Ridomil. In other words, Ridomil has controlled blue mold in some cases, but in other cases has not controlled the blue mold.

This means there are two types of blue mold in these states. We think our blue mold starts from spores blown in from the Kentucky area on storm fronts. If this is the case this year, we probably will soon see blue mold infections on tobacco in Pennsylvania.

Since we cannot predict which blue mold strain might infect our tobacco, our recommendation is to apply two quarts of Ridomil prior to transplanting. If we only get the Ridomil sensitive blue mold, you will have protection for the season.

With the help of The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, EPA has granted a Section 18 Emergency Exemption for Acrobat MZ fungicide for use on blue mold that is not controlled by Rimodil. If we determine blue mold is not being controlled by Ridomil, Acrobat MZ will be recommended.

Acrobat MZ wettable powder is an American Cyanamid Company product. This material will have to be sprayed foliar with a maximum of four field applications for the season. Unlike the maneb products, Acrobat MZ will stop the blue mold from making additional spores which should reduce potential new infections.

Application rates and methods will be on the label. In addition, a Pennsylvania Section 18 recordkeeping form must be obtained. This form must be filled out and mailed to the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture within 30 days after the last application.

These forms can be obtained from PDA, Penn State extension offices, and where you purchase the material.

One last tip to help control tobacco blue mold in Pennsylvania — destroy those plant beds as soon as you are finished pulling plants. Plant beds provide a great environment for the development of blue mold, which then can spread to the field through airborne spores.

Observation and timely action will be necessary to prevent tobacco blue mold from reducing the value of our Pennsylvania grown tobacco. Look for yellow spots with a bluish mold growing on the underside of the spot.

The best time to see the mold on the underside of the leaf is early in the morning or on cloudy days. Look at your plant beds and walk your fields frequently, looking for the fungus.

If you find blue mold, please contact me at 653-4728 or contact Bob Anderson, Lancaster County extension office, at (717) 394-6851 so we can determine what blue mold strain we have and what recommendations we need to make for all tobacco producers.

Potato Growers Support Continued Research

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Agriculture Secretary Charles C. Brosius announced that Pennsylvania's potato growers voted to continue the Pennsylvania Potato Research Program for another five years.

"The program funds research for the discovery of new potato varieties and works to find solutions to production problems," Brosius said. "By continuing the program, we will be able to support and expand the efforts of Pennsylvania's potato farmers."

Of the eligible growers, 55 percent voted in favor of continuing the program for the next five years. A total of 116 eligible votes were cast.

Those voting in the referendum represent 56 percent of the 208 eligible potato growers in the Commonwealth. A potato grower must farm at least five acres to be considered eligible. The program is funded by potato growers through a $4 per acre assessment on their production.

The Agricultural Commodities Marketing Act of 1968 created programs such as the Potato Research Program. The Act requires the program to be reviewed every five years by a referendum of potato growers.

TOURS

Donald and Mary Haldeman would like to welcome you to Sycamore Springs Farm.

Sycamore Springs Farm and Greenhouses was started in 1977 on the fram of Donald's father, James F. Haldeman, former Berks County Extension agent. It was started originally as a fresh produce farm. Sycamore Springs now has diversified and operates a 15,000 sq. ft. greenhouse operation, as well as a full line of nursery stock. A unique gift shop is open year round with an accent on gardens, classic handmade pottery, baskets and books. The barn has been renovated to handle a growing dried flower department. Also, they raise over 400 varieties of perennials plus over 50 varieties of day lilies. You will be able to take a walking tour of this family operation and even take something along home.

Welcome to Peacock Bridge Kennels. Andrew and Helgre Bensing own and operate Peacock Bridge Kennels, home of Vompfaven brucke Rottweilers. In 1987 the Bensings started this successful, professional dog training and grooming business. They have two full-time and three part-time employees to take care of 67 dog runs and 21 cats which are housed under 10,000 sq. ft. of roof, setting on 18 isolated acres.

The Bensings breed and raise Rottweilers as well as other dogs to sell. The main business is to train for obedience and protection as well as board dogs and cats for vacationers. Andy will show us a demonstration on obedience, protection, and also how to groom a dog.

Nature and exotic animal farm owners Harry and Cathy O'Neil welcome you to Irish Hill Farm. The O'Neils breed and sell offsprings from their herd of many kinds. We will take a walking tour and see Red Kangaroos, Wallabies, fallow Deer, miniature Zebu Cows, miniature Donkeys and others.

They also breed and sell border Collies, Beagles and Cane Carso. Their pride and joy is to breed, raise, and sell Belgian Horses. They show at the Keystone National in Harrisburg as well as local parades and special events like weddings, which they hitch to a stagecoach.

NOTE

I'm sure you will enjoy these tours.

Plenty of time to see everything, all in a 4-mile area, a beautiful area of Berks County.

Deadline to register for picnic and tours is June 20.

Ridge Signs Law Banning Prohibited Egg Breakers

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — In an effort to prevent cases of salmonella, Gov. Tom Ridge on Tuesday signed into law a bill to ban the use of egg breaking centrifuges.

State Agriculture Secretary Charles Brosius stated that he supported the law.

Brosius stated in a news release that the machines allow the exteriors of egg shells to come in contact with the edible part of the egg, creating the potential for unsanitary conditions.

"Gov. Ridge and I are committed to upholding Pennsylvania's rigorous food safety standards," Brosius said. "This legislation ensures that Pennsylvania's farmers will be following the guidelines of nationally recognized food testing organizations."

Use of the machine in restaurants has already been prohibited in Pennsylvania.

In addition, the United States Department of Agriculture banned the use of centrifuge machines from all USDA inspected facilities, including egg breaking and pasteurization plants.

Food processors will now have to either hand-break eggs or purchase pasteurized eggs from government-inspected breaking plants.

the whole thing leading up to the Farm Show.

"It's a recognition of their hard work. You have to really put a lot of work into it."

The Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association matched the Farm Show premium, bringing the total winnings up to about $450 — a substantial honor, according to Gross.

But the coursework is not all show. Each student, including those not enrolled in agricultural studies, is required to complete an employment program, which involves spending 960 hours in job directly related to the major.

For dairy science freshmen, according to Gross, students are exposed to all aspects of raising livestock, including horses, sheep, swine, poultry, beef, and dairy cattle. In the second semester, they learn the principles of dairy science and are exposed to an overview of the dairy industry, including preparing an animal for showing.

"They observe milking, they observe the operation of the dairy and how feeding's done, and are presented with a general overview to bring everybody up to the same levels," said Gross.

Sophomores learn selection of cattle and complete studies on genetics. They are instructed in how to evaluate and judge cattle.

Juniors and seniors are introduced to the business aspects of running a dairy, including feed, breeding, and overall business management. A term paper examines all aspects of running a dairy business.

At that time, the students "have been exposed to all aspects of the dairy industry," said Gross. "They've been exposed to the marketing of animals, they put up a mock sale in which they have to come up with a sales catalogue, and they have to put an ad in the catalogue for their animals. They learn how to work up an ad. They learn all aspects of taking good pictures.

"We try to expose them to as much practical education as we can in all aspects of the dairy industry."

For those who come from a farm, "we sometimes have heated discussions on how things should be done. But hopefully we end up every day getting a little bit from it. Sometimes some of the things we do here we do just as an educational tool to show them what good or bad can come of doing something."

That practical, hands-on advantage "tends to stick with them much more," he said.

"We have not gotten to the point of saying, 'You do this, and this and this will happen. There're still genetics involved. And even though you can come up to 95 percent reliability, there's still that 5 percent . . . . You may find that you've covered all the aspects and left one thing out, and that's going to affect the herd."

Gross said that while they give all the cows the best advantage in feeding, breeding, and management, the dairy industry "is still a combination of science and art."

Some students have never been on a dairy farm in their life and decide they want to be part of the industry.

That's how Gross came to dairy farming. He was raised in the city of Pittsburgh and worked on a farm for a dairyman during the summer of his junior year in high school. At the time, he wasn't certain whether he wanted to be a dairy farmer or an agricultural engineer.

"In Pittsburgh, all the high schools were geared toward your becoming an engineer, with all the steel industry (that's back when the steel industry was running strong), so I decided I'd like to pursue a career in agriculture."

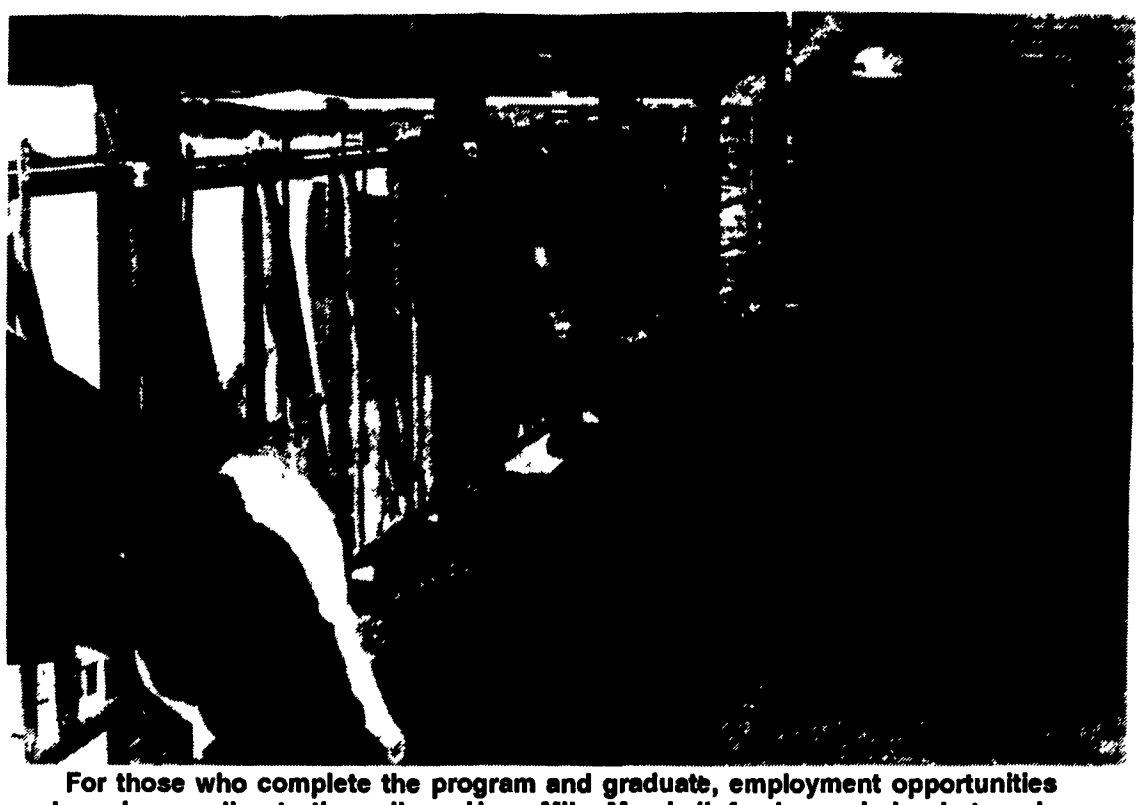
A DVC graduate, when Gross made the decision in 1973 to stay in the dairy industry, there were 68 cows milking with a stanchion barn. There were three breeds — Holsteins, Brown Swiss, and Ayrshires.

Improvement of the herd is key to rounding out the education of the dairy science majors.

"We're constantly trying to breed to the better bulls, use TMR, and made a couple more improvements," said Gross. The milk production has been rising the last six months. For bedding, the dairy has been using peanut hulls, which are becoming more difficult to obtain.

They believe that 'Mom and Dad's done it like this and you have to diplomatically explain to them that maybe that's not the best way, or here's another alternative.'

Students not only are in charge of showing and fitting the animals, but also maintain the display at the Farm Show. The exhibit, featuring the pedigree boards and keeping the area clean and open, netted the college the overall Housekeeping Award the past few years, according to Gross, pictured here.



For those who complete the program and graduate, employment opportunities abound, according to the college. Here, Mike Marshall, freshman, is hard at work.

Work on the freestalls will include the installation, this summer, of rubber-filled mattresses.

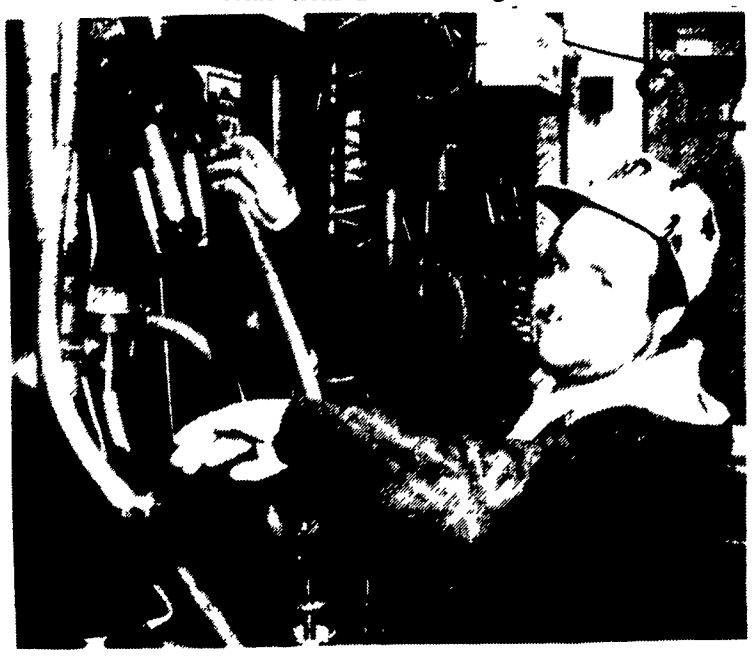
Feed is combination of high moisture shelled corn, alfalfa haylage, corn silage, and a clover-timothy hay.

"We're trying to improve our milk and protein levels, at the same time decreasing a little bit of our fat," said Gross. But the constant challenge is to "balance between production and type.

"And we have a different set of criteria than most farmers — we believe that we have to represent the breeds to the general public, so we're trying to strive for the type animal with production." Gross indicated that many farmers can focus in on production and now have to worry constantly about the "look" of the cow.

But graduates admit their work pays off.

Said Chris Beadling, the college's director of public relations, "Every alumnus I talk to seems so grateful to DVC for the education he or she received that helped to get that foot in the door."



Herdsman Shane Betz readies the equipment at DVC for milking.

Mrs. Leckey's first grade class from Abington Friends toured the Delaware Valley College in April.

grow our food if 2-acre lots contionue to gobble up the land?

If agriculture continues to be unprofitable more farms will continue to give way to houses so that the school taxes can be paid. It is an unending spiral; more houses, more children in school, more taxes. This community owes Fred much gratitude in the foresight of leading the way for the county. A thank you to the Reburn family seems to be the least I can do.

routine. That's what makes the day."

He also has penned a few self-motivational sayings:

"To get rich quick, simply count your blessings."

"Work routine earns a living. Moments between routine makes life."

"Why reward successful work with more working hours?"

"We become our thoughts. Control our thoughts and we gain control."

"All things are possible. Check your owner's manual (the Bible) for complete directions."

A number of the "Feather Prof.'s Footnotes" that accompany the "Now Is The Time," weekly column by Lancaster County Extension Director John Schwartz published in Lancaster Farming have also been clipped out and saved for the same purpose.

The reason for such diary keeping is multifold. He can look back to the day when something actually happened and verify it to himself. He can use it as a business reference, or to date something of family significance.

He can also look back to relive the day, and in some respects, because he is always aware that he will be writing something down, it seems to give more substance and fullness to each day, something that can disappear with time and attitude, as can memories.

Tom and Shirley Krall moved to their present Lebanon County dairy farm in 1987.

The farm itself sits in a semi-secluded valley between the main east-to-west roadway in the southeastern portion of Lebanon County — Rt. 419, also called Schaefferstown Road — and a low mountain ridge that, within sight of the farm, is mostly State Game Lands.

There is a second home on their farm, recently purchased with 75 acres of adjoining crop field. Tom said he was considering renting the home to someone who would also help with farm chores, such as some morning milkings, or when he has field work to do.

While the farm doesn't stand out through grandness of barn or herd size, in classification or pedigree ratings, or some other significant departure from normal one-family dairying operations, it is unique.

Tom Krall's structural innovations — and there are several of significance — seem designed to fit into the overall scheme and dimension of the farm layout.

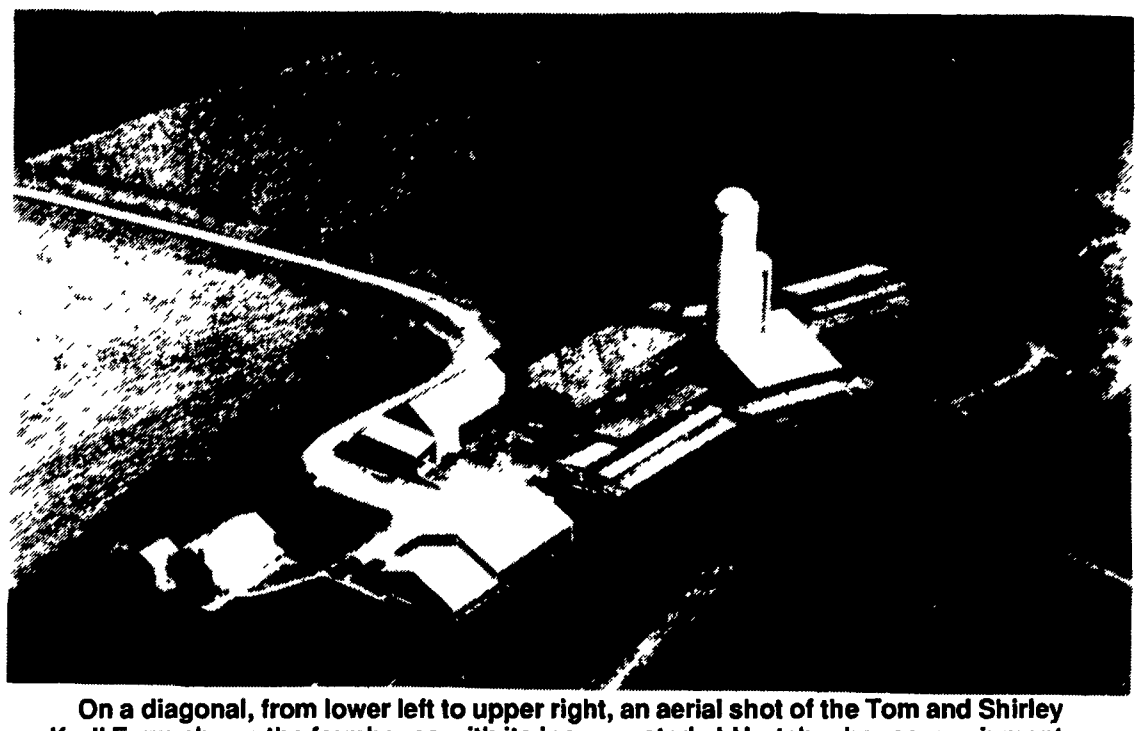
Instead of using the commercially available, white sidewall tarps for his freestall barn, he figured that the tarps used by commercial haulers could have higher strength and durability.

After figuring out what he would need, he priced them and an Elizabethtown tarp manufacturer custom made them for his barns.

His black tarp walls on the freestall barn seem attractive and normal, as well as functional, perhaps because the designs are simple, obviously well-made and appear sturdy visually and in use.

In 1993, a custom-made dump waterer was added in the freestall barn. The dump waterer is connected to a freeze-proof waterer that was installed several years prior. The effect of hooking the custom dump waterer to the freeze-proof one, is that he now can water more cows without worry of freezing, and by having the waterer dump, ensures that the cows get clean, fresh water

(Turn to Page A38)



On a diagonal, from lower left to upper right, an aerial shot of the Tom and Shirley Krall Farm shows the farmhouse with its incorporated old butcher house; equipment and workshop buildings; the old bank barn (with an old silo still evident) with a milking parlor installed on the ground floor; calf and heifer raising facility across the lane; a free-stall facility for the milking herd next to the old barn; feed bunks, silos and ration mixing station; manure storage lagoon and another heifer facility. From the photo, the design is practical — after mixing feed, it can be taken quickly to bunks for heifers and cows (all feeding is done in one hour per day), the cows go out to pasture between the milking herd's bunk and the heifer bunk, the manure can be taken to the lagoon easily, and access to the manure pit to the farm lane allows little difficulty in taking it out to spread on fields.

Joel Krall shovels feed back into the bunker, while a group tours the family farm.

Tom Krall reviews diary notes he makes on calendars to document each day's major highlights. He has kept such a diary for years.

Shirley Krall holds daughter Louise while attempting to explain some of the uses of equipment to a group from Spain. She said later that some of the guests were astounded that the entire family worked on the dairy farm, especially the children.

Though not familiar with Spanish, Tom Krall attempts to explain some of the feed components used in his dairy herd's totally mixed rations to members of a group of animal specialists from Spain.

PERMIT® FIGHTS TOUGH WEEDS, TOOTH AND NAIL.

Safe on corn.

Rip through broadleaves, with the unmatched performance of Permit herbicide. You can use it in corn or grain sorghum to control a broad spectrum of tough weeds, including: velvetleaf, cocklebur, pigweed (even triazine-resistant varieties), common ragweed and sunflower.

Stronger, longer

Its unique chemistry and two-fold action allows Permit to move into both the leaves and roots of labeled species, attacking weeds immediately. Then, its residual soil activity keeps Permit working all season long.

All-ways crop safe

Because Permit combines exceptional control with crop safety, you can tackle large or small weeds in large or small corn. It extends your application window from spike all the way through canopy closure.

Yet, Permit does not carry over from one season to the next. Unlike atrazine or Exceed, Permit degrades in both low and high pH soils. It also does not pose volatility problems, eliminating worries of damage to adjacent crops from vapor drift.

Call 1-800-CORN-SAFE

Discover how Permit can help you bear down on tough weeds, without the fear of corn injury. For more information, call 1-800-CORN-SAFE (1-800-267-6723).

From left front, Agriculture Secretary Charles C. Brosius, Acting Secretary of Health Daniel Hoffmann, and Pa. Poultry Federation Chairman Bill Trace, sign the agreement to ensure a partnership of working together for the quality and safety of eggs produced in Pennsylvania. Lending support to the program are, back row from left, Bob Bucher, representative for poultry producers; Sen. Noah Wenger, Paul Sauder of Sauder's Quality Eggs, and Al Wenger of Wenger Feeds in Rheems.

After the signing of the agreement and unveiling of the logo, government officials and poultry industry representatives celebrated by eating omelets flipped by Ken Fisher, sales manager for Sauder's Quality Eggs.

part of the country where eggs are produced."

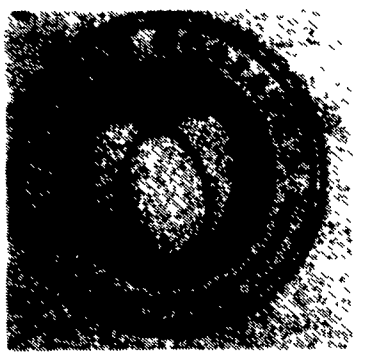
Although the poultry industry, the Dept. of Health, and the Dept. of Ag are doing everything to ensure egg safety, which has resulted in significant reduction of salmonella in layer flocks, few consumers are aware of the efforts.

Paul Sauder of Sauder's Quality Eggs said a logo was designed so that consumers may rest assured that every conceivable precaution has been followed to produce only the safest eggs.

The logo with the words "tested quality produced under the highest quality under supervision of the Dept. of Ag" will appear on egg cartons that follow PEQAP standards.

Agriculture Secretary Charles Brosius, Acting Secretary of Health Daniel Hoffmann, and Pennsylvania Federation Chairman Bill Trace signed the agreement to assure a commitment that the producer implements management and monitoring practices

At the signing, Sec. of Agriculture Charles C. Brosius, who is also a farmer, praised the Dept. of Health, Dept. of Agriculture, and the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation for working together. He said, "An important part of the agreement is the commitment to PEQAP, one of the foremost programs of its kind in the nation."



Poultry producers and the state agriculture and health departments unveiled this logo that will be used on egg cartons and crates to show that the highest standards have been followed in egg production and processing.

Sen. Wenger, who is no stranger to agriculture since he himself is a poultry producer, said that seeing the results of industry and government departments working together has been rewarding. "I'm especially pleased to see it happened in my senatorial district," he said.

"The guarantee that eggs are absolutely safe to eat is ultimately up to the end user to use in a conciencious manner," said Trace, who warned that eating establishments must keep eggs refrigerated until ready to use.

Is China Ready For Dairy?

GEORGE F. W. HAENLEIN
Cooperative Extension
Dairy Specialist
University of Delaware

NEWARK, Del. — A major debate continues in Washington, D.C., about our national policy toward China.

I have just returned from China, where I was invited to speak at the International Conference on Sustainable Agriculture in Beijing and Xian. I thought it might interest you to hear about my experience there, and to learn more about the China of today and what it could mean to the U.S. dairy farmer.

My first impression upon landing at the airport and then on the turnpike into the city was the many signs and billboards — all in English, including Coca Cola, Kentucky Fried Chicken, IBM, Siemens and Audi.

The welcome banners are in English as well, and the street names are posted in both Chinese and English.

China's policy seems to be tourist- and foreigner-friendly. Registration in the hotels is done in English, waitresses in restaurants wear nametags bearing English names, and the taxi drivers speak and understand some English.

Schools required English as a second language early in the curriculum; tour guides are English majors in college. People on the street dress in Western-style clothes, neckties and skirts, but we saw no hippie-type torn jeans.

Beijing is home to 12 million people and Xian has a population of 6 million, but there were very few beggars or street people. Instead, the progressing privatization in China has created numerous street vendors, farmers markets and small shops, where tourists can even buy the latest Kodak film or batteries for their cameras.

Farmers seem to make up the perimeter population of the cities; they live in small brick row houses with tile roofs. The typical small farm just outside a city has a barnyard with chickens, a pig, a dairy goat or two, a Holstein or native cow or two, a horse maybe, a small tractor (mostly single-axle), a wagon, bicycles, cornstalks and straw. Out in the country, farmers live in villages and bicycle to their fields for work.

The soil around Beijing has a lot of gravel in it. It's dry in that region, and we saw a lot of irrigation from lateral lines. Fields looked dark green, dense and healthy. The crops we saw most often were wheat — with impressive long heads — or Canola.

Corn is a second crop, planted after the wheat and canola are harvested. In smaller vegetable fields, farmers were growing cabbage, broccoli, onions, radishes, lettuce, tomatoes, pole beans, peas and carrots.

Strawberries were harvested and sold, often directly along highways. The berries were neatly sorted and offered in baskets. Watermelons grown in plastic greenhouses were also popular.

Orchards of peach, pear, apple and pomegrante trees (mostly dwarf) were commonplace.

Every corner of a field is planted to the edge, and weeds and idle fields are conspcuously absent. Farmers walked through the fields to spray fungicides and pull weeds.

We saw very little agricultural farm machinery, except on the few larger farms. Even in the dry river valley, narrow fields were planted between rows of stones, which have been cleared from river beds.

Farmers markets are very popular for direct sales, while supermarkets seem to be few and slow in coming. We looked for milk, cheese and dairy stores.

What we saw was a cow tied to a tree on the street for direct "fresh" sale of milk; we also saw Saanen dairy goats with good dairy type and nice udders, tied as the cow was, also ready and waiting to offer fresh milk for sale.

Most people in China drink tea without milk. Restaurants do not offer milk as a beverage, and cheese on the menu is a rarity. When restaurants do have cheese, it's only the imported, processed Kraft-type, and noodles on the menu are eaten without Parmesan cheese! Some people drink yogurt as their only dairy food.

In the hotels, condensed milk is available for coffee, but not cream, and butter was contained in small packages and imported from New Zealand, and occasionally

Lower The Boom On Broadleaf Weeds

If you've got broadleaf weeds competing with your corn crop, it's time to lower the boom with Beacon® postemergent herbicide.

Beacon controls over 30 common and tough broadleaf weeds. Weeds like cocklebur, nightshade, pigweed, sunflower, smartweed and ragweed don't stand a chance to Beacon. You even have the freedom to apply Beacon at the optimum weed height of those target weeds. Beacon can be applied on 4- to 20-inch corn. And the control doesn't stop there. Keep those second and third flushes of weeds out of your corn field with up to 3 weeks of residual control. You can be reassured knowing that while Beacon is tough on broadleafs, it's gentle on your corn. Beacon has proven safe on more than 99% of corn hybrids.

So don't let broadleaf worries get you down Instead, lower the boom and let Beacon take them down.

A WHOLE DIFFERENT ANIMAL.™

MMI CEO Requests Fed Help

STRONGSVILLE, Ohio — Milk Marketing, Inc. (MMI), the nation's third largest dairy cooperative, is calling on U.S. Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman to take several steps to alleviate a critical situation facing many dairy farmers.

"The harsh winter followed by a difficult spring," combined with "skyrocketing feed costs" and radically low beef (cull cow) prices," are causing extreme stress on dairy farmers, MMI Executive Vice President and CEO Donald H. Schriver wrote to Glickman.

That combination, he said, spells disaster. To put it in perspective, he noted, "during normal periods, feed concentrate represents about one-third of total dairy cash costs; cull cow prices comprise another 10 percent."

MMI asked Glickman to:

•Make as many advance purchases as possible for the remainder of this year's and next year's school lunch program. Advancing the fulfillment of all food assistance programs also needs to be considered.

•Fully implement the 1996 farm bill provisions on the Dairy Export Incentive Program (DEIP).

•Authorize Food for Progress Program purchases of dairy products as part of the program's humanitarian aid and market development efforts.

•Release existing Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) stocks of feed grains to alleviate as much of the feed shortage as possible.

"Dairy producers do not make these requests easily," Schriver wrote.

"However, the situation has reached a crisis level in many areas."

The dairy leader praised Glickman for some actions taken so far, including beginning to accelerate beef purchases for school programs and making additional money available for emergency loans to help farmers overcome natural disasters affecting wide areas of the country.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture reported May 24 that 2,260 of the nation's 3,218 counties had been designated as disaster areas, with requests for another 317 counties being considered.

Since last summer, most states have suffered drought, flooding, unseasonal freezing or other weather disasters.

MMI is the region's largest dairy producer-owned cooperative and the 12th largest U.S. dairy food company. Headquartered in Strongsville, Ohio, MMI has a regional office in Syracuse, NY and manufacturing facilities in Indiana, New York, Ohio, and Pennsylvania. MMI's 9,000 dairy farm families produce milk in Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, New York, West Virginia, Massachusetts, Vermont and Delaware.

DTC CEO Reports Advising Ag Secretary On Trade Issue

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Members of the Dairy Trade Coalition (DTC), along with representatives from the American Farm Bureau Federation, the National Barley Growers Association, the National Association of Wheat Growers, Women Involved in Farm Economics, the Farmers Union Milk Marketing Cooperative (FUMMC), and the National Milk Producers Federation, last week met with U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Dan Glickman to discuss major concerns about State Trading Enterprises (STEs) or export monopolies such as the New Zealand Dairy Board (NZDB) and the Canadian Wheat Board.

Mario Castillo, DTC executive director said, "Secretary Glickman clearly recognizes that STEs such as the NZDB receive preferential treatment from their governments such as subsidies, tax breaks, statutory authority to act as a monopoly, or other measures which private sector competitors do not enjoy. Secretary Glickman understands that STEs are able to unfairly control price and quantity of product into any targeted market to the detriment of their non-STE competitors. He is to be commended for his willingness to seek guidance from the leadership of American agriculture on how to mitigate the unfair trade practices of STEs."

David Livingston, secretary treasurer of FUMMC, a founding member of the DTC, said, "We are pleased to recommend to the Secretary innovative proposals which will address the 'greed before need' philosophy of the NZDB. We emphasized that the U.S. Government not grant any additional access into the U.S. for any commodity which is sold into the U.S. through monopolistic STEs such as the NZBD and withdraw, on their pre-GATT tonnage, their ability to nominate a preferred importer.

Castillo noted, "The Secretary should make it a top priority of the USDA to work closely with the European Union to eliminate STEs during the upcoming Singapore meeting of the World Trade Organization (WTO), at which the direction of future trade talks will be decided. Likewise, the Secretary should consult with the private sector about formulating specific remedies which producers of milk and other commodities need to mitigate or eliminate the unfair trading practices of STEs and the NZDB."

Castillo added that the DTC looks forward to further working with USDA in developing new cheese import regulations to help address the STE issue. "These and other reforms are essential to help our domestic producers to survive the difficult trade liberalization process and successfully enter and compete in global dairy markets," Castillo said.

Livingston said, I am heartened that the Secretary asked us, in conjunction with our agricultural colleagues, to put together a list of recommended actions for the USDA to consider during upcoming World Trade Organization meetings.

We'll move forward together with our agricultural colleagues in wheat, barley, sugar and other key commodities in working for meaningful reform of the STE issue," Castillo concluded.

The best post-emerge burcucumber control in corn...

Exceed®

Post Broadleaf Control In Corn

...more Time.

...additional grass and broadleaf weeds. Wipe out those hard-to-control weeds like cocklebur, pigweed, velvetleaf, giant ragweed, common ragweed, kochia, lambsquarters, tall waterhemp and many more. And reduce the competition from persistent grasses such as shattercane, seedling johnsongrass and quackgrass.

Here are some ways that Exceed gives you more:

- Provides excellent crop safety.
- Reduces drift worries with its low volatility.
- Wider window of application—4- to 48-inch corn—for more opportunities to apply within the optimum weed height range.
- Provides up to a month of residual weed control.
- Controls triazine resistant weeds.
- One product, one low rate.

Strawberry Roundup Seeds Investments For Future Entrepreneurs

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — By looking at the perfectly uniform strawberries Jeffrey Erb picked at 5 a.m. on Wednesday morning, no one would suspect that the berries had endured recent frost, cold, pelting rain, and hail.

The surprised 11-year-old pocketed $210 for producing the best looking berries in time for the annual 4-H Strawberry Festival sponsored by the Lancaster Rotary.

High bidder for the prize berries was S.G. "Bud" Fletcher, president of Lancaster Electric Incorporated.

A staunch supporter of encouraging young enterpreneurs to develop good business sense, Fletcher had bid at the annual roundup in previous years but this was the first time he took home the grand champion berries.

Fletcher planned to share the two-quarts of berries with his nine grandchildren. "Plain strawberries and cream — you can't get any better than that," Fletcher said.

Jeffrey's 14-year-old sister Diana won the reserve placing and $100 from Calvin High , senior vice president of High Industries.

"My wife loves them," High said of his decision to take home berries instead of flowers for his wife. He hoped to eat the berries in strawberry shortcake.

Diana had been the grand champion winner two years in a row and was happy that her brother topped her this year.

The brother and sister duo said that they each have 100 Earli-glo plants, which they keep separately. They are the children of James and Romaine Erb of Neffsville.

Twenty 4-H'ers participated in this year's Strawberry Roundup. Dr. Zoann Parker, 4-H extension agent, said that the roundup date is set six weeks in advance. The unusually cool spring produced some anxiety in 4-H'ers who feared the strawberries would not be ripe in time for competition. In spite of the weather, Parker said, "their projects tuned out to be fairly successful."

To encourage good business practices, participants must keep detailed records and write a story about care-taking efforts. Because berries are not harvested the first year the strawberries are planted, the Rotary Club encourages 4-H'ers efforts by donating $150 in prize money for the record books.

After the champion and reserve berries were sold, auctioneer Harold Keller continued the bidding with berries bringing between $30 and $55 for 2-quarts.

Berries raised by siblings Jeffrey and Diana Erb won the grand and reserve champion ribbons respectively at the Lancaster Rotary Club Strawberry Roundup held on Wednesday. S.G. "Bud" Fletcher, right, paid $210 for Jeff's champion berries while Calvin High paid $100 for Diana's berries. Auctioneer Harold Keller stands in the center.

Ag Secretary Warns Of Rabies Danger

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Agriculture Secretary Charles C. Brosius warned Pennsylvanians about the need to immunize their pets for rabies.

"As the weather gets warmer, Pennsylvanians and their pets will be spending more time outdoors, increasing the danger of rabies exposure," Brosius said. "It is imperative that people get their pets immunized."

Last year, 418 positive cases of rabies were reported across the commonwealth.

Pennsylvania law requires all dogs and household cats over three months of age to be vaccinated by a licensed veterinarian. Owners must also ensure that their pet is vaccinated as needed throughout its life. Those who do not comply not only run the increased risk of rabies exposure, but could be assessed a $300 fine for each day they are in violation of the law.

"Rabies is s serious disease," said Brosius. "By simply getting our pets vaccinated, we can greatly reduce the chances of exposure to this deadly disease."

He cautioned against contact with wild or domesticated animals that are exhibiting unusual or aggressive behavior.

Rabies is a viral disease primarily contracted from the saliva of an infected animal. People bitten by an animal should immediately wash the wound with soap and water.

If an individual believes either they or their pet have come into contact with a rabid animal, they should seek the advice of a physician or veterinarian immediately. Treatment before symptoms develop is usually very successful; however, once the disease develops, it is invariably fatal.

It is also imperative that all dogs be licensed as mandated by law. If a dog has been exposed or has bitten someone, vital information about rabies vaccinations can be traced through the number on their tags. Licenses can be obtained through the county treasurer's office.

National FFA

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — "National FFA Online," located at http://www.ffa.org, provides members, advisers, and other Internet users information about programs and services offered through the National FFA Organization, the agricultural education organization for students.

"The Internet allows us to provide immediate information and resources to our members and advisers, and to other people interested in agricultural education and youth organizations," said Bill Stagg, FFA director of communications. "We estimate that about 75 percent of FFA chapters have Internet access, with more going online daily. Many FFA advisers are using the Internet in their classrooms. Our site augments their lessons by providing agricultural education and FFA materials in a format that intrigues and engages students."

National FFA Online features FFA information, a biweekly column by the national FFA officers, online versions of FFA publications, listings of international travel opportunities, links to FFA chapter and state homepages and other agricultural Internet sites, a guest book for visitors, e-mail links to FFA staff, media information, and form and applications to print out, complete and submit. Eventually, advisers will be able to complete and submit applications online.

THINK SAFETY

'NEW' THINKING IN STRAWBERRY PRODUCTION

A "new" method of strawberry production is beginning to draw interest here in Lancaster County.

This new system is referred to as the annual planting system, the hill system, and the plasticulture system.

Based on growing practices developed in California, this system was transplanted to Florida and then moved up the East Coast. It is in use in North Carolina and Virginia and most recently growers in New Jersey and even a few in Pennsylvania have planted strawberries using the plasticulture system.

There are several reasons for grower interest in this system, but the main one is profits. Potential yields with plasticulture are 18,000+ pounds/acre compared to about 10,000 pounds/acre with the conventional matted row method of strawberry production.

I have been collecting information on this new system and I was also able to travel to New Jersey last week to visit the test plots of Joe Fiola, small fruit extension specialist with Rutgers University. Joe has been conducting research on this cultural system and has also done some variety studies.

Based on information I've gathered, I believe the plasticulture system has the potential to increase grower yields (and perhaps profits) for Lancaster County strawberry growers. However, we still need to see if the plasticulture system can truly work in this area since there are many differences between this system and conventional production practices.

In addition, plasticulture production of strawberries will require a greater degree of management ability and the initial investment is greater than for matted row production (hence the potential for greater financial loss). I urge growers interested in this system to proceed slowly.

The system is called the annual system because plants are set in the field in the latter part of summer and fruit is harvested the following spring. In many areas these plants are then burned down with herbicides and the field is either planted to another crop or replanted into strawberries later in the season.

The system uses a raised bed with a trickle irrigation system for water and fertigation. The bed is covered with plastic and the strawberry plants are set in staggered double rows on a 12-inch spacing. This results in just over 17,000 plants/acre. The strawberry plants used are predominantly "plugs" or rooted runner tips. These plants cost about $130 per 1,000.

As you can see, this is an expensive system to establish.

In California and the other areas that have adapted the plasticulture system, the main strawberry variety used is Chandler. This variety has a reputation for producing high yields of large berries.

I have heard that some people complain that Chandler is not a good eating berry but, based on my experience last week in New Jersey, I would dispute those claims. Although it wasn't as sweet as Earliglow or Raritan, Chandler was still among the better tasting berries.

According to Joe Fiola, the only eastern variety that has yielded as heavily as Chandler in his plasticulture trials is Allstar. The other eastern varieties just haven't kept pace with these two varieties.

Allstar even had improved color with the plasticulture system when I saw it recently. It was a darker red and not the normal orangish-red color that some people dislike. I was also impressed with the fruit size and flavor of Northeaster (a new introduction), although the yields in previous years have been lower than Chandler and Allstar.

There are also four cultivars from the strawberry breeding program in New Jersey that have performed well in the plasticulture system. Unfortunately, I wasn't able to see or taste any fruit from these selections but I'll pass on any additional information as it becomes available.

Another advantage of the plasticulture system is early season production. This is a result of the soil warming earlier in the year because of the black plastic and raised beds. The use of floating row covers is also responsible for some of this earliness. The row covers are put on in the fall to extend the growing season and left on all winter and into the spring to promote early growth.

This early plant development and flowering makes these strawberry plants particularly susceptible to spring frosts and freezes. An overhead irrigation system is an absolute necessity for plasticulture strawberry production.

Other advantages of this system include reduced disease occurrence on the berries and ease of harvest. The berries are also cleaner since there is little soil to be splashed on them by rain. The use of trickle irrigation also allows for uniform and efficient water application during fruit development.

I see potential advantages to Lancaster County strawberry growers with the use of the plasticulture system if we can make it work here. However, this system is not as forgiving as matted rows and will require additional management skills in order for the high potential yields to be obtained.

I encourage growers to research this system and even to try some limited plantings in order to gain experience. This will be the best way to have increased yields (and not losses) from your strawberry fields.

constantly.

In 1994 corn in the corn silage was too hard and passing through the herd undigested. A simple device installed on the silo unloader helped to crack most of the corn kernels, allowing the rumen bacteria to utilize the corn's carbohydrates more effectively.

The device was made and welded into place by Tom, who also discovered that increasing fan speed made the system work well.

Another aspect of the farm's uniqueness is a mile of permanent fencing made by Krall. He used 2½ -inch pipe purchased inexpensively from Cleaver Brooks Inc.-Lebanon Plant (a maker of industrial boilers) before it closed operations.

With help, Tom erected the fence with 8-foot wooden posts, sunk 4-feet deep, spaced 8 feet apart.

The sturdiness of the fence gives the farm a little more of a "park" finish. Shirley said that some of the youth from innercities who have visited the farm have referred to the farm as a park.

In addition to the fence's attractive appearance, Tom said that since it was installed seven years ago, he has not had any cattle break out, or any problems with keeping the herd separated.

On the approach to the farm, a fenced-in pastured slope going up to the back of the cow and heifer barns contains a llama, some pygmy goats, and a sheep.

Landscaping also enhances the aesthetics of the farm — flower and ornamentals occupy a short, rock-walled bed on the slope between the farm lane and the old bank barn.

The lower bank barn is used for a holding area for the 38-year-old parlor, which has been remodeled and functions well. And the bank barn also holds four maternity pens.

The children have a play area behind the house. The lawn is also landscaped and well-kept.

A feeling of satisfaction comes from being in a beautiful place, especially when most of life's events happen there. But the place is regularly made open to the public — touring groups from other counties, states, or nations, as well as groups from elementary schools.

They said they are grateful for the opportunities they have and sharing knowledge is part of benefiting from it. Also, they learn from it.

The Kralls focus is upon selling milk, and strive to get a good return on their farm investments.

They don't sell bulls to artificial insemination studs, or market breeding stock or embryos.

Since they can't do much more to affect the price of milk than open their farm to the public for education, voice their opinions on public policy, and support milk promotions through the mandatory assessment, they concentrate on reducing their operating costs and making good milk.

Tom has also come up with a feeding innovation, that may result in a patent.

Using a device he invented, Tom can separate his silage into two groups — one group high in grains and energy, the other providing good feed for heifers.

The theory of using it is to be able to chop more acres of corn in September for silage and then double crop that acreage with rye, or barley, instead of letting the corn stay in the field and shelling it.

The test value of the finer particulate is comparable to a rough earn corn feed called, "snaplage." Snaplage includes ear corn and some husk, but not stalk.

According to Tom, the reasoning behind his invention was this:

"Corn silage is a mixture of shelled corn and stalk or grass.

"Our theory is to separate the two after it has been chopped, rolled, applied with anhydrous ammonia, and fermented, thus maximizing quality and minimizing losses of corn plant nutrients.

"This would possibly allow us to chop more acres of corn and to plant more double crop acres; produce a better, less expensive heifer feed; produce more milk from the more soluable starch from the separated material; and have more efficient use of equipment."

On top of this, Krall said there are other considerations — parameters of an acceptable farm-practical concept.

He said that if a separator is developed and installed it must make a consistent feed, be simple to operate, require as little investment as possible, and must not slow up feeding.

He said that separating has allowed him to cut down on shell corn or barley use by 20 to 25 percent.

However, last year he went against tradition, and with the approval of nutritionist-consultant Timothy Kissling, he fed barley as his main grain source for 11 months.

Currently, he feeds five pounds of the silage fines, on a dry matter basis, per cow, per day.

The Krall's herd currently averages 25,003 pounds of milk, 847 pounds of fat and 826 pounds of protein.

As far as experimenting, Krall doesn't jump into a project without thinking it through. And then it must meet a test of what it can or cannot do, before it can be claimed a success.

Some people don't do this, instead taking only the basics of a concept and concluding, "It must work!"

While success can result from such raw adventurism, it doesn't normally. Mainly because such off-the-cuff projects don't have built-in reduced risk or forethought in determining what areas are critical, and where and what possible minor adjustments can be made to make the project work to its full potential.

The mental and drawing board work Krall does, along with assessing materials and tools and then envisioning the actual project operation, allows him to "see" many potential problems that become otherwise obvious once work is underway.

"It's good to have brakes and a throttle," he said of how he and Shirley approach most and all major farm projects. "I not only have to convince myself, but Shirley too."

In the end, with a project that has been well thought out, but still doesn't achieve the desired goal, Krall said, "Even if it doesn't work, you learn through it."

Tom said he didn't really do well in school, and it was a fifth-grade teacher at the South Lebanon Elementary School who brought out his self-confidence to think for himself. He credited her with helping bring out his creative abilities at the same time. "She taught me there is more than one way to look at things," he said.

Tom chairs the research committee of his Young Farmers chapter. Most projects he's involved with are done on the farm.

"In general, most farmers are innovative. What works on one (farm) doesn't necessarily work on another," he said.

"You have a problem, think about it until you figure it out."

Krall said that he couldn't see farming any other way.

"The projects help keep our operation fresh, and maybe even give us a slight edge," Tom said. "But there's no doubt about it, it's a day-to-day commitment by the family team, including the use of consultants, that makes a difference."

Inside his 38-year-old milking parlor, Tom Krall walks past his breeding cycle board while members of a group of animal specialists from Spain peer in through the windows.

Just Another Day On The Farm

SHIRLEY KRALL

REXMONT (Lebanon Co.) — Just another day on the farm.

Those words are never spoken on most farm homesteads. It's never just another day.

There is always a new adventure — a new calf, a new field to plow, a new breakdown, a new challenge.

When you have children, there is even more truth to that statement.

Greetings from the Krall Farm.

We milk 90 cows in a milking parlor. We have that many replacement heifers, and a Llama, pygmy goats, one sheep, two dogs and numerous cats add a little flavor on the farm.

It puts me in awe to see the percentage of unemployment in our country.

A farmer has so many job descriptions, it would surprise himself to write them all down. Tom is the father, husband and head of the home. He is also the tractor driver, mixes feed for the animals, is a welder, milker, repairman, and our visionary in the family.

I am the wife, mother, second in command, and also milk, breed cows, feed calves, do the book work, and keep everything presentable.

Joel and Travis are 13- and 12-years-old and have come up the ranks very nicely.

Joel has mastered the feed cart and now can do the feeding. He also scrapes manure after the cows go to milk. He is learning to drive tractor and make practical decisions.

Travis too is learning how to operate the skid loader and does a wonderful job mowing the lawn and feeding heifers.

Joel and Travis also do a fantastic job filling in as babysitter for their two younger siblings; Marlin, 3, and Louise, 2.

June is dairy month and we would like to salute the farm families who are making milk.

There is some dismal outlook being written about the dairy industry, but we would like to focus on the positive.

Make no mistake, there are days that are not rosey. Extra breakdowns, a dead calf, husband and wife do not share the same outlook some days, but there are three things that keep me going:

• God is in charge. No matter what is happening, there is a reason for it, and we hope we will be better people after the situation.

• There will always be a need for milk. I can not see anywhere down the road, a society that does not need milk for cereal or babies, and that doesn't need milk for cheeses.

• Our farm children are getting an education that will never be taught anywhere else. They have acquired the foundation needed to succeed in any occupation. They know honesty, integrity, hard work, working as a team, and decision making. They know prosperity, and most importantly, how to pinch a penny.

It is no wonder that people look at farm families and say it must be wonderful to raise your children on the farm.

I proudly nod, with a tear in my eye, in knowing that there are times I take this wonderful gift for granted.

Dairy farmers, you are special.

Ag Progress Dates Announced

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Planting crops by the no-till method has become an accepted soil conservation practice. But for commercial tomato growers, no-till is still a relatively new technique.

Tomato growers can compare no-till with other planting and growing methods by attending Penn State's Ag Progress Days, August 13-15.

A new tomato planting and yield demonstration heads the list of production-related attractions at this year's event, said Ag Progress Days manager Robert Oberheim.

"Growers will be able to see and evaluate a tomato crop planted in late May," Oberheim said. "We'll have no-till and conventional plots, with and without trickle irrigation, as well as plots where the tomatoes were planted through black plastic mulch and irrigated by the trickle method. This will enable growers to compare yields from five different sets of growing conditions."

A no-till planter will also be demonstrated each day of the event. Visitors will see the machine in action planting tomatoes and a cole crop such as cabbage or cauliflower.

A new spring wheat combine harvesting demonstration also is planned. Oberheim said other popular field demonstrations will be back, including hay mowing, baling, round bale handling, and composting.

Other exhibits, tours, and workshops will highlight the latest research and information on crops and soils, dairy and livestock production, integrated pest management, conservation practices, and woodlot management. More than 300 commercial and noncommercial exhibitors will be on hand to display the newest goods and services.

In addition, a variety of family-oriented attractions are planned, including storytelling, horse exhibitions, an insect zoo, live animal displays, antique and craft exhibits and SciQ, a TV-style game show.

Penn State's Ag Progress Days features more than 500 acres of educational and commercial exhibits, tours and machinery demonstrations. It is held at the Russell E. Larson Agricultural Research Center at Rocksprings, nine miles southwest of State College on Route 45. Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday, with extended hours of 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Wednesday. Admission and parking are free.

For more information, call (800) PSU-1010 toll-free from July 15 to August 15.

Promote Produce With Southern Md. Harvest Box

CHARLOTTE HALL, Md. — The promotion campaign for southern Maryland agriculture, spearheaded by the Tri-County Council for Southern Maryland, is about to expand.

The "Southern Maryland Harvest" logo began with posters and stickers to help identify and promote southern Maryland agricultural products. Following the lead of simialr initiatives, such as Jersey Fresh and Virginia's Finest, the concept focuses on highlighting locally grown products and linking them to a perception of higher quality and fresher taste.

An alliance has been formed between the council and Southern Maryland Regional Farmers Market (SMRFM) to expand the logo's use and its reach. They are now in final negotiations with their box supplier to print boxes with the "Southern Maryland Harvest" logo on them.

The council and the cooperative extension service will host a Produce Grading and Packing Workshop aimed at teaching interested growers the proper techniques for packing and grading different commodities. This workshop will be held on June 12, at 7 p.m. at the Charlotte Hall Regional Library in Charlotte Hall, Md.

Southern Maryland growers interested in using the "Southern Maryland Harvest" boxes should be able to demonstrate their ability to properly grade and pack their fruits and vegetables. This aspect is a critical component in the overall success of the logo and its acceptance by buyers and consumers. It is hoped that over time the logo will gain a reputation for representing the highest quality locally grown products and as a result it will build a type of brand loyalty commitment among its customers.

It is anticipated that the "Southern Maryland Harvest" box prices will be comparable to the regular stock boxes. In addition to tomato boxes, the logo will be available on ½ bushel, 1 bushel, and 1 1/9 bushel boxes. The boxes will be available only through SMRFM. Southern Maryland growers interested in purchasing "Southern Maryland Harvest" boxes should contact Dave Rada, SMRFM Market Master at (301) 372-1066 or 1-800-533-Farm or Candy Walter, Tri-County Council agricultural specialist at (301) 884-2144 or 870-2520.

Is China Ready

ice cream.

By comparison, in India, we found people boil milk, which they add in large doses to their tea, and various fresh cheeses and cheese made into pastry are very popular dishes in that country.

The latest USDA statistics reveal that while milk production for U.S. cows is 16,128 pounds annually, the average cow in China gives only 3,300 pounds. And the per capita consumption of milk in the United States is 590 pounds as compared to China, where yearly consumption of milk (both cow and goat) per person is only 9 pounds.

It's puzzling how the Chinese get their daily requirements of 800 milligrams calcium.

In China, we asked to see a dairy farm, but apparently there were none in the vicinity.

Even in the nearby wild mountains, the livestock is limited — a pig, a few chicken, some pheasants, but the one animal that thrives there in large numbers is the cashmere goat, which is suited to the rugged mountainous terrain. These goats also bring farmers a good income, but they have no milk to offer beyond nursing their kids.

We visited the Great Wall built along the top of steep mountains. It is a major source of tourist income; both foreigners and natives come by the busload to see it.

Also, there are many historic sites — ancient tombs of former emperors, 2,000 years old; neolithic archeological village sites, more than 6,000 years old — that attract tourists and support the many enterpreneurial vendors. Shops are full of beautiful silk, cashmere and jade as well as skillfully made handicrafts, carvings, embroidery and rugs that entice the buyer.

My visit to China was enlightening and fun, if one can discount the long flight to get there.

China is anything but a backward or underdeveloped nation.

Our college colleagues there were well-educated and up-to-date. Their electronic support with computers is the latest in the industry. The people and hotels, in particular, seem to want to Westernize and Anglicize fast.

Streets, highways and turnpikes are wide and clean, and many are lined with rows and rows of poplars and cedars. Audis, Mercedes, Volvos, Volkswagens, Toyotas and Mazdas are everywhere, joining the thousands of bicycles already on the roads.

But a dairy industry still seems to be waiting to happen.

Does this mean that the world's leading dairy industries — the United States, New Zealand, Denmark and Israel — to name a few, have not yet reached China?

Is there a market for U.S. dairy exports, including milk and cheese products, semen, ova, breeding stock, and extensive experience and knowledge?

It seems to me that the 1.2 billion Chinese consumers offer a tremendous market opportunity for the U.S. dairy industry. At the very least, we'd be supplying a nation undernourished in calcium with the milk and milk products that help prevent osteoporosis.

Five States Represented At Conference

ALFRED, N.Y. — Recently, at the Farmedic National Training Center located at Alfred State College, 22 fire/rescue/EMS instructors from five different states completed the Farmedic Instructor Course.

The 24-hour course prepares instructors to teach the 16-hour Farmedic Provider Course to fire/rescue/EMS providers. Farmedic training enables emergency providers to be better prepared to respond to and manage a farm related emergency by training them the potential dangers involved with a farm rescue and the proper procedures to use in extrication and fire fighting on the homestead.

"There's a lot to learn about rescuing people in farm accidents," said Kevin Ross of Corfu, N.Y. Anthony Zaccaro Jr., representing the New York City Fire Department, stated that rescuing people in the Big Apple was similar to rescuing people on the farm.

"We deal with chemicals and large machinery accidents just like farmers."

The Farmedic course was offered at the National Farmedic Training Center at Alfred in conjunction with its 15th year anniversary.

Lamb And Wool Queen Promotes Fashion And Taste Sheep Provide

GAY BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

SOMERSET (Somerset County) — The 1996 Somerset County Lamb and Wool Queen, Jenna Svonavec, from Rockwood, during the next year, will carry the torch of the Somerset County Lady Shepherds that calls people to eat lamb and wear wool.

The crown was placed on her sleek, dark hair at a dinner held on May 21, at the Oakhurst Tea Room by the Somerset County Lady Shepherds and the Somerset County Wool Growers Asso. She succeeds Kami Hillegass of Fairhope.

A 16-year-old Rockwood Area High School junior and daughter of Joe and Rose Svonavec, Jenna's enviable sewing ability — hand and machine — has put her in fine company. Her Fashion Revue and Make It Yourself With Wool entries had a winning quality that proceeded to state level competition after doing so well at the district level.

To the Keystone International Livestock Exposition she went with the shorts and jacket she constructed during her fourth year in 4-H.

A reliable family member who picks up the slack in the busy six-member household, where she is the second eldest child, Jenna says she wishes she had enough time to construct other garments for her own wardrobe.

With school, however, and working parents — dad for Svonavec Inc. and Casselman Enterprises; mom at Family Health Care; sister, Danielle, 18, also employed — her days are filled. She doesn't mind helping with cooking, cleaning, ironing, and occasionally watching over her nine-year-old sister, Breigh, and Jordan, her five-year-old brother.

There's also girls' volleyball and basketball, school band, chorus and the super-computing club, vying for the honor student's time during school months.

She says she wonn't forget when she discovered through the instruction of her grandmother, Grace Svonavec, the joys of crocheting. It was an auspicious day, as well, for other reasons. "I'll always remember it was the day of the flood last February," she said, recalling how quickly the deep snow melted and caused flooding throughout the state.

"I like crocheting best because it goes faster than knitting," said Jenna, a former Leadline winner with the best handmade garment, and also an owner of the best lamb in the registered class.

Her most recent project — crocheting a wool scarf — is more challenging than the simple washcloths she did at the beginning and potentially, something she may enter to be judged at the county fair in August.

For nine years she's had 4-H projects in the High Ridge 4-H Club and belongs, as well, to the Laurel Hill 4-H Club.

Jenna's two lambs will be at the Sheep Sense Field Day at the county fairgrounds in Meyersdale, on June 22. They are kept at her grandparents' nearby farm, along with some breeding sheep her family owns.

"I like having them," she says. "They're fun. I've grown attached to them."

During the summer, Jenna's official activities will find her enticing folks to sampel lamb bologna at the Somerset County Day At the Farm held at Harold Shaulis's spread, on June 23; serving lamb sandwiches at Mountain Craft Days in early September, and again serving lamb sandwiches during the Cambria-Somerset Farm City Week at a Johnstown mall, later in the season.

There will be various parades, fairs, and lamb shows where the product she's promoting will benefit from her public visibility. She'll execute the duty of presenting ribbons, banners, and plaques to showmen.

Following are two super recipes from her mother's Five-Star Collection by Oxmoor House, Inc., that Jenna wants to share. They can be whipped up for an outdoor barbecue or served inside at a family supper.

GARLIC-GRILLED LAMB CHOPS

6 (1-inch-thick) lamb sirloin chops
½ cup soysauce
½ cup cider vinegar
3 cloves garlic, minced
3 tablespoons honey
2 teaspoons ground ginger
¼ teaspoon ground mustard
¼ teaspoon pepper

Trim excess fat from lamb chops; place in shallow dish. Combine soy sauce and remaining ingredients; stir well. Pour over lamb chops. Cover and marinate in refrigerator for at least 8 hours.

Remove chops from marinade, reserving marinade. Grill chops over medium coals 8 to 10 minutes on each side or to desired degree of doneness, basting frequently with marinade. Yield: 6 servings.

SPICY BROILED LAMB CHOPS

4 (1-inch-thick) lamb loin chops
¼ cup olive oil
1 teaspoon chili powder
1 teaspoon curry powder
1 clove garlic, crushed
¼ cup lemon juice
2 tablespoons grated onion
1 teaspoon ground ginger
¾ teaspoon salt

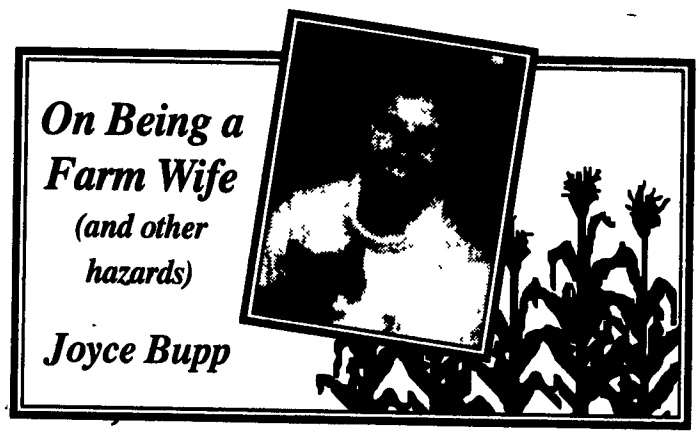
Place lamb chops in a shallow container. Combine lemon juice and remaining ingrediients, stirring well; pour over chops. Cover and marinate in refrigerator for two hours.

Remove lamb chops from marinade. Place chops on a rack in shallow roasting pan; broil six inches from heat for 20 minutes or to desired degree of doneness, turning once and basting often with marinade mixture. Yield: 4 servings.

Somerset County's 1996 Lamb and Wool Queen, Jenna Svonavec, 16, Rockwood, RD 2, points to the wool outfit that in Leadline competition was judged the best handmade garment. Opposite are the wool trousers that she made.

Wearing her latest creation — a sweatshirt with a lamb on front, Jenna Svonavec the 1996 Somerset County Lamb and Wool Queen, enjoys the porch swing at her family's rural home near Rockwood.

Whether they are on the hoof or stuffed, like the one here with the Somerset County 1996 Lamb and Wool Queen, Jenna Svonavec, lambs are cute and fun. Seated on the open staircase in the Svonavec home, she holds the chubby animal that usually decorates her bed.



Where's Bonnie?

Someone had wandered through the feed alley during the night. Some black-and-white, four-legged someone, with obviously careless personal habits. Thus we had the mess strewn about the feeding trough and adjoining walkway.

I grabbed a shovel and removed the worst of the residue of "used hay" before sweeping scattered feed back to where it belonged.

Where's Bonnie?

This tame pet — sometimes pest — had been dried off just a day or two before, since her go-round in the milking string for this lactation over. Due to calve in several weeks, she needed to be turned out with the other dry cows for a rest period before her impending labor and subsequent return to the milking herd.

But, Bonnie was born with her own agenda. So it was predictable that she would have a difference of opinion about being removed from the milking herd, where the most plentiful high-protein, energy-rich grain rations are handed out several times a day. The bovine diet program in the soon-to-be-mother group is a different one, focusing more on the fibrous forages and less on the high-caloric-content stuff which can cause calving problems due to overconditioning (read "fat").

But, like human diets, the high-fiber, low-calorie menu plan may turn up the nose of a bovine accustomed to the richer goodies. (No mystery there — I'll opt for chocolate any day over tofu and greens.)

Not one to suffer the indignity of being just another member of the dry lot, Bonnie plowed her way through a fence during the night and wandered around the dairy barn. At her leisure, she nibbled silage from here and then from there, licked up a scattering or two of soybean meal, then meandered to the feed cart to sample whatever was left in the corners.

Bonnie has always had her own unique personality, part lovable and part irritating as the dickens. She travels in one speed. Slow. When you want to move her anywhere. Or when she's standing on your foot. Given the opportunity to sneak through a fence or a gate, Bonnie can hold her own with a pack of greyhounds.

Even as a calf, she was tame and likeable, but not any extra trouble that I can recall. Once she had grown of age and moved into the bred-heifer herd, Bonnie's creativity began asserting itself.

Rather than open and close gates several times a day as we move trucks and equipment on the dirt road that passes through the heifer's pasture, we maintain cattle guards at the fences. These bridges are fashioned from metal rails laid over a pit in the ground, with spacing left between each rail. Cattle avoid them because of their hooves sliding between the rails, while vehicles travel right over them.

Except the cattle guards have never stopped Bonnie, who learned to jump them, tip-toe over them, sneak around them, fly across them, whatever worked. She spent the bulk of her "heiferhood" days roaming the fields and fencerows, visiting us regularly to play the game of "put me in and watch how fast I can sneak back out." And she usually won.

In recent weeks, as we switched the high and low production groups at milking time, Bonnie perfected her "rope trick." A rope we stretched across the alleyway stopped the other herd members at the end of the stalls, but not Bonnie. She simply lowered her head, picked up the rope, strolled under it and headed for the door.

At any gate, Bonnie will be the first in line, just to see what's up. When the rest are here, she'll be there. Or vice-versa. Bonnie may look like all the other black-and-white cows roaming around here, but she'll never be just another herd member. She'll be off stirring up trouble.

Where's Bonnie?

Somewhere off stirring up trouble. You can count on it.

Cash Prizes For Quilt Contest

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — Quilt entries are still being accepted for the Quilt Contest and Auction at the all new Kutztown Pennsylvania German Festival (June 29 through July 7, 1996) in Kutztown, which provides six cash prizes and ribbons for winning quilts in four design categories.

METHUSELAH OF THE INSECT WORLD TO EMERGE IN EASTERN PA

One of the world's most mysterious insects is about to invade the skies over eastern Pennsylvania, but an expert in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences says it's not a cause for serious alarm.

Residents of Berks, Bucks, Carbon, Chester, Dauphin, Delaware, Lancaster, Lebanon, Lehigh, Luzerne, Monroe, Montgomery, Northampton, Philadelphia, Pike, Potter, Schuylkill and Wyoming counties soon will see an emergence of periodical cicadas, commonly but mistakenly called 17-year locusts. "These insects are harmless to people, but they can damage shade trees, fruit trees or high-value ornamentals," says extension entomologist Gregory Hoover.

Damage caused by periodical cicadas occurs during egg-laying. Using the blades of a saw-like device on her abdomen, a female will cut several small pockets in the bark of a twig before depositing 400 to 600 eggs. This procecc can cause small limbs or seedlings to wilt and may provide an opening for disease. Adults live only a few weeks, but the twig injury they cause may be apparent for several years.

"Periodical cicadas are sometimes called nature's pruners," says Hoover. "Although adult cicadas are difficult to control, nursery owners or others with trees at risk may want to apply registered insecticides around the time mating starts — about 10 days after they first hear the males singing." If a pesticide is used, label instructions should be carefully read and followed.

Other protection methods include covering the crown of valuable trees with a fine mesh or delaying the planting of trees until the adult cicadas are gone.

The periodical cicada is native to North Ameriica, and exists nowhere else in the world. There are six species of periodical cicadas, three with a 17-year cycle and three with a 13-year cycle. Those found in Pennsylvania are 17-year periodical cicadas.

Adult periodical cicadas are about 1½ inches long with reddish eyes and orange wing veins. They are smaller than their cousins, the annual or dog-day cicadas usually seen and heard in the heat of late summer.

Periodicals cicada populations — called broods — are identified by Roman numerals. Each brood is classified by the year in which it emerges. The cicadas surfacing this year are members of Brood II, which last was seen in 1979. Brood II distribution includes 17 counties in the eastern third of the statre, as well as Potter County in the northcentral region.

Cicada nymphs spend 17 years from 2 to 24 inches underground, sucking nutrients from plant roots. In April, they burrow to within an inch of the soil surface, where they await an undetermined signal for emergence. If the ground is too damp, they often build small earthen turret over their holes to protect their escape routes from too much moisture.

When the time is right, usually in May or early June, the nymphs exit the soil through half-inch holes and climb a foot or more up trees or other objects. Within an hour, they shed their nymphal skins and become adults.

The adult cicadas are clumsy flyers, often colliding with objects in flight. Males begin their constant singing shortly after they emerge, but the females stay silent. When heard from a distance, the cicadas' chorus is a whirring monotone, sometimes described as eerie-sounding. On rare occasions when an adult eats, it sucks fluid from small twigs but does not feed on leaves. Ten days following emergence, mating takes place.

Adults live up to four weeks above ground. Six to seven weeks after the eggs are laid, the nymphs hatch and drop to the ground. There, they enter the soil, not to see the light of day for 17 years.

Family Living Focus

Marlene O. Nash
Multi-County
Nutrition/Health Agent

Welcome to the season for outdoor summer eating! After the long winter, we can enjoy picnics with refreshing, juicy fruits, crisp vegetables and grilled meats, fish and poultry. Eating outdoors can be great family fun, but spend some time checking your food safety habits to prevent food poisoning.

One of the most common type of foodborne illness is staphylococcus aureus (staph). About 50 percent of us are natural carriers of these bacteria in our throat and nasal passages. Staph also infects cut, boils, and pimples causing redness and swelling at the skin site. The bacteria can be transferred to the food from an infected wound or by coughing or sneezing onto the food. The bacteria then create toxins or poisons that have no detectable odor or taste. Cooked foods or prepared cold salads are most susceptible to this type of contamination. To prevent staph intoxication from occurring follow these safety rules:

•Keep foods at 40 degrees Farenheit or below or 140 degrees Farenheit or above. Keep products covered.

•Use clean and sanitized utensils, cutting boards and containers.

•Avoid hand contact with hair, face, nose, mouth while preparing and serving foods. Use tongs or forks to touch cooked foods.

•Wash hands after any act of contamination, including eating, smoking, or sneezing and coughing.

•Keep cuts and abrasions bandaged. It's safest to avoid handling food if you have any infection.

Another microorganism responsible for many of the mild cases of foodborne illness is Clostridium perfringens. The symptoms of this illness are similar to the 24-hour flu and therefore can go unreported to health authorities. The vegetative cells of C. perfringens are normally killed by cooking, but some spores survive boiling and freezing temperatures. Occurrences of this illness are associated with cooked meats, poultry, gravy. and starchy beans. To prevent this bacterial illness from occurring, follow these safety measures:

•Reheat food to 165 degrees or higher within two hours.

•Rapidly cool hot meat dishes that will be eaten later. Divide large amouts into small, shallow containers for quick cooling in the refrigerator or freezing in the freezer. Do not allow foods to cool at room temperatures as this promotes rapid bacteria growth. To cool large amounts of food quickly, use an ice bath, stainless steel containers and stir frequently to release the heat.

Other general tips for safe barbecues and picnics are:

•Eat first, then play. Bacteria grow more quickly the longer the food sits in the heat.

•Try to minimize the number of times you open the cooler,, because this allows air to escape. Keep the cooler in a shaded area.

•Don't place cooked foods back onto the same plate that held raw meat, fish, or poultry. The ccoked product could become contaminated with bacteria from the raw food that was previously on the plate.

•Don't taste a meat product to check for doneness. Eating a little bit of undercooked meat could cause problems if the harmful bacteria in it are still alive.

•Add "lite" mayonnaise or salad dressing to cold salads when the food is prepared, not just before serving. Contrary to popular belief, mayonnaise actually retards bacterial growth in foods. It is the poor handling of the protein product that usually causes foodborne illness.

Poultry Scholarship Available

GETTYSBURG (Adams Co.) — Adams County Poultry Association is offering a $2,000 scholarship to Penn State University for a student from Adams County enrolled or accepted in the College of Agricultural Sciences or Human Development. The applicant must have an acceptable scholastic average and be in need of financial assistance. Students should apply for assistance through the Office of Student Aid.

Application forms and additional information can be obtained from Walter P. Griest, 2710 Mummasburg Rd., Gettysburg, or call (717) 677-8646. Or, from the Adams County Extension Office at (717) 334-6271.

Forms must be completed and returned by June 15.

Lancaster Farming Toasts Dairy Farmers

Serving dairy products to family and guests is the most effective way to say 'thanks' to the dairy farm families who produce consistent quality that goes into their healthful and great-tasting products.

Annually, Lancaster Farming holds the Cow Mania Drawing to salute dairy farmers who work so hard year-round to provide a nutritious product that can be used in so many different ways. This is the second edition of dairy recipes our readers sent in for the Cow Mania Drawing this year. During the month of June, each issue of Lancaster Farming will include dairy recipes and excerpts from our readers. On June 29, the winners of the drawing will be announced and "cow" prizes will be mailed to them.

Here's a toast to the real winners—the farmers who work so hard to give us the milk, cheese, butter, ice cream, and other dairy delights we loves so much.

GRAPE SPONGE

3 cups grape juice (unsweetened)
2 tablespoons unflavored gelatine
1½ -1⅔ cups sugar
2 cups cold water
1 cup whipped cream

Soak gelatine in one cup water. Bring grape juice to a boil and add hot juice to gelatine. Stir and add cold water and sugar. When mixture is partially thick, whip until foamy, about 10 minutes. Fold in whipped cream last. Makes approximately two dishes.

MUENSTER CHEESE

4 gallons milk
2 cups thick buttermilk, not strong
½ cheese rennet tablet
¼ cup cold water
3 tablespoons salt

Heat milk and buttermilk to lukewarm. Dissolve ½ tablet in water. Add to milk. Let set one hour. Cut into ½ -inch squares. Pour off whey. Add salt, put in press overnight. Use when needed or refrigerate two weeks before using.

I am 12 years old and enjoy baking. I have six brothers and four sisters and four nieces and two nephews. I live on a dairy farm with 78 milk cows, about 22 dry cows, 100 heifers, 50 chickens, and four rabbits.

2 PUMPKIN PIES

2 cups sugar
3 cups pumpkin
4 egg yolks, 4 egg whites, beaten separately until stiff
3⅓ cups milk
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Mix the following in a large bowl: sugar, pumpkin, egg yolks, milk, and cinnamon. Lastly, fold in egg whites. Put in unbaked pie shells (9 inch). Bake in oven at 350 degrees for 45 minutes or until knife comes out clean.

I am a farmer's wife and help out in the barn. I am a tax collector and a cook at the nearby school.

I collect cows for a hobby, like bird watching, cooking, and painting when I have time.

CORN CASSEROLE

1 pound ground beef
1 cup macaroni or 8-ounces noodes
1 pint corn
8-ounces cream cheese
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 cup milk
Salt and pepper to taste
½ cup chopped onion (optional)
¼ cup chopped pimento (optional)
Buttered bread crumbs (optional)

Brown ground beef. Cook macaroni. Thaw corn. Mix together all ingredients in baking dish. Top with bread crumbs if desired. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

This is a family favorite.

BAKED PRIMAVERA

12-ounces bow-tie pasta
6 ounces Neufchatel cheese, cubed and softened
1½ cups sour cream
¾ cups grated parmesan cheese
1½ cups chicken broth
3 tablespoons balsamic vinegar
1 packet chicken broth powder
1 tablespoon dried basil
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon black pepper
1 medium-size zucchini, cut in thin slices and quartered
½ pound mushrooms, quartered
1 large sweet red pepper, halved, cored, seeded, finely chopped
½ cup finely chopped green onion

Cook pasta according to package directions. Drain; return to pot. Immediately add cheese, tossing until melted.

Whisk together sour cream, parmesan cheese, chicken broth, vinegar, chicken broth powder, basil, salt, and pepper in medium size bowl.

Add yellow squash, zucchini, mushrooms, red pepper, green onion, and sour cream mixture to pasta; tossing together until well combined.

Cut foil to fit a 13x9x2-inch baking dish with a sheet of foil, spray with vegetable spray. Pour mixture into baking dish. Cover with foil, sprayed side down.

Bake in preheated 400 degree oven for 45 minutes until vegetables and pasta are tender.

I live on a 132-acre dairy farm in Adams County. We milk 180 registered Holsteins with a double eight automatic take-off system. We farm approximately 700 acres.

Our Yellow-Buttercup Farm has certainly been a positive driving force in helping to raise our four children, Lela, Lane, Lisha, and Ladd. I enjoy cooking and baking and wouldn't think of using any dairy substitutes—only the real dairy products will do.

Berry-Topped Blintz Bake, a streamlined version of the traditional cheese-filled blintz, makes a special breakfast.

SUGAR COOKIES

7 eggs
4 cups brown sugar
2 cups oil
1 can evaporated milk
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
4 teaspoons baking soda
7 cups flour

Beat eggs. Add brown sugar, oil, and milk. Add dry ingredients and mix well. Bake at 350 degrees for 12 minutes.

These are our favorite sugar cookies.

Featured Recipe

Savvy restaurateurs are capitalizing on the morning bonanza with menus that go far beyond the basic toast-and-eggs fare. Eating out is great but you can enjoy a weekend breakfast with all the comforts of home with this Berry-Topped Blintz Bake.

It is rich with the flavors of the traditional blintz — dairy sour cream, cottage cheese, and cream cheese, accented with grated lemon peel — but much easier to make.

The sour cream and egg pancake-style batter is poured into a baking dish, then topped with spoonfuls of cheese filling. It bakes until puffy and golden, while you brew the coffee and heat the simple topping of fresh or frozen mixed berries and purchased fruit syrup. To serve, cut the blintz into squares and top with warm berries.

BERRY-TOPPED BLINTZ BAKE

Blintz:
4 ounces cream cheese, softened
8-ounces small curd cottage cheese
3 eggs plus 1 egg yolk, divided
¼ cup plus 1 tablespoon sugar, divided
½ cup plus 1 tablespoon flour, divided
¾ teaspoon vanilla
¾ cup dairy sour cream or sour half and half
¼ cup milk
¼ cup butter, melted
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1 teaspoon baking powder

Topping:
1 cup fresh or frozen, thawed, mixed berries
¾ cup blackberry or blueberry syrup

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Butter an 8-inch square baking dish with 2-inch high sides (2 quart). For blintz, place cream cheese, cottage cheese, egg yolk, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 tablespoon flour, and vanilla in blender container. Blend on low speed until smooth, stopping and scraping down sides of container once. Transfer cheese mixture to bowl; set aside. Do not wash blender. Place three eggs, the sour cream, milk, butter, and lemon peel in blender container. Blend on medium speed until smooth. Add combine ½ cup flour, ¼ cup sugar, and baking powder. Blend on high speed until smooth. Pour half of batter into baking dish. Drop small spoonfuls of cheese mixture in evenly spaced rows on top of batter. Pour remaining batter on top. Bake until puffy and edges begin to turn golden, about 45 minutes.

For topping, combine berries and syrup in small saucepan. Heat over low heat until warm, stirring occasionally. Cool blintz on wire rack 5 minutes. To serve, cut into squares; top with berries.

Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

FRUIT PIZZA

1 egg
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups flour
½ teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon cream of tartar
½ cup butter, softened

Mix together all ingredients. Pat into well-greased pizza pan. Bake for 8 minutes at 400 degrees. Cool.
Combine:
8-ounces cream cheese, softened
8-ounces whipped cream topping
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla

Soften cream cheese and mix with other ingredients. Spread onto cooled crust.
Topping:
16-ounce can crushed pineapple
Various fresh fruit

Drain pineapples well. Press into cream cheese mixture over the whole pizza. Arrange the fresh fruit in a circular pattern over pineapple. Use as many different types of fresh fruit as you like. Remember, when using certain types of fresh fruit, make sure to use Fruit Fresh to keep them fresh looking. Refrigerate until serving.

My husband Tom and five children Troy, 12; Amy, 10; April, 9; Alisa, 6; and Ashley, 4; live on a dairy farm in Bellefonte. Our prefix is Ebon-Blanc and we milk 70 cows.

I am always excited about June because it is June Dairy Month, which is a time when a lot of emphasis is put on our industry. But being a farmer, this emphases is year-round for us.

I try to constantly promote dairy products, whether it is on those rare ocassions when my family dines out or when we have tours of our farm.

As a matter of fact, we just had three tours last month, two kindergarten classes and one preschool class. After the tour, children are always served a dairy treat. This year the treat was the fruit pizza, and the children and chaperones just loved it, so that is why I am entering this particular recipe.

Besides promoting the industry, I am also involved with my community 4-H club as a leader, a club that my children are very active in.

As you can see by the size of my family, it is by today's standards quite large, so when I prepare food, it has to be not only good and nutritious but also in larger quantities. That is why when I prepare desserts such as this one, it is doubled and if it has not disappeared in less than 24 hours, then I know that it is not a good recipe and I don't make it again.

FROSTED TANG TREAT

½ cup Tang
4 tablespoons sugar.
2 cups water
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 cups crushed ice

Combine in blender and serve immediately.

My family loves this drink on hot summer nights, especially after putting in hay all day. We have a farm in Airville and raise soybeans, corn, wheat, and hay. Our children are Daniel, who is almost 15, and twins Michele and Michael Reid, who are 12.

My husband, Mike works in a factory and I work as a teacher's assistant during the school year.

I enjoy reading many of the articles in Lancaster Farming, during the month of June for Cow Mania. The recipes are always delicious and this way I can learn about other readers.

PEANUT BUTTER PUDDING

6 cups milk
1¼ cup sugar
3 tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons clear jell
¼ teaspoon salt
4 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 tablespoons peanut butter

Put one cup milk in blender and add sugar, flour, clear jell, salt, and eggs. Blend well. Heat remaining milk in heavy saucepan until hot (not boiling). Add blender mixture and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and add vanilla and peanut butter while still hot. Cool and enjoy!

BUTTER PECAN ICE CREAM

¼ cup butter
2 cups chopped pecans
7 cups milk, divided
14-ounces sweetened condensed milk
2 cups sugar
6 large eggs, lightly beaten
5.1-ounce package vanilla instant pudding mix
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Melt butter in a large saucepan over medium high heat; add chopped pecans, and cook, stirring constantly, 3 minutes or until lightly browned. Drain and set aside.

Combine 1 cup milk, 1 can sweetened condensed milk, 2 cups sugar, six beaten eggs in the saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, 5 minutes or until mixture coats back of spoon. Cool. Stir in remaining 6 cups milk, pudding mix, and vanilla; add pecans, stirring well.

Pour mixture into a 5-quart freezer container, hand turned or electric freezer. Freeze according to manufacturer's instructions. Pack freezer with additional ice and rock salt. Let stand one hour before serving. Yield 1 gallon.

Our family raises beef cattle and sheep and necessary feed to winter them. We have two farm dogs and five cats. We also have an Ayrshire cow so we have our own milk, laying hens for our own eggs, and we raise broilers for our use.

Josie our milch cow has a one-half Holstein calf that looks a lot like the cow mania drawing prizes.

QUESTION — Linda Ludwig, Reading, would like recipes for blueberry and cinnamon raisin bagels, and an apple tart with syrup topping like those sold by Ruppert's Bakery at the Leesport Auction years ago.

ANSWER — Phyllis Erdman, Perkasie, wanted advice on using clear jell. Thanks to Hilda Blatt, Jonestown, who wrote that by trial and error, she came up with the following pointers that work fine for her. She also sent a recipe.

To use instant clear jell, use only with precooked or canned fruits. Always mix jell with sugar before adding liquid. Add liquid slowly and keep stirring. Then add fruit.

To use regular clear jell, mix with sugar first then add liquid, bring to a boil and slowly add raw fruits, cherries, peaches, or desired fruit. Keep stirring and cook until desired thickness.

Cherry Pie

6 cups sour cherries, fresh and drained
1½ -1¾ cup sugar
1¼ cup cherry juice
6 tablespoons regular clear jell
½ teaspoon salt, optional
1 tablespoon butter
Few drops red coloring

Mix together sugar, clear jell, and salt. Add liquid slowly while bringing to a boil, and keep stirring. Pour into 10-inch unbaked pie crust. Bake at 425 degrees for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and cook for 50 minutes.

I cook, cool, and refrigerate the pies overnight and never have problems with them cooking out.

Also, thanks to Susan Ehst, Dover, Del., who writes that she has success with the non instant clear jell. Labels usually say instant clear jell or just clear jell. Use the clear jell. Susan writes that she prefers using clear jell instead of cornstarch becauce clear jell gives a more clear appearances and recipes keep well with it. Mix the clear jell with water to make a thin paste then add to boiling liquid, cook to desired thickness.

Thanks to A. Sensenig, Newville, who writes that the juice should be boiling before adding clear jell. Mix the clear jell with a little water before adding. Stir constantly to keep mixture from becoming lumpy. and simmer until the thickness desired.

ANSWER — Thanks to an anonymous reader for sending a recipe requested by Verna Judy, Middletown.

Strawberry Muffins

Combine and let stand 15 to 20 minutes:
¾ cup diced strawberries
1 tablespoon orange flavored liquer
¼ cup sugar

Combine and mix:
¾ cup flour
¼ cup corn meal
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt

Beat together:
1 egg
⅓ cup milk
2 tablespoons melted butter

Stir in strawberries. Add dry ingredients and stir quickly, just until blended. Brush muffin pan cups with melted butter, fill ⅔ -¾ full and bake at 425 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes or until golden brown.

ANSWER — Mrs. Howard Moore, Charlotte Courthouse, Va., wanted a recipe for wet bottom shoo fly pie and a recipe for Easter eggs made with mashed potatoes. Thanks to Anna Martin, Denver, for sending in both recipes.

Wet Bottom Shoo-Fly Pie

Liquid:
1 egg, beaten
1 cup table syrup
¾ cup boiling water with 1 teaspoon baking soda

Crumbs:
1 cup flour
⅔ cup light brown sugar
1 tablespoon shortening

Set aside 1 cup of crumb mixture. Stir remaining crumbs into the liquid mixture. Do not beat. Pour into pastry shell. Sprinkle reserved crumbs evenly over top of pie. Bake at 375 degrees for 10 minutes, then lower heat to 350 degrees and bake an additional 30 minutes.

Mashed Potato Easter Eggs

¼ pound butter, melted
2 pounds confectioners' sugar
½ cup cold mashed potatoes
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix together and shape on teaspoon. Chill at least two hours or overnight. Melt together in a double boiler:
½ pound semi-sweet dipping chocolate

When mixture is well mixed, dip formed eggs into it and cool on wax paper. For peanut butter eggs, add ½ teaspoon peanut butter before shaping eggs.

CORN-BROCCOLI BAKE

¼ cup butter
¼ cup flour
1¼ cups milk
1 cup corn liquid
1 cup grated cheddar cheese
2 eggs, well beaten
2 tablespoons minced parsley
½ teaspoon celery salt
2 12-ounce cans kernel corn
2 10-ounce packages frozen broccoli (parboiled 3 minutes)

In a saucepan, melt butter and stir in flour. Gradually add milk and corn liquid; bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Add cheese, eggs, parsley, and celery salt; simmer until thick.

In baking dish, layer corn, broccoli and sauce. Baking time is 25 minutes at 350 degrees. Serves 8.

SPICE CAKE

2 cups sugar
1 cup butter, softened
4 eggs, beaten
3 cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon ground cloves
1 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1 cup buttermilk

Butter Cream Frosting:
½ cup shortening
½ cup butter, softened
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
4 cups confectioners' sugar
3 tablespoons milk

In a mixing bowl, cream sugar and butter. Add eggs; beat well. Combine dry ingredients; add to creamed mixture alternately with buttermilk. Mix well. Pour into a greased and floured 13x9x2-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 35-40 minutes or until cake tests done. Cool.

For frosting, cream shortening and butter in a mixing bowl. Add vanilla. Gradually beat in sugar. Add milk; beat until light and fluffy. Frost cake. Yield: 12-16 servings.

It's Little League Season Again

Each year as the summer soccer, little league and t-ball seasons kick into high gear, I feel a need to remind families that cooperative play is to be encouraged among children. I also want to reinforce the parents' critical role in enhancing a child's experience in a competitive situation.

Although competitive activities do have some benefits, they currently are too big a part of children's lives. Research shows overwhelmingly that kids learn more when they are working together than when they are competing. Competition should only be introduced once a skill is well-developed and simply needs drilling/fine-tuning. It should be used only among children of similar skill levels where each person has a fair chance of winning.

Does your child or grandchild's activity fit these criteria?

In 1981 David and Roger Johnson and their colleagues reviewed 122 studies on competition and cooperation. They found that cooperation promotes higher achievement than competition. It also promoted higher achievement than independent work. The review of research also documented that in competitive situations, conflicts arose among participants, parents, and spectators.

Given the abundance of research supporting cooperative play and cooperative learning, what can people do if a child is involved in a competitive activity? Parents and other adults can set a positive tone in any situation. Consider these statements and the underlying message they suggest.

"Did you win?" (What's important is scoring more points than the opponent.)

"You all will have to work extra hard in practice tomorrow because your defensive skills were poor even though we won today." (What's important is scoring more points than the opponent.)

"You all will have to work extra hard in practice tomorrow because your defensive skills were poor even though we won today." (What's important is playing the best you can.)

[To the least skilled batter] "I am proud of you. You dared to try those batting tips that I've been giving you. You struck out, but your form and swing are much better. Soon you'll be hitting the ball." (What's important is never giving up.)

"How did you enjoy the game? What did you learn? (What's important is playing your best and having fun.)

Which of these messages do you want to give a child? Review the questions and comments that you say to make sure they emphasize what you really value.

Rainer Martens, author of "Joy and Sadness in Children's Sports," suggests that parents allow youth to decide their own involvement. He also encourages parents to help children think about both their winning and losing experiences. What positives can each person take away from them.

Adults should notice and describe for a child, his or her improved skills, perseverance, and strategies. Also regularly show approval, love, and pride in a child just the way he or she is. Avoid reliving the past through him. Also refrain from publicly criticizing the coach, opposing team, or other players. These actions don't help a child long-term. Parents, take pictures of your child and display them (win or lose). Be your child's personoal cheerleader.

And when everyone'e tired of competition, try a non-competitive game. "Pass and Run for Fun" is one that's great for children older than five years of age. Have the children form a circle with players standing several feet apart. One person holds a ball. This person begins the game by passing the ball to one of the other players in the group. As soon as the ball is passed, the person that started with the ball begins to run around the outside of the circle. The rest of the children attempt to pass the ball to each person in the group before the runner can run once around the circle and get back to her place. Players cannot pass the ball to a person standing next to them. Children take turns being the runner.

Remember these thoughts as you sit on the bleachers this summer cheering on your children, grandchildren, neighbors, and special young friends. How can you emphasize cooperation and minimize competition?

A Milk Tale

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

YORK (York Co.) — Mom was right. Drink your milk.

Otherwise, your coat will not be as shiny,your leg muscles less strong, your tail will be shorter, and your claws will be weak.

Those were just some of the conclusions reached by a York Country Day School fourth-grade class that devoted several weeks recent ly to a nutrition study with a pair of white rats. The class effort was based on a nutrition project developed by the Dairy Council of Minnesota.

Brenda Herman's 14 students embarked on the comprehensive project, "The Great Grow Along - a Tail of Two Rats," when she gleaned the idea after participating in the Ag In The Classroom teacher training.

Though it took some effort to pull all the details together — such as finding a source of white laboratory rats — Herman's enthusiasm for the nutrition project just bubbles over when she talks about it.

"I like rats now," she said about the class's nutrition project mascots, who spent their weekends as guests in her home.

"Tails" and "Snowball" were as identical when they arrived, hand-delivered from a Pittsburgh source, as Brenda Herman arranged. Sisters from a litter, they met her criteria of being as genetically close as possible.

Brenda Herman's bulletin board displays helped track the progress of the two white laboratory rats.

Shane Sunday weighs the milk-fed Tails at the conclusion of the fourth-grade class' nutrition studies.

Nutrition study teammates Courtney Avery, left, and Debbie Bering do a hands-on evaluation of the rats' growth and development during the final weigh-in.

Though an indicator of health and growth, York Country Day School fourth-graders discovered that measuring a rat's tail takes some teamwork to get accomplished.

At 21 days old, they weighed an identical 51 grams and their tails measured the exact same length on the day the York private school was abuzz over their arrival.

Tails' and Snowball's weights and tail lengths were initially measured and recorded in the detailed notebooks each student maintained on the experiment, adding detailed data with each succeeding week.

Both rats received identical diets, starting with grains the first week, then adding fruits and vegetables the second week, and meats group items the third week. For the first three weeks however, Tails' diet included milk, while Snowball got sugar water, with the same caloric value as milk but the nutritional equivalent of soft drinks.

At the end of three weeks, Tails and Snowball were dining on a buffet of goodies including wheat bread, apples and grapefruits, broccoli, lettuce, hamburger, and peanut butter. At each of the first three weeks weigh-in, Tails, the control rat being fed milk, outweighed and outmeasured Snowball, the treatment rat. A switch took place for the fourth week, during which Snowball was given milk while Tails sipped the sugar water.

"The control rat (Tails) grew better, with the most strongly developed nails," observed student Debbie Bering as the class gathered for the great weigh-in at the four-week conclusion of the project.

Her team partner in the study effort, Courtney Avery, agreed. "Tails is stronger. When you pull a little on her leg, you can feel that the muscles are stronger. The treatment rat, Snowball, didn't grow as well. We think it's because of the better nutrients."

During the weekly weighing days, class members worked together to carefully weigh and measure the tails of their wiggly study projects. Every student in turn held and petted the rats to check the quality of their coats and their muscle strength. They soon discovered that milk-fed Tails left pronounced scratches on their hands, with stronger, sharper toenails than sugar-fed Snowball. And Tails had a consistently longer tail, an indication of growth and health in rats.

Debbie and Courtney noted another difference.

"The one getting all the sugar was more active than the one we fed milk to," they agreed, adding that they thought the sugar caused Snowball to be less calm than

B.U.C.S. Owner's Report
- Increased Storage Capacity
- Better Feed Quality
- Faster Unloading
- Lower Maintenance

The Jamesway Big Jim® B.U.C.S.™ (BOTTOM UNLOADING CONVERSION SYSTEM) is making big news!

Reports are coming in from B.U.C.S. owners everywhere. And they're reporting that their systems are delivering increased storage capacity, higher quality feed, faster unloading and reduced maintenance versus their old systems. Even in silos that had been retired! But don't take our word for it. Here's what your neighbor has to say about their B.U.C.S. System!

OWNER'S REPORT #65

"I saved money replacing my worn out bottom unloader with a Big Jim B.U.C.S. I like the trouble-free operation, auto fill, auto unload. The machine's distribution capacity and unloading volume is more than satisfactory."

Wills Grange Celebrates 80th

GAY BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

WILLS (Somerset County) — The Wills Grange $1690, in celebrating its 80th anniversary at the Faith Lutheran Church, was not merely an evening when approximately 75 persons did nothing but reminisce, although they certainly did that, but they looked, as well, to the future. And "future," to the grange is synonomous with today's young adult population.

Guest speaker Gordon Hiller, the Pennsylvania state grange master, said that keeping the grange strong is essential. "Seventy years ago there were twice as many grange members as today," he said. "The grange needs to be strong.

"We need to think like young people," he said. "Challenge young people between 18 and 30 to become grangers."

As a trustee at Penn State, Hiller has opportunities to stay abreast of advancing communications and a world of technology that spins change almost faster than a turning crystal ball.

Recently, when the president was on the Penn State campus to address the graduating class, Hiller and others had an opportunity to talk with Pres. Clinton. Hiller said he was surprised when the commander-in-chief knew about the grange.

Further, the president's idea for the grange to launch a $500 scholarship for a young person who does community service, to be matched by the federal government, impressed Hiller, who was accompanied by his wife, first lady, Mary Hiller, to the Wills celebration.

"You look back, and know you have to do better, today. We are developing communications today as they did 80 years ago," he said. "We have the talent, tools, and technology to do better." He observed that early grangers didn't know stress in the way that stress affects people today.

He also discussed the potential problems. "The two challenges are animal rights and animal preservation," he stated, adding that these threaten property rights. Grangers need to stand tall in support of agriculture, he told them.

Hiller also said that freedom of speech and freedom of religion are being threatened, citing as an example a male Penn State student who was almost, but not quite, denied his right to publicly thank God for his blessings.

"I advise you," he told his listeners, "to continue to thank God, and do it publicly."

Hiller's speech had followed several religious and patriotic anthems such as "How Great Thou Art," "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," and others.

Wills Grange master William Ringler introduced John Scott, the past national and past PA state grange master; Mildred Shultz, past lecturer of the state grange; Mabel Shultz, the Somerset County state deputy master and William R. Lloyd, state representative of the 69th District, who read a proclamation from the state House of Representatives. A second proclamation, coming from the Somerset County commissioners was also read, although commissioner Robert Will was unable to make the official presentation.

A commemorative flag from United States congressman John P. Murtha, was also presented in celebration of the Wills' 80th occasion.

Joining the Wills Grange in 1946 were Leon Knepper and Elmira Knepper. They were recognized for 50 years of membership.

The 25-year members are Lois Duppstadt, Robert Duppstadt, Helen Handwork, Robert Handwork and Karen Walker.

"Memories of Grandma's Apron," was aptly presented in the form of a skit by Kathryn Brown, Dorothy Glessner, Meryl Miller, Rachel Miller, Mildred Ringler, Jean Torrence, Emily Weaver and Mary Wilk.

With dustcap in place, each lady entered wearing her own version of Grandma's apron to delightfully illustrate, the numerous uses to which grandma put her utilitarian covering with its vast pockets.

Among those demonstrated were hauling wood, grabbing hot skillets, handling hot plates, drying tears of children, allowing them (children) refuge in its folds, dusting, gathering eggs or fresh veggies from the garden, rescuing pins, marbles and odd puzzle pieces, relocating a kitten litter, and wiping sweat. If her neighbor was espied coming up the walk, grandma quickly reversed her apron so only the clean side was exposed toward her guest.

Wills Grange, with a membership of some 51 persons, is one of eight in Somerset County. Its first meeting was held on May 30, 1916, at the Wills School House. J.B.W. Stufft, then state deputy, organized it and installed officers.

Harvey F. Menser, grandfather to the current master Ringler, was the first master. There were 28 charter members of whom the last, Mae Menser Ringler, after 66 years in the Wills Grange, died in 1982.

The grange hall got under construction in December 1916 on land donated by Charles C. Mosgrave. For approximately $200, the stone wall with dimensions of 24 by 36 feet and nine feet high was built with donated labor. On May 24, 1917, the first meeting was held in it. By year's end the membership had climbed to 48 grangers.

In 1924, after purchasing land from John Winters, the structure was moved across the road to its current location. The bills incurred totaled $1,100.

Wills Grange programs have included such diverse topics as political issues, health, wellness, medications and drugs, hip and knee replacements, canned foods labeling, Habitat For Humanityk, acid mine drainage, deaf awareness, estate planning and preparing a living will; and tours and travel.

Community service projects find Wills Grange involved with the American Red Cross, the former Somerset State Hospital, American Cancer Society and the Salvation Army.

The Wills Juvenile Grange #441 held its first recorded meeting on October 9, 1920. Later disbanded, a reorganization took place in 1955 and a number was given. Today it is called the Junior grange and Esther Mowry serves as junior matron.

Besides Ringler, Charles Glessner is overseer; Lorraine Glessner, lecturer; Esther Mowry, assistant lecturer; Ted Glessner, steward; James Torrence, assistand steward; Mary Wilk, lady assistant steward; Dorothy Glessner, chaplain; James Mowry, treasurer; Barbara Handwork, secretary; Wilmer Coughenour, gatekeeper; Meryl Miller, ceres; Rachel Miller, pomona; Dorothy Reffner, flora, and Kathryn Brown, pianist.

As Hiller said, grange representation on government and ag advisory boards is necessary and an effective tool for influencing policymaking of government officials.

"The grange has provided an opportunity for leaders to emerge," said Hiller.

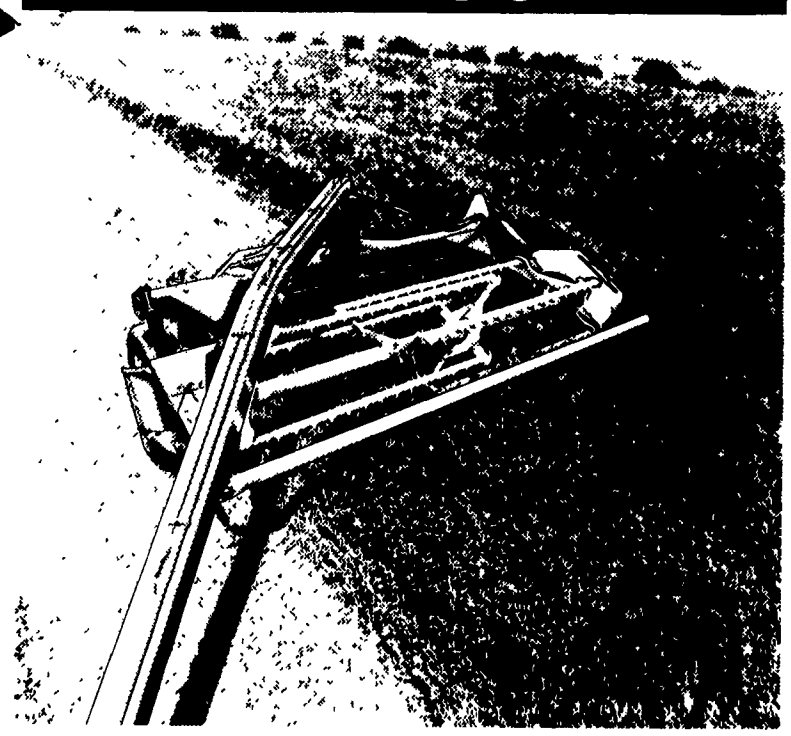
NOBODY BALES 'EM BETTER

The New Holland "515" baler turns out dense, square-shouldered, quality bales every time. Bales that handle, stack and transport easily. Bales you'll be proud to say are yours.

You'll like the reliability, too. Give us a call and we'll make sure you see a "515" in action. It's the Best in the West from the first name in baling: New Holland.

12-FT CUT



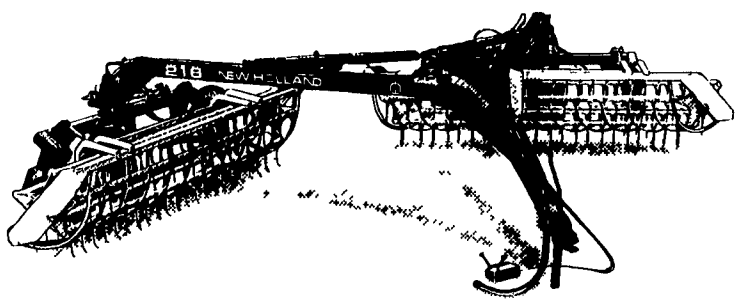
CAPACITY AND CONVENIENCE

The Model 499 Haybine® mower-conditioner gives you 12-foot capacity with pivot-tongue convenience, plus:

- Patented Rolareel header — no auger needed.
- Fast, clean cutting from dual sickles.
- Thorough, plug-free conditioning from chevron-design rolls.

Put a "499" to work for you.

UNITIZED



RAKES WIDE FOLDS NARROW

Rake 27 feet wide in one pass, then fold the New Holland Model 216 unitized rake on-the-go to a narrow 10-foot transport width. The "216" handles hay in two windrows from a 16-foot windrower, and when you leave the field there is no need to leave the tractor seat to move into transport position.

CHERRY CHEESE CAKE

2 8-ounce packages cream cheese
¾ cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
3 eggs
1 cup sour cream
¼ cup lemon juice
1 teaspoon vanilla
21-ounce cherry pie filling

Beat cream cheese until very soft. Add sugar, flour, and salt. Blend well.

Add remaining ingredients except cherry pie filling. Mix well on low to medium speed. Pour into a 9-inch square pan. Bake 45 minutes at 350 degrees. Cool. Spread with pie filling and chill. Easy and delicious.

My husband and I live on a farm in Leola. We farm produce so there is always plenty to do as days get warmer.

We'll soon have strawberries and sugar peas to pick.

I enjoy cooking and baking but I'd rather work outside on these nice summer days.

Emma Nolt

LUCIOUS LEMON DESSERT

1 cup flour
1 cup butter
cup whipped cream
1 cup confectioners' sugar
8-ounces cream cheese
2 3-ounce packages instant lemon pudding

Mix together flour and butter and spread in 12x8-inch baking dish. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes.

Mix together cream cheese, whipped cream, confectioners' sugar, and put on top of first layer while warm.

Mix pudding according to directions on box and pour over two previous layers. Cool and enjoy!

I come from a family of eight. My parents' names are Irvin and Esther. I have three brothers and two sisters.

My hobbies are baking, taking care of my nieces and nephews, and mowing yard.

PECAN BLUEBERRY SQUARES

1¼ cups flour
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup chopped pecans
8-ounces cream cheese, softened
¼ cup sugar
2 eggs
1 can blueberry pie filling
2 teaspoons lemon juice
Whipped cream

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. For crust, combine flour, brown sugar, butter, and pecans. Press mixture into bottom of a 9x13-inch baking dish.

In a medium bowl, beat cream cheese, sugar, and eggs until smooth. Pour mixture over crust.

Bake at 20-25 minutes until filling is set and begins to brown at edges. Cool in pan on wire rack for 15 minutes.

Combine pie filling and lemon juice in a small bowl. Spread over baked filling. Cover and chill. Serve with whipped topping.

I am the mother of seven and we just moved to our new home. I love to garden and play piano.

POTATO CHEESE SOUP

6-8 potatoes, peeled and diced
2-3 carrots, sliced
1-2 celery stalks, sliced
1 onion, chopped
8-ounces cream cheese, softened
¼ cup butter
10¾ -ounces condensed cream of chicken soup, undiluted
2 cups milk
Salt and pepper to taste
4 bacon strips, fried and crumbled

Place potatoes, celery, and onion in a large kettle; cover with water. Cook until tender. Meanwhile, in a mixing bowl, combine cream cheese, butter, and soup; stir well. Add milk, salt, pepper and bacon; add to vegetables and heat through. For a thicker soup, drain vegetables before adding cream cheese mixture. Instead of using cream of chicken soup, I make a thick white sauce and add chicken boullion.

GRANOLA CEREAL

6 tablespoons butter
½ cup honey OR molasses
2 tablespoons peanut butter
½ cup brown sugar

In a medium saucepan, melt together butter, molasses, peanut butter, and sugar.

In a big dish, stir together:
1 heaping quart oatmeal (uncooked)
½ cup coconut
2 quarts Wheaties, corn flakes or bran flakes (crushed to 1 quart).
1 teaspoon salt, optional

Mix well. Pour warm sauce over cereal mixture and dump in a large roasting pan. Bake at 225 degrees for 45 minutes. Stir once in awhile as you're baking. Add ¾ cup raisins after it's baked. Store in airtight container and serve with cream or milk.

We live on a rented dairy farm and are milking 40 cows. We enjoy farming and eating and it seems when we come in from the barn on mornings, we are so hungry. So I like to make something that is filling and we all really like this granola cereal.

We have three girls, ages 4, 2, and 5 months, and they really enjoy the farm.

Keep the good recipes coming. I have a lot from your selection in my recipe file. It's always interesting to try other people's favorites.

BAKED MACARONI AND CHEESE

2 cups macaroni
10 ounces sharp cheddar cheese
¼ teaspoon pepper
2½ cups milk
3 tablespoons butter

Cook macaroni until tender and drain. Alternate macaroni, shredded cheese, and pepper in a 2½ or 3 quart casserole dish. Add milk and dot with butter. Top with bread crumbs if desired. Chopped broccoli or cooked ham may be added.

Bake at 350 degrees for 45-60 minutes or until brown.

We live on a 92-acre farm and raise beef cattle.

Raising a child on a farm is a good learning experience. Justin tells me where to find tools and bolts for the farmer and tells the farmer what the cook does and doesn't do in the kitchen.

It has also been a learning experience with the large amount of snow this past winter and our ½ mile drifting farm lane!

BASIC VANILLA ICE CREAM

2 eggs
2 cups milk
¾ cup sugar
1 tablespoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup heavy whipping cream

Separate the eggs and make a soft custard from the milk, egg yolks, and sugar. Cook until it boils.

Beat egg whites until stiff. Gradually pour in hot custard, slowly. Mix thoroughly. (Remember to add slowly!)

Add vanilla and salt. Cool (overnight is good). Add whipped whipping cream. Fold in well. Put into ice cream maker and churn to frozen.

Variations:

Add 1 cup mini chocolate chips and crumbled Oreo cookies.

Peanut butter
1 cup mashed fruit

My husband Andy and I live in southern York County outside of Dallastown with our two children: Wade, 20, and Katie, 12. I love to cook and bake.

We gave a new ice cream freezer to our in-laws for Christmas two years ago. We try to use this recipe often because it's very good. Sometimes I make the mix and cool in the freezer.

HOW NOW BROWN COW SHAKE

2 large ripe bananas
⅓ cup chocolate syrup
2 cups whole milk
½ teaspoon vanilla
2 scoops vanilla ice cream

Smash bananas in a large bowl. Stir in chocolate syrup, milk, and vanilla, then mix well.

Place equal amounts of mixture in 2 big glasses. Top each shake with 1 scoop of ice cream. It makes 2 shakes.

This is a good recipe for anyone who likes milkshakes. This is really good, as my son would say.

My husband Duane and I have a son, Derek, 4. Derek is big help on the small farm we live on. He loves the cows plus riding the big tractors with daddy in the fields.

I am a housewife, plus I have a full-time job working in a sewing factory at Lyon Fashion. We make thousands and thousands of dresses, jump suits, etc. for J.C. Penney and other stores.

EASY DAISY CAKE

Cake:
2 eggs
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup milk
2 tablespoons butter
Frosting:
¾ cup packed brown sugar
½ cup butter (melted)
2 tablespoons cream
1 cup shredded coconut

In a large bowl, beat eggs, sugar, and vanilla. Beat until thick (about four minutes). Combine flour, baking powder, and salt. Add to egg mixture. Beat on low until combined. Heat milk and butter in a small saucepan until butter melts. Add to batter; beat thoroughly (the batter will be thin).

Pour into 9-inch greased square pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 20-25 minutes. Cool slightly.

Frosting: Blend all ingredients, spread over warm cake. Broil four minutes four inches from heat. Yields 9 servings.

I like to enter your June Dairy Month recipes. I cut so many good recipes from the Lancaster Farming newspaper. This Easy Daisy Cake is just the right size for a little cake, when you don't want a large cake, and it is very good.

CORNSTARCH PUDDING

Heat until hot but not boiling.
2 quarts milk
1 can evaporated milk
1 cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt

Beat together:
½ cup brown sugar
4 eggs
½ cup flour
½ cup cornstarch

Pour a little hot milk in the flour mixture. Whip into hot milk and heat until almost boiling. Remove from heat. Add 2 tablespoons butter and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Put waxed paper on top and cool. Whip vigorously when cold. Serve and eat.

We like to have this pudding with fresh strawberries. I always look forward to the June issues of Lancaster Farming.

BRUNCH CASSEROLE

½ pound cooked ham, cubed (or cheese, sausage, bacon)
10 slices day-old bread, cubed

Mix in blender:
8 eggs
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon dry onion flakes
3 cups milk
½ teaspoon dry mustard

Grease 9x13-inch pan. Put half bread cubes in pan followed by cubed ham and other ½ bread cubes. Pour egg mixture over bread. Sprinkle with 1 cup shredded cheese and paprika. Cover with foil and refrigerate 3 hours or overnight. Uncover. Bake at 325 degrees for 50-60 minutes. Optional: May add mushrooms, green peppers, and onions.

This is one of my favorite breakfast recipes and the kids love it. It's quick and easy. You can make it ahead so there's not a lot of utensils to wash the following breakfast.

My husband Paul and I live outside of Mount Joy on a beef and crop farm. We have three children, Rachelle, 14; Laura, 12; and Chad, 6. I enjoy helping the children with their various 4-H projects — market lambs, strawberries, rabbits, and sewing.

Tails.

"Tails didn't eat as much as Snowball, either, because we think she gets more nutrition and doesn't have to eat as much."

As the class had predicted ahead of time, during the last week, the slower-growing sister did gain faster after being switched to the milk diet. But the class also projected that Snowball's growth might never totally catch up to Tails, because by the end of the experiment the rats were nearing their mature size.

It proves that it's important to have balanced servings of food from each food group, agreed teammates Bering and Avery.

"The Great Grow Along" mushroomed from a science experiment into a part of the class's whole curriculum, another reason Brenda Herman is so enthusiastic about it.

"The students worked on graphs and kept a timeline of what was expected to happen," she said. "They did role playing, made predictions and observations. Each one wrote a page in their diary as if they were one of the rats. They made up schedules so that everyone helped feed and care for the rats."

Even their reading assignments included a rat-related, humorous book, "The Great Cheese Conspiracy" by Jean Van Leeuen.

A video accompanied the kit of materials and was used as part of the summary of the project on the fourth-week weighing and comparison of Tails and Snowball. It reemphasized the importance of eating a balanced diet from all the food groups, including milk, and of the importance of making wise food choices based on a knowledge of good nutrition.

"Your rats couldn't choose, but you can," the video reminded the class. As a follow-up, the class agreed to keep a record of everything they ate for the week following the conclusion of the project, to compare to a similar record each had kept prior to beginning the nutrition study. They persuaded their teacher to report her eating habits for the week as well.

Special guests for the final weigh-in were York County Dairy Princess Angie Mummert and Dairy Maid Tanya Thoman, who shared dairy information through puzzles and games, local media representatives, and Pat Sueck from Ag In The Classroom.

Reluctant to part with Tails and Snowball, Brenda Herman's class convinced her to continue the experiment beyond the scheduled ending and into a fifth week. They wanted to determine if Snowball, kept on the milk diet, would catch up in weight to Tails. By the end of that fifth week, Snowball still weighed six grams less than Tails and the students deduced that the rats had completed most of their growth.

There is a happy ending to this "tail."

Snowball and Tails have been adopted by two of the students and presumably will live happily ever after, enjoying a well-balanced diet including milk.

"Yes, I will do this again," said Brenda Herman, as the class reviewed with visitors the detailed data that they had maintained through the study. She would like to see the project more readily available locally for other teachers who might be interested. The curriculum materials could be ordered directly from the Dairy Council of Minnesota, but were obtained through the Philadelphia-area Dairy Council.

With most schools' budgets stretched to the breaking point, cost is a major factor in the project. The curriculum fee was $80, including a video and materials for reproducing notebooks for students to use in tracking the study. A pack of colorful food card/charts showing the Recommended Daily Requirement of a wide variety of foods was an additional $25. Cost of the rate was $60, plus cages, watering bottles, and other related expenses.

Green's Dairy of York sponsored the curriculum cost for the project and the cages. Brenda Herman personally covered some of the project's expenses because of her strong belief in its importance for her students. She is hopeful that dairy promotional groups might become interested in helping to sponsor the costs of the nutrition project for classrooms in their areas.

"This is a great nutrition project and an extremely well-controlled one," said Brenda Herman. "I give a lot of credit to Ag In The Classroom. They keep updated and give you a chance to pick and choose some ideas to use."

"I was so impressed with these kids and the multitude of lessons they learned through this project," said Pat Sueck, representing the Ag In The Classroom organization at the final weigh-in. "Their comparison of the nutrient values of milk and soft drinks came from their own initiative, not from any prompting from their teacher. It's a classic case of the information that we're trying to encourage teachers to convey to their students."

Sueck emphasizes that Ag In The Classroom is not a curriculum itself, but a vehicle for teachers to further their education and obtain materials that they can use and expand on from their own initiatives. As part of that effort, Ag In The Classroom offers an annual several-day teacher training session during July, held at Penn State.

For more information on Ag In The Classroom and its educational programs, contact Pat Sueck, Airville, York County, at (717) 862-3486 or Carol Ann Gregg, Grove City, Mercer County, at (412) 458-8181.

Too Good To Be True?

LEESPORT (Berks Co.) — You may have seen them advertised in magazines, little reusable disks that supposedly clean load after load without the use of detergents — all for only pennies a wash!

To find out if these disks really work, Whirlpool's testing laboratory compared the soil removal capabilities of one of these disks versus water alone on a 10-pound load in the regular cycle using a 100-degree wash and 60-degree rinse.

The results? There was basically no difference between the 37 degree soil removal for plain water and 36 percent soil removal using the disks.

Earlier this year, a consumer magazine confirmed this analysis.

"We don't think the disks are worth it," the magazine reported. "The disks performed no better than plain water in our test reports for stain removal and brightening, not even when we added a bit of detergent, as the instructions advise."

So, if you thought these ceramic disks sounded too good to be true, give yourself a pat on the back — you were right!

CARAMEL APPLE PIE

12 ounces frozen escalloped apples or canned apple pie filling
6 ounces cream cheese, softened
1 egg
1½ teaspoon vanilla
3 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon flour
6 ounces graham cracker crust
⅓ cup caramel topping
½ teaspoon cinnamon

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. In a mixing bowl, combine softened cream cheese, egg, vanilla, sugar, and flour. Beat until smooth. Spread mixture over pie crust. Combine apple pie filling, caramel topping, and cinnamon. Gently spoon over cream cheese mixture to keep two distinct layers. Bake for 40-45 minutes or until apples bubble up around edge of pie. Serve at room temperature. Promptly store leftover pie in refrigerator.

BLACKBERRY OR RASPBERRY COBBLER

¼ cup butter, softened
½ cup sugar
1 cup all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ cup milk
2 cups fresh or frozen blackberries or raspberries
¾ cup apple juice
Ice cream or whipped cream

In a mixing bowl, cream butter and sugar. Combine flour and baking powder; add to creamed mixture alternately with milk. Stir just until moistened. Pour into a greased 1½ -quart baking dish. Sprinkle with berries. Pour juice over all. Bake at 350 degrees for 45-50 minutes or until golden brown. Serve warm: top with ice cream or whipped cream. Yield: 6-8 servings.

YOGURT PIE

2 8-ounce packages soft cream cheese
1⅓ cups yogurt
½ cup powdered milk
1 cup honey
1 teaspoon vanilla

Crust:

2 packages crushed graham crackers
1 block butter, melted

Mix together crust ingredients and pat into a 13x9-inch cake pan. Mix together top ingredients and pour into cake pan lined with graham crust. Freeze about four hours. Very good with blueberries, strawberries, and fresh or frozen cherries.

My name is Pauline Martin. I am 16. My parents are Lester Jr. and Martha Martin. I have three sisters, Rachel, 10; Miriam, 8; and Rosann, 5.

CHEESE

4 gallons milk (let set until thick like junket)

Heat milk very slowly to 115 degrees, stir occasionally.

Pour milk through a cheese cloth and squeeze out all the whey. Mix in 2 tablespoons baking soda and let set at room temperature for 24 hours. Then melt:

½ cup butter

Add:

Cheese curds
3 tablespoons salt
2 cups sour cream

Melt mixture (stirring often) until most of the curds are melted. Pour into buttered dish and refrigerate. Makes a good slicing cheese.

I live on a small produce farm in Juniata County. We have one cow. Her name is saltine. She gives lots of milk. With milk, Mom can make cheese, my favorite food.

I have one brother and one sister. Jordan is 3 and Darlene is 5 months. We like to play with our dog, Pepper. Sometimes we help feed calves. We have one pig named Porky. He eats a lot. I like to play with all the animals.

CHOCOLATE PEANUT ICE CREAM

1½ cups sugar
2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
2 cups heavy cream
6 cups whole milk
2 beaten eggs
4 teaspoons vanilla
1½ cups chocolate covered peanuts
¼ teaspoon salt

In large saucepan, combine sugar, gelatine, and salt. Stir in half of the cream and milk. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture almost boils and sugar dissolves. Stir about 1 cup of the hot mixture into beaten eggs; return all to saucepan. Cook and stir 2 minutes more. Cool. Add remaining cream, milk, vanilla, and peanuts. Freeze in 4 to 5 quart ice cream freezer according to manufacturer's directions. Makes about 3 quarts (24 servings).

Celebrate Father's Day

This Fathers Day say a bug THANK YOU to your dad by bringing him out for a delicious PA Dutch meal at Shady Maple Smorgasbords. That's right in honor of Fathers day, Shady Maple Smorgasbord is planning some extra special surprises on Friday, June 14 and Saturday, June 15th.

Get dad up early for our piping hot breakfast buffet. Or bring him out later in the day for a scrumptious lunch or dinner. Every dad may register to win one of our exclusive Shady Maple Baseball caps which will be given away every half hour. Friday and Saturday evening one lucky father's name will be drawn from all that days entries to win a $50 gift certificate to the Smorgasbord.

What a memory you will create as his family joins together around the table to say a big thank you for all his hard work and dedication.

THAT'S NOT ALL... In addition no dad will leave empty-handed. Every father will receive a mouthwatering gift to take along home.

REMEMBER A SPECIAL TIME WITH DAD CAN BE HARD AT SHADY MAPLE SMORGASBORD ON FRIDAY, JUNE 14 and SATURDAY, JUNE 15.

SUNDAE DESSERT

Crush 1 pound Oreo cookies. Add ½ cup melted butter, stir. Pat into 9x13-inch baking pan. Spread one-half gallon vanilla ice cream on top. Sprinkle with mini marshmallows and crushed peanuts, use as many as you like.

Spread with 2 cups fudge sauce. Freeze overnight. Top with whipped cream just before serving.

I have one sister and two brothers. We milk 57 cows on our dairy farm.

Lynette Martin
Myerstown

IOWA DIRT DESSERT

1 quart milk
3 tablespoons cornstarch
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
6 egg yolks, beaten
1 tablespoon vanilla
2 envelopes or 2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
½ cup water
1 cup whipped cream
30 Oreo cookies

Combine sugar, cornstarch, and salt. Add milk and bring to boil. Boil 1 minute, gradually stir half of hot mixture into egg yolks, then blend into hot mixture on saucepan. Boil 1 minute more.

Add vanilla. Soften gelatin in water and add to hot mixture; cool. Fold in 1 cup whipped cream. Crush cookies; reserve 1 cup for topping.

Put remaining into a 9 x 13-inch pan. Pour on cooled pudding. Sprinkle on reserved crumbs. Refrigerate.

This is a cool, refreshing dessert for summer. We live on a dairy farm and also raise a lot of sweet corn, string beans, and lima beans, which we sell to several produce stands. Also, seedless watermelons are very popular with our customers. This is in addition to our garden for our own use. There's something for everyone to do all the time!

I enjoy reading the recipes sent in by others. One of my hobbies is trying out new ones on my family. I have a whole panel of taste testers!

CREAM CHICKEN ON CORNBREAD

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
3 cups cubed cooked chicken
Cream of mushroom soup, undiluted
Cornbread
Shredded cheese

Melt butter in heavy 2-quart saucepan over low heat; add flour, stir until smooth. Cook 1 minute, stirring constantly. Gradually add milk, cook over medium heat until mixture thickens and bubbles. Stir in chicken and soup. Cook, stirring, until thoroughly heated. To serve, slice cornbread rectangles in half; spoon on chicken mixture and sprinkle with shredded cheese.

I'm a housewife with two children, Sara, 7, and Samantha, 4. My husband is a heavy equipment operator who grew up on a farm. I love to bake, can foods from our own garden, do crafts, sew, crochet, and collect baskets. I enjoy the Lancaster Farming paper, especially B section. Keep up the good work.

CHOCOLATE THUMBPRINT COOKIES

½ cup butter
⅔ cup sugar
1 egg yolk
2 tablespoons milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup flour
⅓ cup cocoa
¼ teaspoon salt
Vanilla filling*
Sugar
Crushed peanuts

Cream butter, ⅔ cup sugar, egg yolk, milk, and vanilla in small mixer bowl. Combine flour, cocoa, and salt; blend into creamed mixture. Chill dough about one hour or until firm enough to handle. Prepare vanilla filling. Roll dough into one-inch balls. Roll in chopped peanuts and sugar. Flatten with a fork. Bake at 350 degrees for 10 to 12 minutes.

Vanilla filling:*
Combine:
½ cup confectioners' sugar
1 tablespoon butter
2 teaspoons milk
¼ teaspoon vanilla

I love reading. When the Lancaster Farming comes, I always read the B section right away. I like the addition of the "You Ask, You Answer."

We have lots of animals. My favorite is our quarterhorse Buet. I love plants and recently got a job with plants.

This cookie recipe came from a friend.

FROZEN DESSERT

1 package chocolate Oreo cookies, crushed fine
½ cup butter

Make crumbs and put in bottom of 9x13-inch pan and save some for top.

2 small boxes pistachio pudding mix
½ cup milk
1 cup whipping cream
½ gallon vanilla ice cream

Add a little green food coloring (optional)

Whip all together and put in pan on top of crumbs. Sprinkle remainder on top. Freeze. Remove from freezer 30 minutes before serving.

I'm 16 years old and come from a family of 5 sisters 2 brothers. I enjoy cooking and working outside with flowers. This recipe is a favorite summer treat.

HEAVENLY CHEESE CAKE

2½ cups graham crackers
⅓ cup butter
3 teaspoons sugar

Mix together with fork until crumbly and line spring pan with ⅔ mixture. Reserve ⅓ of crumb mixture for top.

1 pound cream cheese
1 pint sour cream
1 cup sugar
3 eggs
1 tablespoon vanilla

Mix cream cheese and sugar. Beat well. Add sour cream and vanilla. Beat again. Add eggs one at a time, beating 2 minutes after each egg. Beat well.

Pour into lined spring form pan. Sprinkle top with remaining graham crumb mixture. Bake in preheated oven at 350 degrees for 45-60 minutes. Shut off oven and leave cake in for an additional 30-45 minutes. Refrigerate overnight. Remove from pan. Sprinkle top with powdered sugar (the degree of creaminess is determined by the amount of time baked and left in the oven).

You may omit crumb topping and place cherry pie filling on top after cake has been refrigerated.

This cheese cake was a recipe of my mother's neighbor and given to me when I was 15 years old. I have won many blue ribbons with it during the 33 years I have been baking it!

I often double the ingredients (except crumb mixture) because my spring pan is large. The recipe takes time but is worth it.

My husband and I breed Paso Fino horses as well as work full-time. We have three beautiful granddaughters ages 9 and 6.

We both enjoy working with our horses and I especially enjoy the babies through 2 years. We train our horses for trail riding.

Justin Welk is the son of Don and Emily Welk Jr. of Strasburg.

CRACKER PUDDING

1 quart milk
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 cup cracker crumbs
¼ cup coconut

Scald milk. Add cracker crumbs, sugar, and eggs. Cook until pudding thickens. Add coconut if desired. Makes one quart.

Don and I live on a farm in Strasburg with our son Justin (2¼ years old). We feed cattle for Stonehurst Farm and raise corn, hay, wheat, soybeans, and tobacco. Justin enjoys feeding the cows and playing with our Golden Retriever Mandy.

This cracker pudding recipe has been in the Welk family for generations. It is easy to make and is enjoyed by everyone.

BEEF-CARROT CASSEROLE

1 pound ground beef
1 tablespoon butter
¼ cup minced onion
2 8-ounce cans tomato sauce
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup dairy sour cream
1 cup cottage cheese
¼ cup parsley flakes
1 cup cooked carrots, sliced
8-ounces noodles, cooked and drained
1 cup cheddar cheese, shredded

Brown beef, add onion. Stir in tomato sauce, salt and pepper. Simmer, uncovered, 5 minutes.

Combine sour cream, cottage cheese, parsley, and carrots. Add to cooked noodles, mix well.

Alternate layers of noodle mixture and meat mixture, beginning and ending with noodles. Top with cheese.

Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes, uncovered. Bake, if frozen, covered at 400 degrees, for one hour.

I am 13 and live on a dairy farm in Greencastle. I go to Greencastle-Antrim Middle School. I have one married sister and two more sisters at home. We all help out on the farm where needed.

I am the third one in my family to attend 4-H tractor club (I've had two years so far).

I am in the 4-H Dairy Club and am looking forward to 4-H camp again this year.

I am also going to my church camp for one week and to Creation '96 (my first time there because it was rained out last summer).

My family really likes this simple casserole. Hope you will try it.

CARAMEL PUDDING

4 tablespoons butter
2 cups brown sugar
¼ teaspoon baking soda
2 quarts milk
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 egg yolks
2 teaspoons vanilla

Melt butter, add brown sugar, and brown and boil until it reaches hard ball stage. Add baking soda, then milk, bring to boiling point. Do not boil. While milk is heating, mix together flour, cornstarch, and egg yolks with enough water to make a smooth paste. Add to hot milk. Heat again until boiling point. Remove from heat and add vanilla.

Whipped cream may be added if pudding gets too thick.

We live on a small farm. We have some produce and a greenhouse. My husband works part time at Leola Produce Auction. We also have a hen house with about 4,500 laying hens. We have a daughter, Rosanna, 15 months old.

Farm Women Hold Spring Rally

GAY BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

SEVEN SPRINGS (Somerset County) — The day was wet and overcast as numerous buses rolled into the parking area of the beautiful Seven Springs Mountain Resort, unloading hundreds of female passengers. Still, the weather for the 31st Spring Rally of the Pennsylvania Farm Women, though gloomy, bor no resemblance to the blizzard which cancelled the 77th convention last January 8.

About 620 members, many of them rising at 3 a.m. in their eastern Pennsylvania homes, made the long journey to the Somerset-Westmoreland County boundary in high spirits, eager to see old friends.

They weren't too far — about 40 minutes — from the Holland Farms home of their founder, Flora Black, who died in 1951, but on October 14, 1914 had organized the Society of Farm Women in Pennsylvania. Mrs. Black was motivated by a desire to strengthen the role of farm women and to promote better conditions in homes on the state's farms.

As noted by Becky Swallow, president of Somerset County Society of Farm Women, the favor at each place setting on the luncheon tables was a photograph of the roadside plaque along Route 219 south of Garrett, erected in honor of Mrs. Black's accomplishments.

It's ironic, that while the snowy weather of last winter was a topic sooner forgotten, considering the havoc of historical proportions that it created, that some 20 percent of Pennsylvania's 3,002 farm women should hear another side of the story.

Scott Bender, vice president of Resort Operations, officially welcomed his guests, stating that the pride of Seven Springs is in sharing the state's number one and number two industries — agriculture and tourism.

Last winter was a record setter for the resort. "It was the longest and snowiest season in history," Bender said. That's since the year of 1935.

He told the farm women that 234 inches of natural snow fell which allowed a total of 445,341 skiers the pivilege of skiing for 144 consecutive days. He said that all 30 slopoes and trails, plus 18 lifts went into service on November 16 of last year, which is probably why Bender noted that two major skiing magazines list Seven Springs among North America's top 50 ski areas.

The devotions that Susan Jack led about the woman who touched the hem of Jesus' garment went straight to the heart. Ms. Jack, after reading the passage from the Bible, portrayed the same woman with a great depth of feeling.

Guitarist, June Deakins, who kept the group laughing with her homestyle music and humor, was so thrilled with all the green leaves and grass outside that she said: "Green looks so pretty you just want to reach down and eat it."

Berks County women led the memorial service as they had planned it for January, using scripture passages from both the Old and New Testaments and readings from Max Lucado.

One farm womna who has long enjoyed being a part of the Society of Farm Women is Martha Klahr from Berks County.

"It's a lot of fun and I've been to a lot of places," the 44-year member said.

That particular society's two newest members, both in the last year, are also its oldest — 80 years, and youngest — 22 years, members.

The eldest had never before been invited to join and the younger said she joined because she had always seen the happy and lighthearted affect the farm women meetings had on her mother. She wants these same things for herself.

In Somerset County, the 11th Society, which has some 20 members, likes to serve at auctions to raise a little money. When they invite a speaker, they can pay or if the person would rather, the society donates to that person's favorite charity.

"The more we give away, the more we make," said member Nancy Barkman. "It's eerie."

Amy Paul, the reigning Somerset County dairy princess, said she would probably follow her mom, Dorothy's shadow and one day join a society of farm women.

Coming all the way from Texas where she was relocated from her Somerset County home, Marion Shober, told her former comrades that parting was a sweet sorrow. "I always enjoyed farm women," she said.

P.J. Puppets, a Christain entertainment group, delighted the ladies with an unusual approach to spreading the Gospel through fun and music. They did a very professional act.

New state officers for the Society of Farm Women in Pennsylvania are president, Dorothy Stricker, Berks Co.; first vice president, Lois Hughes, Cambria Co.; second vice president, Catherine Schott, Lebanon Co.; secretary, Dorothy Caskey, Adams Co.; and treasurer, Barbara Nissley, Lancaster Co.

Sixteen state counties have 172 farm women societies.

Franklin Plans Dairy Princess Pageant

MERCERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — Franklin County will hold its 29th dairy princess pageant at the Lighthouse Restaurant on June 14 at 7 p.m.

Tickets are available from dairy promotion committee members and at the extension office through June 10. For more information, call the Penn State Cooperative Extension office at (717) 263-9226.

Ida's Notebook

by

Ida Risser

The other day my husband looked out of our bay window and saw a red fox lying on newly cut grass. He called me and soon we watched as five cubs came out of the woods to play with the mother. They romped, jumped, and rolled around.

When our son baled the hay late one night, a fuse blew on his tractor and he was left to finish the work in the dark. Luckily, there was a full moon which helped a bit. The herdsman loaded the bales on wagons the next day.

Philip has a day job, off the farm, as he feels he should use his education as a senior design engineer to help family finances. This way he works morning and night on the farm and still has another full-time job. I'm sure many young farmers find themselves in the same situation.

When I pick sugar peas the grandchildren like to help. The two-year-old says, "Big enough?" "Big enough?" as he grabs the pods. However, if he pulls them, the three- and four-foot tall plant will come loose from the fence. As time goes on, they are easier to pick because they are almost eye level.

We have lots and lots of strawberries and I'm hoping that I can sell some as there are still 25 quarts in the freezer from last year. Maybe we'll have to ask some friends to help pick them. The other year I picked 175 quarts and then had a knee problem that put me on crutches. It is no fun doing housework with crutches. That is what I learned to do when I broke my foot on some steps at church a few years ago.

We spent a night at our camper in Snyder County last week. It was rather cold in the mountains. So, while my husband tried to start the heater, I decided to sleep with my clothes on as it was too cold to undress. The old comforter that I put on the bed kept me toasty warm. The next morning I caught a few small fish after taking a long walk on a dead-end road.

It's that time again...

You ask

This column is for readers who have questions but don't know whom to ask for answers.

"You Ask—You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and Answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask—You Answer, Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. Attention: Lou Ann Good.

There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible. Please include your phone number because we sometimes need to contact the person to clarify details. We will not publish your phone number unless you request it.

QUESTION — J. Loren Yoder, Belleville, would like information about three different milk bottles from the following: Weaver's Dairy of Malvern; Spicklers Dairy of Elizabethtown, and Supplee — Sealtest Dairy Products.

QUESTION — A Reinholds reader would like to purchase a used flat beater and 12-quart bowl for a Reynolds Electric Company commercial mixer serial number C37129.

QUESTION — Mrs. Cindy Eshleman, R.D.3, Box 7957, Jonestown, Pa. 17038 would like to correspond with anyone who has or has had a child with selective mustism.

QUESTION — Betty Sterner had a set of 12 plates limited edition 1979 Franklin Mint Porcelain by Peter Banett, but the January plate broke. Can anyone help her find a plate to replace the broken one?

QUESTION — Frances Krall, Myerstown, is looking for a craft book with directions for five-strand rug braiding.

QUESTION — Peggy Gordon, Sykesville, Md., is searching for Achimenes bulbs, which are small and resemble small pine cones. Achimenes is sometimes called the warm water plant because it is thought the plants are more easily started by immersing them in warm water. The plants only grow and bloom in the summer. As fall approaches, they simply die off and must be stored until the next summer. The flowers are somewhat trumpet-like. She has purchased some through seed catalogs but hasn't been able to get them to grow.

QUESTION — Roman Peters, Port Trevorton, would like to know where to purchase miniature horseshoes that are approximately 1½ -2-inch widths measured from the outer edges.

QUESTION — Lois Babcock would like to know where to buy brown tweed men's socks with a red heel, which are used to make cloth monkeys

QUESTION — Lois Babcock would like to know where to buy Raggedly Ann and Andy candy or candle molds.

QUESTION — Eva Burrell, Glen Gardner, N.J., writes that her local Senior Center makes loom and crocheted small-sized rugs from strips of cotton, cotton blend, or polyester knit material. Their material supplier from Allentown has gone out of business recently. Does any one know of another source for the strips of material?

ANSWER — A Bradford County reader wanted to know the equal amount of marshmallow whip compared to regular marshmallows. Thanks to Anna Martin, Denver, who wrote that eight marshmallows equals ½ cup marshmallow whip.

ANSWER — For the reader who wanted a chip dip, here is one from A. Sensenig, Newville.

Chip Dip

8 ounces cream cheese, softened
1 packet George Washington seasoning and broth

Combine ingredients and beat well. Add a little milk for a thinner dip.

QUESTION — Linda Gorman of Wayland, Mass., requests directions on how to make salve for cuts and wounds of livestock. She had requested this earlier and someone had given her a phone number for the Haffer's Salve recipe. They wanted $50,000 for the recipe. She didn't want it that badly.

QUESTION — Doug Bunnell, Endicott, N.Y., would like to know where to find replacement bags for older types of hand-cranked cyclone seeders. There are replacement bags for the newer plastic seeders, but they will not fit the old wood base seeders.

QUESTION — Wayne Lewis, York, would like to know if somebody has a book titled Gunsmiths of Penn. Marva by William Bowers would be interested in buying. Call 717-755-5128 or write to Lewis at 4850 Tracy School Rd., York, PA 17406.

QUESTION — A reader from Loysville would like to know where to buy black wool knit World War II Navy caps.

QUESTION — Milton Haines, Tabernacle, N.J., would like to know where to find transmission gears for a Midland garden tractor model # MR30, Serial #1017.

QUESTION — D. Newsom, N.Y., would like to know an address for a company that sells grange, community, and church cookbooks.

QUESTION — Marlene Hurst would like the recipe for old lime or white wash used to cover stone walls in cellars. Also, how do you apply it to partially stripped walls.

QUESTION — Mae S... Md. 21015-1204, Bel Air, ... and printed feed bags in ... wants a source for the ti... yesteryear. Also, does ... Rumford or Clabber Girl ... would like to get rid of.

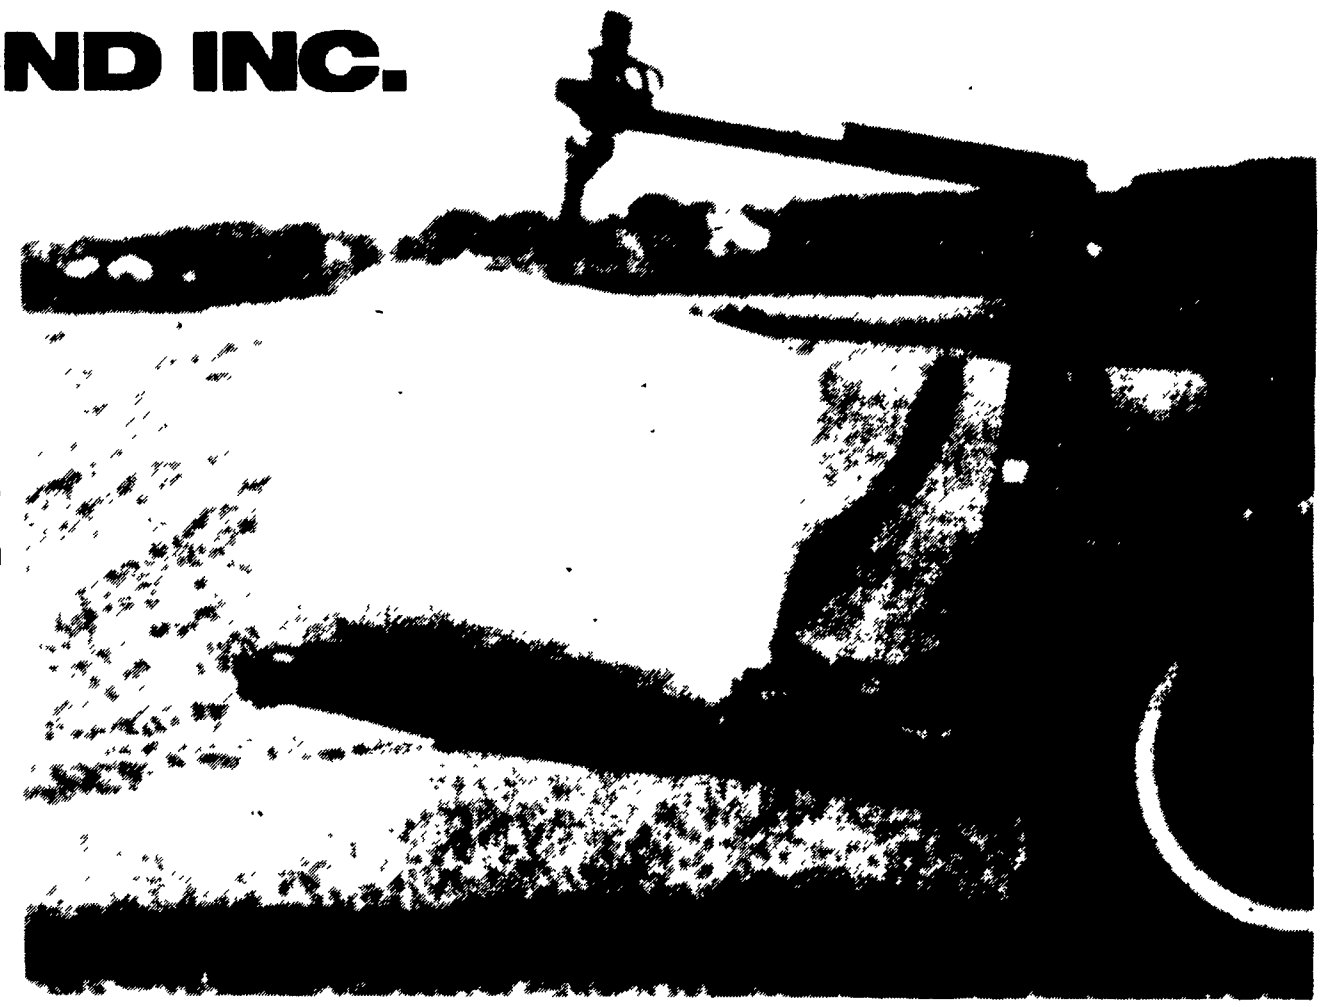
ROUND BALE WRAPPER And MOVER



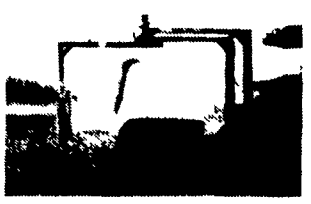
"Two machines in one", this three point hitch, hydraulic bale wrapper not only wraps bales fast but can be used to move the bales to the barn or feed lot. A one man operation at its' best for feeding high quality balage.

Basic Machine Features:

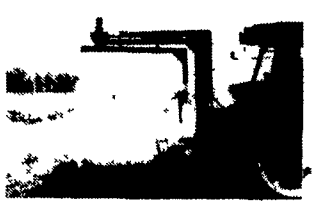
- 3 Point Hitch
- All Hydraulic Driven
- Plastic Cutter Operated From Tractor Seat
- 2 Sets of Hydraulic Hoses
- Cleated Lower rolls
- Adjustable Flow Valve
- Pioneer Hose Ends Included
- 3 Point Hitch Pins Included
- 20" Film Tensioner
- Film Tensioner Adjustment
- Horsepower Requirements 65+
- All Parts Made in USA

1 Spread roller arms apart and back into round bale

2 Squeeze roller arms together lifting bale into position for wrapping



3 Begin wrapping bale; the lower rolls automatically rotate the bale at the proper speed as the rotating arm dispenses wrap



4 Cut the plastic wrap from the tractor seat and lower the bale to the ground

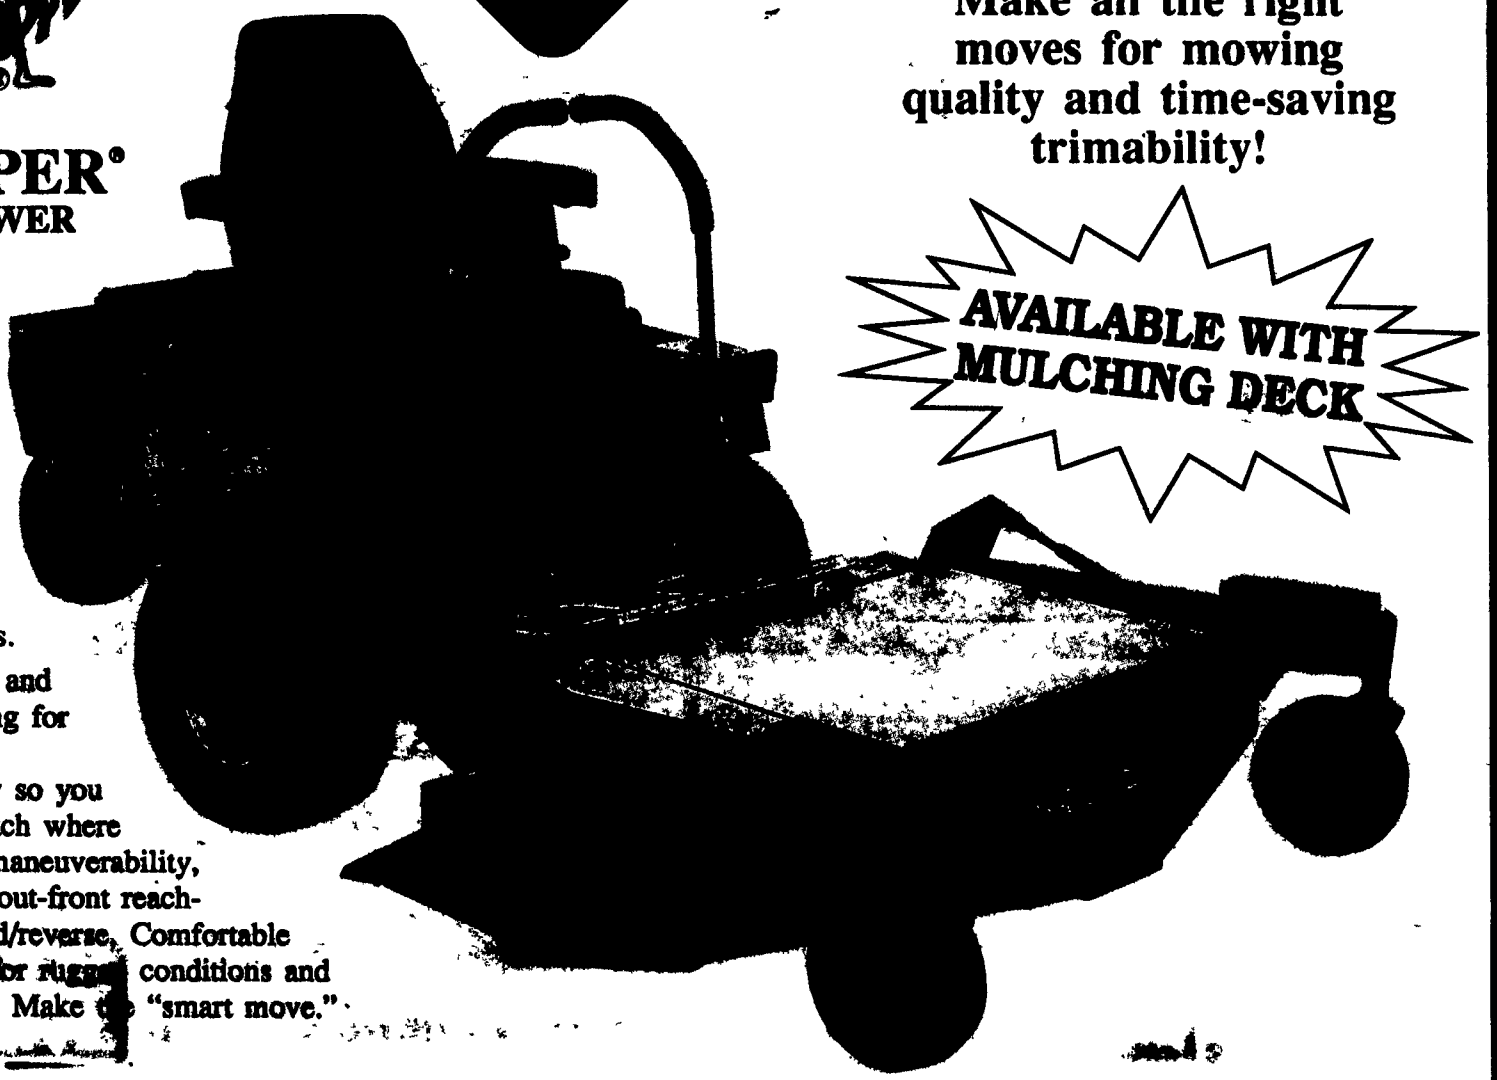
YOUR NEXT MOWER

Make all the right moves for mowing quality and time-saving trimability!



AVAILABLE WITH MULCHING DECK

The new mid-size Model 600 series (12.5 or 16 hp) with advanced dual-hydrostatic drive is among the nine models from which to choose, 12.5 to 28 hp, 44" to 72" cutting widths.

Move up to a Grasshopper and enjoy fast high-quality mowing for years to come. The "right moves" come easy so you can trim as you mow and reach where others can't go. Zero-radius maneuverability, square-corner turnability and out-front reach-ability with "no-shift" forward/reverse. Comfortable and simple to operate. Built for rugged conditions and season-after-season reliability. Make the "smart move." Ask for a demonstration.

THINK CONCRETE WHEN PLANNING YOUR FEED STORAGE!!

"This is the kind of silo you need to protect your valuable feed."

"HOW WILL YOU BE STORING YOUR VALUABLE FORAGES AND GRAINS IN THE 21st CENTURY?"

It's not too early to begin planning your storage and feeding systems for the year 2000 and beyond.

As margins narrow, dairymen need to invest in efficiency: this can have as great an influence on PROFIT as milk price changes.

Protect your valuable feeds from the elements... increase the efficiency of your feeds, your animals, and your labor.

At SOLLENBERGER SILOS CORP. we know a lot about feed storage and handling... we've been in the business since 1908. If your plans call for new feed storage, give us a call... we'd like to contribute to your success!!

"IT'S NOT WHAT YOU HARVEST, BUT WHAT COMES OUT OF STORAGE THAT COUNTS." QUALITY AND QUANTITY...

MEMBER: International Silo Association/PA Forage and Grassland Council/AM. Society of Agricultral Engineers/Crop Storage Institute.

TIRED OF LEAKING ROOFING? USE

WHEELING
Channeldrain
ROOFING & SIDING

Exclusive drain channel guards against wind, rain and snow...assures dryness.

1. Wide overlap: Increases strength and leak protection at each joint.
2. Wide nailing surface: Makes nailing easier and faster.
3. Drain channel: the exclusive leak-proof system that prevents capillary action; stays weather tight. This Wheeling feature has insured "dry barns" for thousands of farmers over the past 50 years.

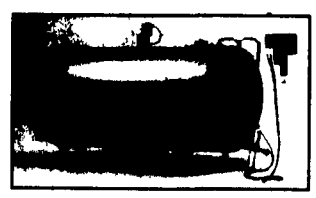
MUELLER DAIRY FARM EQUIPMENT

Scroll-Compressor Technology

New in 1994



You may pay less for some dairy farm equipment... but it can cost you more!

Equipment costs are not the only cost of cooling milk.

In the long run, total operating costs of a Mueller® milk-cooling system are generally substantially less than those of "bargain-brand" milk-cooling equipment.

Example	Mueller	Competition
Cost of equipment	$31,000	$28,000
Cost of electricity @ .08 kW for 12,000 lbs milk/day for 10 years	$17,550	$22,850
Total operating cost for ten years	$48,550	$50,850
Savings	$ 2,300

Contact your Mueller distributor for further comparisons.

If you've been considering starting in llamas, or having a llama for a pet, why not stop in to see our herd.

Our young males start at $500, our weanling females at $2,500, our pregnant females at $3,500. A deposit will hold any of our crias (baby llamas) for you.

We prefer selling off the farm, rather than subjecting our animals to the stress of auctions.

All of our llamas are registered with the International Llama Registry. Some of the finest wool and blood lines can be found in our herd, including Otter Creek Harold.

All llamas can be halter led, and are gently trained by teenagers.

IN ALUMINUM BODIES
EBY BUILDS IT

M.H. Eby custom-builds aluminum truck bodies for the agri-transportation market. Nobody offers more sizes and options in:

- FLATBED BODIES - Lengths to 32', choice of 5 widths.
- GRAIN BODIES - Lengths to 24', landscape and general purpose dumps to 12'.
- LANDSCAPE BODIES - Lengths to 12', We'll build to your specs!

Let EBY custom build one for you.

For greater payload capacity, Eby's aluminum design is equal in strength to steel and up to 40% lighter. Our corrosion-resistant components never need painting. That means minimum maintenance, improved appearance and higher resale value.

Eby products have superior standard features. And we offer customer options for virtually any application. Agriculture is your business - building bodies to haul it is ours.

Barley To Be Tested In Broiler Diets

EDGEWATER, Md. — New and improved varieties of barley, a small grain that's growing in popularity with Maryland farmers, will be tested for possible use in broiler diets in a new study funded by the Maryland Grain Producers Utilization Board.

The board administers funds collected through the Maryland grain checkoff, a program that sets aside a portion of the sale of corn and small grains for research, marketing, and education.

Traditionally, barley has not been used in broiler rations because of high fiber content and the poor digestibility of a portion of a barley carbohydrate, which provides energy. The addition of an enzyme can improve digestibility, but the enzyme's inclusion in feed is expensive, said Dr. Jeannine Harter-Dennis, lead researcher in the study and a research nutritionist at the University of Maryland Eastern Shore in Princess Anne.

Harter-Dennis said barley could become a more viable candidate for poultry feed if new varieties have better digestibility and could therefore rival corn as the energy component in rations.

"What we're trying to do is find ways of incorporating a non-traditional ingredient into poultry feed. The new hull-less varieties of barley are really interesting because of the potential for lower fiber and better carbohydrate profile," the researcher said. "It is theoretically possible that barley could replace corn entirely if the problems associated with metabolizing barley's energy components could be overcome."

That would be good news for Maryland farmers. Small grains such as wheat and barley, which are planted in the fall and produce grain heads during spring rains, are a better bet money-wise than corn. In some areas of Maryland, the only reliable way to get a good corn crop is to irrigate - a costly input. And, typically, after grains are harvested, a "double crop" of soybeans can be planted in the same field and harvested the following fall.

"Corn will never completely disappear from the fields but it will be nice if we can improve the market for barley by improving its usefulness to the poultry industry," Harter-Dennis said. "If this study shows it is economically feasible to substitute barley for corn in broiler diets, it will help the farmer market a reliable crop, the poultry companies reduce costs, and ultimately, may even help the consumer."

Her study will analyze four barley varieties, test growth rates and feed efficiencies in feeding trials with and without the anzyme, and test the consistency of the poultry litter — another concern when feeding barley.

"The carbohydrate which is poorly digested can cause what's called 'pasty litter'," Harter-Dennis said. "Wet, sticky manure is difficult for poultry farmers to handle and creates a poor environment for the birds."

Feeding trials will be held at the university's farm research center. A similar study developed for feeder pig rations has also been funded by the grain checkoff and will be conducted at the Princess Anne farm.

THIS YEAR'S GREATEST FOREST INSECT THREATS

Dr. Robert S. Hansen
Extension Forester
Bradford County Extension

The forest tent caterpillar, at this stage of its life, is about 1/4 to 1/2 inch long and appears black. As they mature, the caterpillar keeps its dark color and develops parallel blue stripes along the sides of its body with white spots that appear as "key holes" or "foot prints" along the center of its back.

After eating the foliage of a tree, the caterpillar will hang from long threads to the ground or will sometumes be blown to other trees using the thread as kind of a "parachute." The forest tent caterpillar does not construct a tent as do the eastern tent caterpillar so they are sometimes not as obvious.

The fall cankerworm is another insect that will soon be showing up in our area forests. The fall cankerworm is an inchworm that hatches in early May in our area. The young larva are green and, depending on the population density, can vary to almost black when the density is high.

One of the main differences between the cankerworm and the elm spanworm is that the cankerworm has a small set of prolegs (the legs located at the back end ot a caterpillar). When disturbed, the larva will spin and descend along a thin line of "silk."

You should be on the lookout this spring for these caterpillars in your woods.The population of these insects have the potential of reaching epidenic proportions in Bradford County this spring. You may need to consider a spray program for your wood. Your decision needs to be made quickly. You should contact a professional forester in your area. A number of these foresters are preparing a spray program for this spring.

If you desire to control these insects, the decision should be made early. Spraying should be done as soon as possible after the decision has been made. If you do the spraying yourself you must follow label directions exactly. If you hire an individual, make sure the individual has the appropriate license from the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

Pesticides licensed for use include formulations of "Bt", a biological insecticide, sold as Dipel or Thuricide. This insecticide is sprayed on the leaves and as the lasrva eat the leaves, they ingest the pesticide and will die. This insecticide will generally only affect caterpillars. Other insecticides include carbaryl (sold as Sevin and Sevimol) and chlorpyrifos (sold as Dursban and Pageant). Make sure you take special care for safety and follow label directions exactly.

For more information, contact your local Bureau of Forestry Office or the extension forester, Bob Hansen, at (717) 265-2896.

Strouse Farms Wins Clean Water Award

SUNBURY (Northumberland Co.) — George Phillips, Chesapeake Bay Technician for the Northumberland County Conservation District,reports that Strouse Farms, Point Township, has been awarded the regional Chesapeake Bay Clean Water Farm Award for 1996.

The award recognizes farm operators who are protecting local water quality and ultimately the Chesapeake Bay by implementing exemplary farm management practices.

Phillip said, "We knew an application for Strouse Farms would be a strong contender for the award, due to their overall sound nutrient management efforts and interest in addressing their landuse problems. We congratulate Tom, Sr. and Tom, Jr. on winnimg this award."

Strouse Farms were the recipients of the Northumberland County Conservation District Conservation Farmer of the Year Award last March. The farm is owned operated by Thomas Strouse, Sr. and Thomas Strouse, Jr.

Pennfield Announces Feed Marketing Associates

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Feed Marketing is proud to announce the addition of three new associates to the feed sales division.

Don Putnam has joined Pennfield as the regional sales manager for the New York area, covering central and southern New York. Before joining the feed marketing team, he was employed by a major northeastern feed company as a dairy nutrition specialist and sales management for south central New York and northern Pennsylvania. He is working on a master's degree in dairy nutrition at Cornell University.

Bill Matzke, a graduate of the University of Nebraska with a degree in agribusiness, will be working in northern Pennsylvania as a dairy feed consultant.

Doug Wetzel, a Penn State graduate, has spent 1½ years working on a farm research trial and a year as an A.I. technician for Franklin County. Wetzel will be a Pennfield dairy consultant in the Franklin County area.

Nitz Joins Big Dutchman

HOLLAND, Mich. — Carl Nitz has joined Big Dutchman's Customer Service Team specializing in pullet and layer cage and Hydromix liquid hog feeding installations.

In the new position, Nitz will work directly with customers during the ordering, production, and installation process of this equipment.

Nitz joins Big Dutchman with 23 years of experience in the poultry industry. He was previously employed by both Big Dutchman and Hershey Equipment, a Big Dutchman distributor, as project manager and operations manager.

Flail Shredder Innovative

GLASGOW, Ky. — United Farm Tools (UFT) recently announced its new flail shredder is available as a three-point, semi mount, or pull type.

Operating at higher ground speeds through tough crop conditions such as green cotton stalks, the UFT flail shredder is equipped with a heavy duty 190 HP drive shaft featuring an overrunning clutch which protects the tractor PTO during disengagement.

UFT's belt driven flail shredder has a durable spring loaded idler pulley which provides protection and efficiency for longer drive component life. United Farm Tools' computer balanced rotor counterrotates at 1450 RPM. In conjunction with high knife speed, this allows for a consistent cut material. UFT's consistent cut aids in pest control, shattering stalks into smaller pieces and eliminating conditions favorable for insect larva.

UFT's Flail Shredder has a large spiral rotor that may be equipped with cupped knives, side-slicing knives, or it may be contoured for ridge till divining. UFT's unique knife design on the rotor results in double coverage for less work load and wear on each knife. Cutting widths available are 80 inches, 150 inches, 170 inches, 180 inches, 234 inches, and 288 inches.

Mower Conditioner Delivers More Than 15 Feet Of Cutting Power

RACINE, Wis. — Boasting a 15-foot-3-inch cutting width, the new Case IH 8315 disc mower conditioner combines maneuverability, speed, and power for large-acreage hay and foraging needs.

The new model combines the advantages of the hydraulic center-pivot, pull-type frame traditionally found only on sickle-bar type mower conditioners, with the cut and header capacity of the 8850 High Performance self-propelled windrower for increased versatility and productivity.

"Customers want that extra cutting width at work with agile center-pivot frame," said Bruce Spidle, Case product manager, livestock production equipment. "Now they have it."

Starting with the 12-foot 8312, Case introduced large, center-pivot disc mower conditioners to the industry. The newest addition to that line, the 8315, gains its extra width through two additional heat-treated oval cutting discs, each with two reversible knives, for a total of 10 cutter discs — all spinning at 2,600 rpm.

"To accommodate the wider cutterbed and still deliver the power needed to mow dense and difficult crops, the two outer discs are powered by their own gear boxes," Spidle said. "It's more than a stretch version of the Model 8312. It has the mowing strength and power of the 8850 HP self-propelled windrower. The hay cutting and conditioning components on the 8315 are identical to the heavy-duty 8850 HP."

The 8315 is operated through a unique mechanical PTO center-pivot design, versus traditional hydraulic designs, to accommodate the 15-foot-3-inch width. Spidle explained that the center-pivot steering gives the mower the dexterity of a sickle-bar mower with the cutting power of disc blades. "It can mow in conditions that would jam just about any sickle-bar," Spidle said.

"The disc mower blades can run through dense, wet, downed and tangled crops or fields suffering from rodent or fire-ant mounds," he said. "It allows easy field cutting in both directions, through corners and over uneven ground, and the 110-inch wide steel-on-steel conditioning rolls offer superior crop conditioning."

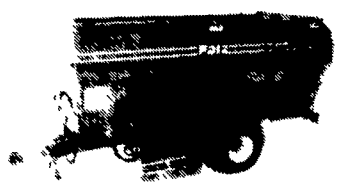
The Case IH 8315 disc mower conditioner offers maneuverability, speed, and power for large-acreage hay and foraging needs.

TMR Mixer For Big Batches

POUND, Wis. — The new 750-cubic-foot Patz Model 9300 four-auger, open-top mixer keeps feeding on schedule for larger operations.

Benefits include:

- Reduce mixing time with four giant 30-inch augers
- Feed a better mix from circular mixing action that blends every mouthful of feed
- Notched augers and breaker bar tear apart rectangular bales of dry alfalfa (Knives are available for a cutting action)
- Get long service life from thick bottom pan
- Durable, thick, rugged flanged auger tubes



The new TMR Mixer for big batches offers several unique features for extra benefits.

- With self-aligning auger bearings mounted outside, feed mixing does not contaminate bearings
- Keep feeding on schedule with planetary gear drive and roller-chain reduction in a sealed oil bath
- Control the discharge door and discharge rate from your truck cab or tractor seat
- Match your feeding setup with choice of discharge lengths on truck or trailer models
- Make more profit with choice of electronic scales for convenient weighing.

Nine sizes of Model 9300 four-auger mixers are available to match your needs.

Deere In Joint Venture

MOLINE, Ill. — Deere & Company has formed a joint venture with Capital Partners, Ltd., an agricultural technology company located in Roswell, Ga., to produce air-seeding equipment in North Dakota. The joint-venture organization is Barnes County Manufacturing, LLC.

The new organization will build a manufacturing facility in Valley City, which is located in Barnes County. Plans call for the 175,000-square-foot building to be completed and ready for production by late fall. The new factory will supply John Deere with several models of air-seeding equipment.

The factory location is particularly appropriate because Barnes County is strategically located to the majority of the market for air-seeding equipment, which is centered in western Canada and the Northern Plains of the U.S.

"The decision to source products from a factory located centrally to a large portion of the customer base is an important part of our long-term strategy for serving the growing air-seeding market," said Bernie Hardiek, president of John Deere's Worldwide Agricultural Equipment Division. "John Deere is the market leader in planting and seeding equipment. We are committed to being the brand of choice for this important market and providing growers with the widest choice of technologically advanced machines to meet the needs of their specific farming operations."

Pennfield Promotes Mahlandt

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Pennfield Feeds has promoted Donald J. Mahlandt to director, dairy feed sales.

In this new position, Mahlandt is responsible for dairy feed sales and marketing in Pennfield's dairy sales regions, including Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, and parts of Virginia and West Virginia.

Mahlandt joined Pennfield in 1981 as manager of dairy feed sales. His previous business experience includes Monsanto and Ralston Purina.

Donald J. Mahlandt

We hear you.

Like most aspects of farming, baling has changed dramatically over the last 20 years. Once it involved rounding up a bunch of kids to load wagons; slowly, it has evolved into the era of one man and big round bales. And now, in response to your requests, this evolution continues.

With continued improvements, the Case International 8570 mid-sized rectangular baler and its big brother, the 8580 large rectangular baler, make baling more convenient than ever. Both are proof that we do indeed hear you.

These machines produce a bale size and weight up to 1,000 lbs. for the 8570 and 2,200 lbs. for the 8580 that's easy to stack, store, transport and feed.

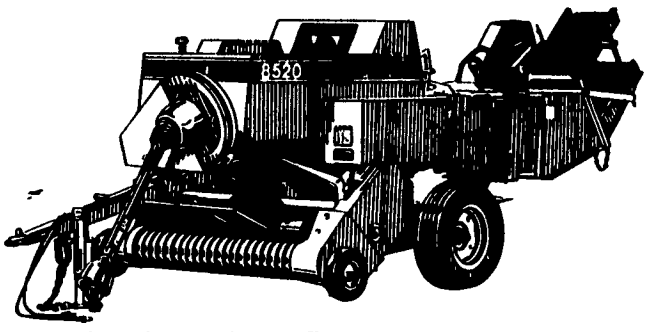
Formed with easy-separating flakes, these bales can be fed by hand, processed, or pulled apart by livestock. They're tight and dense for handling and shipping ease. And thanks to the design of the 8500 Series balers, they're packed with nutrition.

A wide, low-profile pickup reduces the loss of valuable leaves, while the pre-packer chamber keeps nutrients contained within the bale. And each pre-formed flake is exceptionally uniform in size and weight.

The Case International 8570 and 8580 rectangular balers. You asked for an evolution in baling, and we heard you. Find out more from your Case IH dealer today.

And ask about Total Product Support. It's the commitment that ensures the performance and overall value of every Case International product.

OUTSTANDING BALER PERFORMANCE MEANS GREATER NUTRITION AT AN ECONOMICAL PRICE



Case International 8520/8530 Rectangular Balers

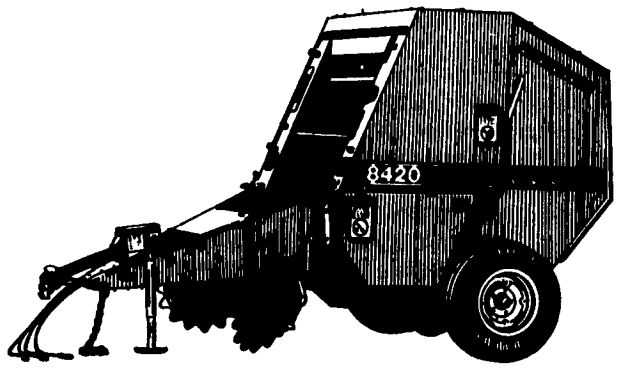
These two balers both feature the Case IH center line design. Eliminates turning corners with the crop to get it into the bale chamber, as is common with conventional designs. This saves valuable protein-rich leaves. Also saves time because you don't have to change from field to road position for transport.

Other outstanding features are:

- Low-profile baler design provides excellent visibility to the rear of the baler.
- Low profile pickup... reduces crop lifting height, saving nutritious leaves.
- Hay goes straight into the unique prepacker chamber... regardless of windrow size... for uniform flake and bale density.

Come in soon for the rest of the story!

THE COMPACT BALER WITH BIG-BALER FEATURES



Case International 8420 Round Baler

Produce consistent 39x54-inch bales using only a 30-PTO horsepower tractor. Yet reap the advantage of direct feed, open-throat chamber design so bales build fast, sure and tight. Other big-baler features:

- Aggressive starter roll so each bale starts right.
- Audible signal when bales are done and ready for wrapping.
- Cam-actuated low-profile pickup, close tine spacing for clean sweeping of heavy windrows.
- Optional hydraulic twine wrapping system.

A heavyweight producer in a lightweight package.

Sign-Up Set

DAUPHIN (Dauphin Co.) — The Federal Department of Agriculture acting through each county Farm Service Agency (FSA) office is conducting sign-up for the new Market Transition Program.

Now through July 12, landowners or farm operators may enroll farms with 1996 Crop Bases in a seven-year agriculture program which allows for cropping flexibility and replaces the annual farm commodity programs.

The new Market Transition Program does not attempt to encourage or discourage more or less production of any specific crop, payments are based on a fixed budget rather than on market prices, and producers choose their own agricultural activities (within the guidelines of their conservation farm plans).

Individuals who share the risk in the crops for a given year of the contract will be eligible to share in the payments. A producer has the option of assigning all or part of a payment to another individual or entity. Each year producers can receive 50 percent of their crop payments in advance in either December or January.

Producers who do not want to purchase crop insurance can still enroll in this program and sign a waiver of eligibility for emergency disaster assistance.

For Dauphin County farmers, sign up is under way at the Dauphin County Agriculture and Natural Resource Center located at 1451 Peters Mountain Road, Dauphin, PA, Monday - Friday from 8 a.m. through 4:30 p.m.

If you have any questions concerning ths act, please contact the County FSA Office at (717) 921-2378.

Adviser Exam Aug. 2

EDGEWATER, Md. — The mid-Atlantic Certified Crop Adviser (MACCA) exam is scheduled Friday, August 2 at the Maryland Department of Agriculture (MDA) in Annapolis, Md., and the Days Hotel in Charlottesville, Va.

The Mid-Atlantic Certified Crop Adviser Board has been established for New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, and joining recently, West Virginia.

The Certified Crop Adviser (CCA) program is a nationally recognized, voluntary certification program developed through the collaborative efforts of the public sector and the agricultural industry to ensure high standards for crop advisers. It is intended for anyone who makes nutrient, pesticide, crop, or environmental recommendations to producers, including dealers, distributors, applicators, consultants, manufaturers, allied industries, and state and federal agency personnel.

The CCA program is administered by state or regional boards in association with the American Society of Agronomy, which handles similar problemsfor specialists in agronomy, crop consulting, weed science and other agricultural disciplines.

To become Mid-Atlantic CCA certified, an applicant must:

•Have at least two years of crop advising experience with a bachelor's degree in agriculture, three years of crop advising experience with an associate degree in agriculture, or have a minimum of four years of crop advising experience post high school.

•Pass a national and two MACCA regional exams.

To remain certified, a member must participate in 40 hours of continuing education over a two-year period with a minimum of 10 hours in any one year, and undergo an audit biannually by the MACCA Board to verify continuing education and adherence to the code of ethics.

As a CCA, an individual will receive continuing education credits for a wide variety of agricultural topics.

"The program helps demonstrate that the agricultural industry prides itself on high standards of professionalism and knowledge," said Mark Fuchs, chairman of MACCA. Deadline for the August 2 exam is June 14. For more information, contact Lynne Hoot, (410) 956-5771.

Penn State President Stresses Community Outreach

UNIVERSITIY PARK (Centre Co.) — Penn State President Graham Spanier spoke of the importance of 4-H and community outreach to nearly 180 4-H volunteer leaders at the 1996 Pennsylvania State 4-H Leaders' Forum.

Spanier said that as a nation we must contribute to the positive development of all youth as well as restore hope for young people in high-risk situations. He stressed that 4-H plays a crucial role in giving youth a positive support system.

"Young people need to be engaged in appropriate activities and see that they can make a difference through their own choices and efforts," he said. "They need to know that people care about them and their future. This is the hope that 4-H provides.

"Cooperative Extension and 4-H play a crucial role in improving people's lives," he said. "Youth programs express Penn State's vision as a land-grant university by extending our commitment to teaching to all the citizens of the state in a time when lifelong learning is essential, by providing a living laboratory in which we can learn, and by helping to focus our teaching and research capabilities to better meet the needs of Pennsylvania's citizens."

More than 13,400 volunteers are involved in 4-H programs in Pennsylvania, and about 1,800 of those are teen volunteers. These volunteers worked with more than 146,000 Pennsylvania youth last year.

The forum, sponsored by Penn State Cooperative Extension and titled "4-H . . . More Than You Ever Imagined," was held on March 29 and 30 at the Days Inn in State College. Adult and teen leaders participated in workshops that will help them become better teachers and youth counselors.

Workshops included information on helping 4-H clubs run small businesses, developing coalitions for tobacco-free youth, working with young people from diverse backgrounds, organizing public relations and fund-raising efforts and addressing important issues.

Other topics included developing 4-H projects to study wildlife and forestry, clothing and textiles, computers and the World Wide Web, rocketry and nutrition. Attendees listened to panels of extension agents, Penn State faculty and experienced 4-H leaders and participated in hands-on training.

SELECTED ANIMAL HEALTH CONCERNS FOR GRAZING ANIMALS IN EARLY SUMMER

David R. Wolfgang, DVM
Penn State

As the cool weather of spring fades into summer, several areas of concern for grazing animals become more critical.

The topics of concern in this short article will include internal and external parasites and bloat.

Many producers have administered some form of worming treatment to their livestock in the early spring near turnout.

In a strategic worming program, it is important that this initial treatment be followed up with a second worming treatment. Normally this second treatment is 4 to 8 weeks following the initial dose and the start of the grazing season.

For producers using a strategic worming protocol, the time for the second worming treatment is today or imminent. Larvae which have overwintered will have migrated onto the vegetation or have been ingested by the grazing animals. Effective antihelminthic treatment at this time will help prevent the rapid rise in infective larvae normally seen on pastures in the summer months.

Numerous effective products are available on the market. The product selected must have a high efficacy against the mature and maturing forms found in the gastrointestinal tract. It is not as critical at this time of the year that parasite treatments have a high efficacy against the arrested or "hypobiotic" forms of the parasite found in the tissues.

Please consult with your veterinarian or agricultural professional concerning the product best suited for your operation. These professionals can also help answer questions that might arise concerning meat or milk residues.

Warm weather also brings increasing numbers of external parasites. In this part of the country, this means flies in most cases. Several types of flies are common to our area and poor external parasite control can be very expensive in lost milk or feed efficiency. USDA estimates place the value of lost milk due to flies at $90 million per year in the U.S. University of Nebraska studies have reported feed efficiency drops of 10 to 15 percent with only moderate fly populations.

Methods of fly control vary as widely as the many types of farms and animal agricultural operations in this area. No matter what the style of farm or grazing animal, a plan for control of external parasites will make your life and the life of your livestock more pleasant during the summer months.

An "integrated" management system to control the parasite populations will be more effective and less costly than simply relying on sprays, dips, tags, or other chemical means.

Cultural control is the management of the manure, feed, or facilities in order to minimize breeding sites. Although this would seem obvious, this area is often overlooked. Frequent cleaning and dispersal of manure and old or wet feeds will remove a major site for the hatching and developing larvae. Don't over look areas such as manure packs in maternity pens or piles of spoiled wet forages that have spilled near silos or trenches.

Mechanical control involves changes in the landscape to improve drainage to eliminate damp or standing water areas needed for breeding or hatching. Special attention should be paid to areas where animals congregate. Areas where shade is provided, near waterers, common walkways, or common feed areas should be landscaped to ensure drainage or be cleaned/scraped frequently.

Biological control utilizes some form of bacteria, virus, or helpful insect to control the population of another species. Much interest is being generated in this nonchemical control of pests or parasites. This form of control can be very effective in reducing pest populations, especially if employed early in the spring or summer. A listing of suppliers of beneficial insects can be obtained from California Environmental Protection Agency, Department of Pesticide Regulation, Environmental Monitoring and Pest Management, 1020 N Street, Room 161, Sacramento, CA 95814-5604, "Suppliers of Beneficial Organisms in North America" by C. Hunter.

Chemical control, as needed, is the last piece of the control package. Many types of products are available and their effectiveness will vary. Ease of application, frequency of application, meat or milk residues, environmental consequences, and resistance are all factors to consider.

If the previously mentioned control mechanisms are in effect, the quantity and consequences of chemical control can be minimized and their effectiveness improved. Self-applicators such as oilers and dust bags must be used in areas of high animal traffic or easy access.

Sprays, dips, spot-ons, and pour-ons are especially helpful at times of high parasite loads. These types of products, as well as the injectables (avermectin and ivermectin) are most useful for the biting or sucking parasites.

Larvacides in the form of feed additives or boluses can be esepcially useful for grazing animals.

Horn flies and face flies lay their eggs in fresh manure. On pastures, these parasites can be greatly reduced by the use of larvacidals, because fresh manure is the only place where eggs can be laid or develop.

Impregnated ear tags can be an important adjunct control measure. Most tags have a 4 to 5 month effective period. To minimize the development of resistance and improve parasite control, the following simple guidelines should be followed.

For greatest effectiveness they should be used during the periods of highest fly density. In this area, tags should be implanted starting in early to mid June and removed in the fall, mid to late September (removal of old tags is crucial in reducing resistance). To further minimize the development of resistance, pyrethrin tags should be rotated with organophosphate impregnated tags year to year.

Carefully read the labels and avoid residues in meat or milk. Your veterinarian or ag professional can help you design an effective plan for your farm.

A brief warning concerning bloat. Generally producers see bloat in their animals in early spring when the pasture is lush and the animals are adapting to this new and luxurious feed. Occasionally bloat will reappear as the weather begins to get warmer.

Many animals are housed indoors during the heat of the day and allowed to graze in the evening and night. Near the end of spring and early summer, the pastures can still be quite lush.

Animals deprived of feed for most or all of the day may overconsume the lush pasture when first turned out in the evening. On occasion, a healthy vigorous animal the night before will be found dead or very ill in the morning. Providing some hay or total mixed ration while in the stable prior to the evening grazing should minimize the danger of bloat.

Ag Scholars Named

NEWARK, Del. — Twenty-three high school seniors have received highly competitive scholarships from the College of Agricultural Sciences at the University of Delaware.

The Agricultural Sciences Scholar Awards, which are made possible through an endowment funded by the state of Delaware, agribusiness, alumni and individual donors, are given on a competitive basis to incoming freshmen.

To qualify, applicants must be accepted by UD to major in the agricultural sciences, demonstrated academic achievement and service, and successfully complete faculty interviews. Scholarships are renewable for up to three additional years.

Yelena A. Babinski, a senior at Cheltonham High School in Pennsylvania, has received a College of Agricultural Sciences Scholar Award. She will major in entomology/wildlife conservation. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Babinski of Melrose Park, Pa.

The recipient of the Newton Agricultural Scolar Award is Megan Bergeron, a senior at Christiana High School. She plans to major in entomology/plant pathology. She is the daughter of Joyce Bergeron of Newark, Del.

Courtney S. Biery from Padua Academy has been awarded the State of Delaware Carvel Agricultural Scholar Award. The future agricultural business management major is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Biery of Wilmington.

Jeffrey M. Callahan, a senior at Towson High School in Maryland, is the recipient of an Agricultural Sciences General Scholarship. He plans to major in animal science and preveterinary medicine.His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Michael T. Callahan of Towson, Md.

North Carolina School of the Arts graduate Rebekah J. Crockett has received the Elbert N. Carvel Agricultural Scholar Award. She plans to major in entomology/wildlife conservation. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Crockett of Frederica, Del.

Natalie Marie Durrett, a senior at Old Mill Senior High School in Maryland, has received two awards - an Agricultural Sciences General Scholarship and the Intervet America Inc. Scholarship. She will major in animal science and preveterinary medicine. Her parents are Sterling Durrett and Doris Durrett of Severn, Md.

The recipient of a George M. Worrilow Agricultural Scholarship is Laura M. Enghofer from Coatesville Area High School in Pennsylvania. The future plant science major is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Enghofer of Coatesville, Pa.

Tracy D. Henderson, a senior at Chestnut Ridge High School in Pennsylvania, has received an Agricultural Science General Scholarship. The daughter of Wayne and Elissa Henderson of Schellsburg, Pa., she will major in animal science and preveterinary medicine.

The Burris-Marshall Agricultural Scholar Award went to Amy Joleen Hostedler, a senior at Sussex Technical High School in Delaware. She will be an animal science and preveterinary medicine major. Her father is Richard Hostedler of Lincoln, Del.

Joanne Josefiak, a senior at Burnt Hills-Ballston Lake High School in New York, has been awarded an Agricultural Sciences General Scholarship. She plans too major in animal science and preveterinary medicine. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Josefiak of Scotia, N.Y.

Cheryl L. Knieriem is the recipient of the John Papen Memorial Agricultural Scholarship. A senior at Brandywine High School, she plans to major in animal science. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Don Knieriem of Wilmington.

Kathryn V. Lambom, a senior at Smyrna High School, has received a State of Delaware Carvel Agricultural Scholar Award. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Lambom of Smyrna, she will major in entomology/wildlife conservation.

The Dupont/Entomology Scholarship went to Sharon Alisa Malachi, a senior at Benjamin Banneker Academic High School in Washington, D.C. She will be an entomology/wildlife conservation major. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Malachi of Washington, D.C.

Renee M. Markowicz, a senior at South Side High School in New York, has been awarded an Intervet America Inc. Scholarship. The daughter of Bernard and Linda Markowicz of Rockville Centre, N.Y., she will major in animal science and preveterinary medicine.

Craig L. Metzner from Seaford High School has been awarded a State of Delaware Carvel Agricultural Scholar Award. The son of Larry and Melva Metzner of Seaford, Del., he will major in animal science and preveterinary medicine.

JoanneE. Morellois the recipient of a State of Delaware Carvel Agricultural Award. A senior at St. Mark's High School, she plans to major in plant science. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Morello of Wilmington.

St. Mark's senior Lauren A. O'Donnell has received a State of Delaware Carvel Agricultural Scholar Award. She plans to major in animal science and preveterinary medicine. Her parents are Edward J. and Carol J. O'Donnell of Newark.

Kita R. O'Neal, a senior at Brandywine High School, has been given a State of Delaware Carvel Agricultural Scholar Award and an Intervet America Inc. Scholarship. The daughter of Helen and Wendell O'Neal of Wilmington, she will major in animal science and preveterinary medicine.

Robert Wade Proud is the recipient of two awards - the Townsends, Inc. Agricultural Award and the Plant and Soil Sciences Scholarship. A senior at Smyrna High School, he will major in plant sciences. He is the son of William R. Proud of Smyna, Del.

Carole B. Ricks has received a State of Delaware Carvel Agricultural Scholar Award. A senior at Newark High School, she plans to major in animal science and preveterinary medicine. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Ricks of Newark.

Senior Shelley R. Sentman from Cape Henlopen High School has been awarded an Intervet America Inc. Scholarship. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Sentman of Lewes, she will major in animal sciences and preveterinary medicine.

A College of Agricultural Sciences Scholar Award went to Christina M. Williams, a senior at Woodstown High School in New Jersey. The future plant sciences major is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee C. Williams Jr., of Pilesgrove, N.J.

Andrew J. Young, a senior at Solance High School in Pennsylvania, has received a George M. Worrilow Agricultural Scholar Award. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Young of Peach Bottom, Pa., he willmajor in agricultural economics.

Produce Grading, Packing Workshop Set

CHARLOTTE HALL, Md. — Southern Maryland produce growers are invited and encouraged to attend a Produce Grading and Packing Workshop on Wednesday, June 12 here at the Charlotte Hall Regional Library.

Join other farmers and growers and learn the proper techniques for grading and packing produce. The workshop is being conducted at the request of new southern Maryland produce growers and will include information for the new grower as well as helpful tips and information to refresh the memories of the seasoned grower. Emphasis will be on tomatoes, cucumbers, summer squash, and green peppers.

Topics to be discussed include "Understanding USDA Produce Standards," "Proper Techniques for Grading and Packing Produce," and "Promotional Materials Available to Southern Maryland Growers." In addition, a "hands-on fresh produce" session will allow all to practice what they've learned. Emphasis will be on tomatoes, cucumbers, summer squash, and green peppers.

The workshop will run from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Preregistration by June 10 is requested. For additional information or to register, contact Candy Walter, agricultural specialist, at (301) 884-2144 or 870-2520.

GEHL

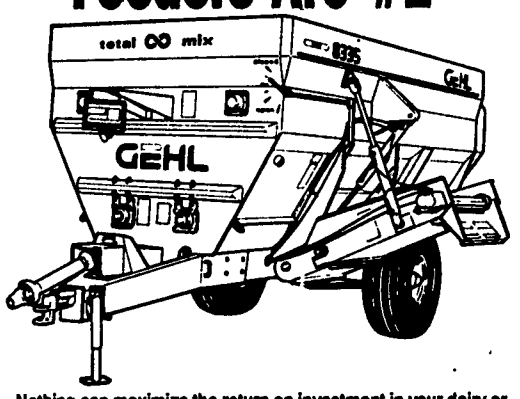
Gehl TMR Mixer Feeders Are #1



Nothing can maximize the return on investment in your dairy or beef feeding operation like a Total Mixed Ration (TMR) feeding system. And nothing makes TMR work better than a Gehl mixer feeder. Here's why:

- Better Mixing Action — Unique four-auger design creates a double figure-8 mixing pattern for fast and complete mixing of all feed ingredients.
- Energy Efficient — Planetary drive system requires less horsepower.
- Built To Last — Patented star couplers absorb shock loads by allowing the bottom augers to flex, providing long service life.
- Six Sizes — From 150 to 500 cubic feet mixing capacities
- Three Styles — Trailer type, stationary and truck-mounted units to fit your operation.

Scavenger® Manure Spreaders

THE BEST JUST GOT BETTER!

Better Performance. Gehl Scavenger®, the original V-tank spreader, has built a well-deserved reputation for delivering unmatched performance in a wide variety of materials. The new Scavenger takes that performance to the next level with even better spreading patterns in the toughest heavily-bedded manures.

Increased Durability. Not only has the new Scavenger been designed to out-perform all other V-tank spreaders, but the main drive system components have been beefed-up for extra durability and increased dependability.

Why is Scavenger the Best? One big reason is the unique new round-core auger. This auger features segmented paddles grouped in a spiral pattern. This fighting configuration delivers more material to the discharge expeller in less time for faster unloading. The paddles are precisely positioned to deliver more uniform feeding to the discharge expeller. This exceptional design breaks up and blends all types of manure.

The auger is hydraulically powered both up and down (unlike competitive units that use springs, gravity or fixed augers). This design provides more control to chop through bridged material or power down through heavy loads.

Outstanding Application Control. Gehl's proven Varifio discharge system has been made even better. It's 33 percent wider on the Model 1315. On all new models the expeller assembly has been significantly strengthened. New square-tooth expeller paddles spread smoothly and evenly. You choose the rate you want, from heavy spring-time spreading to light top-dressing. With Scavenger you have complete control right at your fingertips.

Scavenger is Simply Better. The Gehl Scavenger is a simple spreader. It's solid and durable with sealed, welded tank construction and a full length channel steel sub-frame. Every Scavenger is built to deliver top performance year after year.

Your Gehl Dealer can show you why the new Scavenger V-tank spreader is still the best.

Make Hay Faster with John Deere Parts

Only John Deere parts can keep your John Deere haying equipment running as smoothly as when it was new. Sections, guards and wear plates, pickup reel teeth, needles, knife arms, shear bolts, roller chains and drive parts — all John Deere originals for the price of most imitations.

Pickup Teeth
Don't leave hay on the ground. Replace missing teeth now. Easy to attach. Extra strength for long wear, less breakage.

Bale Wet or Dry!

The Vermeer Baler everyone's talking about ... designed to bale dry bales or high-moisture hay and forage ... plus the wrapper that seals it tight and fresh!

504 Silage I Baler (4' x 5' bales) & SW2500 Silage Wrapper

New! Optional High-Density Belt Tension System

Vary the density and diameter of your bales ... make even tighter bales, that can hold their shape all the way to feeding!

Vermeer 505 Super I
5-ft.-wide, 5-ft.-dia. bales, up to 1400 lbs.

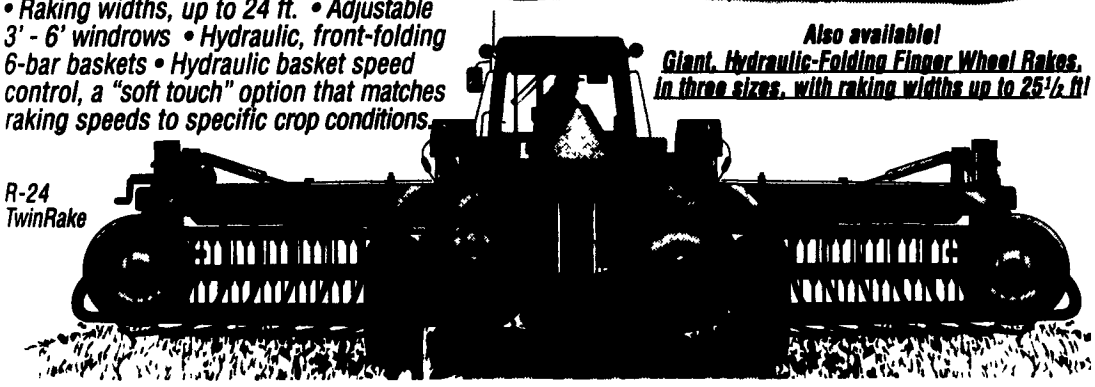
Vermeer 504 Super I
4-ft.-wide, 5-ft.-dia. bales, up to 1200 lbs.

Vermeer 604 K Balers
4-ft.-wide, 6-ft.-dia. bales, up to 1900 lbs.

Big Rakes! Soft Touch!

• Raking widths, up to 24 ft. • Adjustable 3' - 6' windrows • Hydraulic, front-folding 6-bar baskets • Hydraulic basket speed control, a "soft touch" option that matches raking speeds to specific crop conditions.

Also available!
Giant, Hydraulic-Folding Finger Wheel Rakes, in three sizes, with raking widths up to 25½ ft!



R-24 TwinRake

Gator Mowers® & M/Cs!

Disc-Style Gator® Mowers
7' 10" cutting widths
9' 2" cutting widths

Disc-style mowers and mower/conditioners!
Five different sizes and models! Outstanding cutting speed and efficiency, especially in wet, stringy or wiry hay conditions.

Only mowers in the field with cutting knives and curtains that have passed safety tests according to ASAE Standard S474 (Ag Mower Safety).

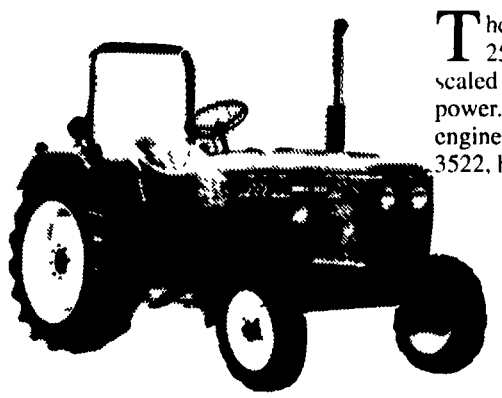
Cut corners on the New Zebra Tractors



The Zebra Tractor Model 2522 is a real tractor scaled down in size, but not in power. Its 25 HP 2 cylinder engine like its big brother the 3522, handles chores a traditional full-size 2 wheel drive tractor handles. For a fraction of the cost. In a fraction of the space.

Zebra tractor model 3522 delivers 35 HP with its 3 cylinder, 143 cu. in. diesel, water-cooled, wet sleeve engine. No toy, this rugged tractor only drives like a sports car.

The 45 HP model 4522 is the Big-boy of the Zebra line of tractors. If the 2522 and 3522 ride like convertibles the 4522 is like a chauffeured limousine, with you at the wheel. So dress for the part, the neighbors are watching.

All Zebra compact tractors are sold and serviced by Zetor Tractors a division of American Jawa Ltd

NEW HOLLAND

REACH FOR THE SKY!

MAKE SHORT WORK OF TALL SILOS

The Model 60 is a big-capacity 540-rpm forage blower built to center-fill silos 100' tall. It features a 37" diameter feed hopper that makes positioning and unloading with cross conveyers easy.

A large 12" feed auger moves crop to the 60" fan for maximum blowing efficiency. the Model 60 forage blower also features:

- Eight adjustable, replaceable paddles
- Heavy-duty, shearbolt protected PTO
- Reversible blower band
- Adjustable air gate
- 9' telescoping pipe
- Adjustable wheels

So reach for the sky with the Model 60 forage blower. Stop in today and we'll show you how to make short work of tall silos.

CUT HAY THE DISC WAY!

- High speed discs - Each disc has two knives to slice through the toughest crops and conditions; the disc gear drive operates in an oil bath for long life.
- Sturdy frame - Cradles the cutterbar for extra protection and durability.
- 540 or 1,000 rpm driveline with equal-angle hitch for smooth power transfer.
- Standard hydraulic tongue - Makes it easy to position the unit without leaving the tractor seat.

WELL BUILT Rack Wagons

We Will Custom Build Your Wagon

8' wide; 8' high; 16', 18' & 20' lengths
9' wide; 8' high; 16', 18' & 20' lengths

Description & Material Used:

- Two 4x8 fir stringers
- 3x4x8' oak cross members bolted to the fir stringers
- 18 ft. wagons have 9 cross members and 20 ft. wagons have 10 cross members
- Oak flooring nailed to the cross members with screw nails
- Racks are made out of 2" square tubing - 14' gauge - 1" square tubing between the uprights
- Swinging door at the back of the wagon; has quick release and swings 270 degrees one way
- Two 4' side openings with quick chain release
- Racks can be easily dismounted
- Painted John Deere Green or New Holland Red

FEEDER WAGONS

16', 21' and 27' lengths
Available with slant bars or self-locking head gates.

A great feature for feeding cattle in meadows or in feed lots. These wagons can be used to feed round hay bales, square bales or silage out of Ag bags or silos, etc.

The added feature of having the head locks make it nice for quick vet checks, etc.

16' has 20 head locks
21' has 26 head locks
27' has 32 head locks

- Feeder bottoms are sand blasted to remove rust & lead

EVOLUTION

There was a time when we thought pasture or hay was enough for our young horses. But as our knowledge of nutrition evolved, we learned that these often varied in quality and nutrient value. Then came grains and supplements and indeed, nutrition improved. But problems prevailed and horse owners were still left guessing. Something more was needed to meet the challenges faced by rapidly growing horses. Without the right feeding and management program, foals can be plagued by growth related problems including bone and joint disorders. Often this damage can't be corrected.

Introducing

Purina®Equine Junior™

— a major breakthrough in nutrition technology from Purina Research. At last, you can be confident your young horses are receiving all the vitamins, minerals, protein, roughage and energy they need for optimal growth — 100% nutrition all-in-one bag. And there's more...

the new way to feed foals

Equine Junior is more than just a new feed — it's a whole new management program that actually allows you to control the growth rate of your foal. Research has shown that the risk of bone, cartilage and tendon problems in growing horses is greatly reduced with proper nutrition and management. Equine Junior offers complete nutrition with pre-processed alfalfa to reduce nutrient variability in hay. Its dense, highly digestible, feed form is perfect for the small stomach of a growing horse, from weaning to two years old. Help your foal reach its full potential.
